Letters to the Editor

Comments Railroad Editorial

Permit me to express a word of commendation to the editorial appearing in the EVENING PUBLIC LEDGER of this evening under the title, "Stop Kicking the Railroads Around."

High encouragement will be afforded every railroad executive as to the position taken by your publication recognizing the efforts being put forth on the railroads to protect those who entrust their safety to the wheels of their rolling stock.

It is my feeling that only when such a constructive policy is adopted by all interests concerned can we hope for a permanent solution of our railroad problem.

Yours sincerely, W. ATTENBURY, Vice President Penna. R. R., Philadelphia, January 15, 1922.

To Bring Musical Culture Here

It is with interest that I read in the People's Forum regarding the movement to bring more musical culture to Philadelphia by a musical society.

I am sure the great majority of us recognize that Philadelphia has taken a step backward in music, at least in the last ten years.

There are many of us who have gone into the subject with considerable interest, who might not be so well informed as to our own city.

There are many of us who are really curbing instead of helping to place our city in the line of musical development.

Those who are interested in the forthcoming musical week is going to be of great benefit to us.

Philadelphia, January 10, 1922.

Is Uncle Bim Saved?

Bim Should Bury the "Hatchet" To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I am a constant reader of the Gumps, and I enjoy them very much.

I think Uncle Bim is very foolish to waste his time with a person like Mrs. Zander. Any one who reads this knows only wants Uncle Bim's money.

I also agree with Min and Andy in what they said about the widow. Why doesn't Uncle Bim go back to Min and Andy and let's Chester and be happy with them? Or why doesn't he take them home with him for a trip?

Philadelphia, January 11, 1922.

Suggestion for "Gump" Cartoons

Uncle Bim invites Mrs. Zander to go to a well known restaurant in New York. As they are sitting in the restaurant

Is Ours Really a "City of Brotherly Love?" A Mere Suggestion To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—Permit me to express my thanks and appreciation of the learned author of the article "Why is the City of Brotherly Love?" in your paper dated January 9, 1922.

Perseverance our friend does not take into consideration that if we look back a few hundred years with unselfish intelligence we can see that the city of Philadelphia is the best of all cities in perception, will realize that, after all, we all descend from "foreigners and strangers."

It is not for our ancestors, who were at one time, too strangers, possibly most of us would not be here to draw our individual conclusions, and take our social privileges, excluding those who are not so fortunate as to fall heirs to others' fruit of toil.

Really it is so very difficult to conceive a poor stranger or foreigner and his kin kindly and warm as you are in your own social and financial domain?

It is magnanimous to smile at a stranger in our city because he is acquainted with our customs, mores and individual tastes? Why then do we hypocritically preach Americanization?

I suggest that we endeavor to teach these strangers our customs and take them among us to be treated with human respect and sincere kindness. Does not our democracy teach that "all men are created equal?" Let us try our own teachings. Let us associate these strangers and foreigners with us in order to help us build a greater city—our democracy based upon better ideals of usefulness and good will to our fellowman.

he tells her how sweet and girlish she looks. Then he notices a little party at another table, and he goes to join them. "Ah! How I envy that man," Mrs. Zander turns to look. She turns pale under her make-up. (Any poor cartoonist can draw this, it takes a good one to depict pain).

Oh, look, Daddy! There's grandpa! Table. Philadelphia, January 13, 1922.

Feels Sorry for Uncle Bim To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I feel so sorry for Uncle Bim. The clear light from Australia is finding it difficult to gain the proper path between love and duty. It might be easier for him if he could have been brought to realize that there was love on both sides. He was sharp enough to know that Min Gump was kidding him for his money, and he turned to the widow, only to find her faith in heart.

Old Song Desired To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—For the benefit of a number of children, will you please publish the words of the old song containing the following: "Van Amburgh is the man who goes to all the shows. He crawls into the lion's den and tells you all he knows." This song was sung in the circus many years ago, and if you will be kind enough to publish the words, the courtesy will be very much appreciated. A CONSTANT READER, Philadelphia, January 6, 1922.

The Compliments in Verse To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—There is a poem or verse of ten lines giving the Ten Commandments in verse. Can you give it to me in your interesting People's Forum? MRS. E. I. GRAVE, Philadelphia, January 9, 1922.

The People's Forum will appear daily in the Evening Public Ledger, and also in the Sunday Morning Ledger. Letters discussing timely topics will be printed, as well as requested poems, and questions of general interest will be answered.
