Reparations Board Acts After French Delegation Leaves Cannes

WON'T HALT GENOA PARLEY

By the Associated Press
Cannes, Jan. 13.—The Allied Reparations Commission at a conference here today decided to grant a provisional delay to Germany on her reparations account.

The Supreme Council today examined the situation created by the departure of the French delegation and ruled that decisions on which a complete agreement has been reached should become operative, especially that regarding the Genoa conference, for which Premier Bonomi, of Italy, was charged to issue invitations. The indefinite decision will be reconsidered.

The invitations were forwarded today. The United States and the more important countries were asked to send to Genoa a minimum of three and a maximum of five delegates, and the other nations two each. The date of March 8 was provisionally fixed.

A meeting of the committee for the organization of the central international corporation, called for by the council's plan for the economic stabilization of Europe, has been called for January 25 at London.

The council met at 11 o'clock for two hours. Prime Minister Lloyd George read to the members a telegram from M. Briand giving notice of his resignation from the French premiership. The council directed Mr. Lloyd George to telegraph M. Briand, expressing regrets at his resignation and the interruption of negotiations.

All the delegations called here by the Supreme Council are leaving Cannes today. Prime Minister Lloyd George will leave Cannes for London at 7 o'clock this evening. He may, it is stated, stop in Paris enroute to confer with President Millerand and with M. Poincaré, who is forming a cabinet to succeed the Briand ministry.

The Reparations Commission will grant Germany a provisional delay for payment of the sums due January 15 and February 15, so far as those payments were not covered by payments in cash or in kind, on certain conditions. These conditions are:

First, During the period of provisional delay Germany must pay in approved foreign securities 31,000,000 gold marks every ten days, the first payment to be January 15.

Second, Germany within a fortnight must submit to the commission a plan for reforms or appropriate guarantees for its budget and paper currency, and also a program for reparations, payments in cash and in kind for 1922.

Third, The period of provisional delay shall end when the commission, or the allied governments, have reached a decision in regard to the plan and program mentioned in the second condition, the balance due becoming payable a fortnight after the commission or the allies have reached a decision.

Berlin, Jan. 13.—(By A. P.)—News of the Briand ministry's retirement reached official quarters from Paris at the close of yesterday's Cabinet session. Cabinet members declined to discuss eventualities, but official opinions concur in the belief that the reparations issue for the moment has again been thrown into confusion.

Official speculation centers around the predicament into which Lloyd George was suddenly placed through "the loss of his dancing partner," which Briand has been designated since the Cannes pourparlers were opened.

Man Overcome by Gas
Adolph Maraski, a boarder at 105 Saligne street, was found unconscious from gas fumes by Mrs. Katherine Tamaszewski early today when she called him to go to work. At the Memorial Hospital it was said he will recover. There was no thought of suicide, police said.

Uncommon Sense : Suspended Sentence

By JOHN BLAKE

IT IS necessary for some people to judge others. These people are placed on the bench and in jury boxes. They are paid to discharge the duty of judgment, and discharge it they do, though the task is often disagreeable.

The rest of us make judgments because it is the habit of every one to make judgments. We like or we do not like people sometimes because of their personalities, often because of their actions.

We are very ready to condemn them if they do not obey the code that we have adopted as our own rule of conduct.

Sometimes we condemn them because we do not like the shape of their noses or the color of their hair, or the way they eat their meals.

MAKE judgments we must—but we can suspend sentence if we like, and we shall be much happier, and get along better with our friends and neighbors if we do.

The man on the bench before he makes his judgments, the jury in the box before it brings in a verdict, have all possible evidence at hand. The whole machinery of the State is available to secure this evidence.

We make our individual judgments with very little evidence—usually with the evidence against the person whom we judge—seldom taking the trouble to look over the evidence in his favor.

This being the case we can very well afford to hold our verdict, or our sentence, in reservation.

WHAT we think of a man may not alter his whole life; but, if our opinion is adverse, it certainly will do him no good. It will be virtually impossible to keep from communicating it to others, and thus character is undermined and careers brought to ruin.

Suspended sentence merely gives those whom we do not approve a chance to show that we have wrongly estimated them. This most of them will do in the long run.

Of course, if a man is a proved thief or scoundrel, it is well enough to let him alone. But it is far better to hold our opinion and our behavior toward him in reserve until we can get all the facts in his case—for and against.
