Greenwich Village Youth Gene Tunney Entered Breezes to Victory Over Philadelphia Battler

DRAW FOR FULTON

By LOUIS H. JAFFE New York, Jan. 14,-Friday, the 13th, failed to prove a jinx for the so-called experts of fisticuffs, and the dope called experts of asticults, and the dope was upheld when Gene Tunney, twenty-three-year-old husky youth of Gotham's Greenwich Village section, awakened this morning America's light-heavyweight champion. At the same time, boosters of Fred Fulton, the phe-rocious one, for a crack at Jack Dempsey's title are d'sappointed. Tunney deposed the veteran, Bat-tling Levinsky, of Philadelphia, for tling Levinsky, of Philadesphia, for the 175-pound diadem in these States United, while a game, rugged battler, Bartley Madden by name, handicapped by thirty-five pounds in weight, six inches in height and about eight inches in reach, fooled a large gathering at

· Boxing Ranks for Fun

Gene Tunney, the Greenwich VIIlage boy, the new American lightheavyweight boxing champion, got his start in pugllism through a desire, while not busy swapping

France, to entertain his buddies behind the battle line.

When boxing became the king of A. E. F. sports, Tunney entered, for the fun of it. He hogged all the fun connected with the bouts he entered, for his opponents never were able to plant a real hard blow on him. Gene went on to become champion at his weight of all the glove-swinging artists in the American forces in France.

Yale is considered as weak this year as last when the Bulldog tive finished in last place in the league standings. During the holidays they dropped six straight games on their trap, while since that time they have lost a couple more games. Lack of veterans and failure of the students to take the game seriously at New Haven are the reasons for the poor caliber of the Eli quintets. A victory tonight will mean the ninth straight for Bill Grave and his mates. On Wednesday they defeated Pittsburgh by one point on Al Vogelin's goal, in the last fifteen seconds of play.
