What Do Men Want?

man is tremendously proud of her at-

"Do tell us, what the dear things de-

THE billboards have been advertising "They want the clinging vine, bea motion picture of this title.

It certainly sounds exciting, and equal—or superior.

could we be brought to believe the photoplay would give us an adequate an wife is brilliant and popular, and the us an adequate an-swer, we would swer, we would rush to the cinema with bated breath, although we never a t t e n d t h e "movies" unless to man is tremendeusly proud of her attainments."

"They always want a good house-keeper."

"No, in these complicated days of the complex of and high expenses, many city men are glad dragged in by the hair.

The question of the centuries: What do men the domestic duties almost to nothing-teeth, for the rest of their lives!

"If women really understood them, they wouldn't marry them!" retorted the cynical widow. "It is our ignorance that makes us fall for them."

"I think what men really was fine companionship.

sport, always ready to go on a long trip at a moment's notice, not one who sire, whines and sets up obstacles and has to fuse and plan." always ready to go on a long

Paul and Virginia

By HELENA HOYT GRANT

Poison!

"Truxler? Yes he's thing of the kind, still at the office."
He paused "Why?" a natter of fact, you mention him any more. And you used to speak of him so often."

"Aren't you still heart warmed to her old friends?" she his boyish husband in his hot indignation.
"I have no use for "But Truxier's dif-

He flushed.

"Missing?

life. They're-he looked at her quizzically. "A man usually thinks as I do, Virginia, dar-talk about such things for fear somebody will think he's a blamed prig, or a goo-goo, or a psaim singer. Fact is out of all the chaps I know. Truxler's the only one who really believes in the double standard. And the poor this

"Of course " . " The Sinbe ile hasn't

"I know," interrupced Virginia the two most valuable possessions of "Self-respect and-"The trust of a good woman," sain

Tomorrow-Greeting the Day doesn't know what he's missing.

Paul grunted. .

fore I was married, the kind of philoso- fellow makes me ill.

Paul to expand. Her curiosity was an awfully beeky girl.

asked idly.

years or so. Got a youngster-a little

"Truxler believes in what the poor

"Yes, that's what the poor fool calls What he means is, that it's his idea that a man has a natural right to have been known to sit in on a poker game till 4 A. M., usually $20 or so to the bad; and—well, I guess I ve sown my share of wild oats. But, somehow I my share of wild oats.

my share of wild oats. But, somehow I can't stomach Truxler's poison now. It seemed a fine, beautiful theory to mecone. That's before we were married. I didn't even question the right or wrong of his ideas till—till lately. And lately I've begun to be bored with Truxler. There are some chaps who

He's a chump-the worse kind of a chump."

"Man's natural independence?"

fool calls man's natural independence, he

"The Marriage Gambler"

By HAZEL DEVO BATCHELOR

Carol Rathbourne efuses Nick Tracy twice, but she changes her mind when she hears that he has become infatuated with Daisy Castle ton, of "The Jolly Revelers." She pretends a feeling that she does not have, in order to hold him, and on her wedding day puts on a brave front lest any one suspect the truth. Then, in the midst of her honeymoon, she suggests that they change their plans and return home.

CHAPTER XX Broken Plans

CAROL said nothing more after that first effort of hers to escape from a situation that had become almost intolerable

"Every man wants a woman who moided the styles and customs and superstitions for lo these many cons, to enhance feminine loveliness. But the moment they themselves acquired the paragon of pulchritude, they were wont to wantonly destroy the beauty, so that no other man might gaze upon it. Thus did the Chinese blacken the married will make a perfect mother."

"Then they take a funny way of showing it! Look at the sickly, intefficient, ignorant girls they pick out. Or the frivolous, selfish butterflies who are atrocious parents. When a man is under the hypnotism of a stunning when it seemed that she would not could not easily the could not easily to the could not easily the world would she have him pretending when it seemed that she would not could not easily the co Nick's remark that he wondered if.

other man might gaze upon it. Thus did the Chinese blacken the married woman's teeth so that they would look hideous to all men; and the ancient Jews caused the wives' heads to be shaved, so that they could not ensurer men in the Delilah beauty of waving tresses.

But white husbards were busying themselves in anking married women hideous, how must they themselves have suffered in their esthetic senses. Surely it was worse for them than for the women, for the men were compelled to gaze at the shaved head and blackened teeth, for the rest of their lives.'

Is under the hypnotism of a stufning woman, passion sways blm, not the caim, reasoned desire for a fireside and a group of ideal children, wonderfully brought up by a mother who has studied dietetics.''

4M ODERN men want a woman who is a could not endure being alone with Nick another minute.

Her nerves were strung so taut that semetimes she wanted to scream. She longed to be at home surrounded by familiar things and people. She felt that once they were settled. If would be easier to bear; there would be things and other kinds want wives who will make a showing to impress creditors, and fewer chances of being alone to-getter.

Here in the big hotel they were forced together. There were very few people staying there are strong as another minute.

Her nerves were strung so taut that semetimes she wanted to scream. She longed to be at home surrounded by familiar things and people. She felt that once they were settled. If we would be easier to bear; there would be easier to bea fied and narrow and intolerant toward our sister woman and others criticize us together. There were very few people staying there, and only a few tables in for being narrow, and insist that we be MEN cannot, then, be said to want broad and big and take on some of the the dining room were taken, and Nick beauty above all else. In these formerly called masculine virtues, bigthinking, of course, that Carol would feel as he did about being absolutely "They want affection, appreciation, flattery, responsiveness," says the tactful woman who spends twenty-four hours a day catering to her lord.

"Feed the brutes!" declares the practical housekeeper. more about this love that swept people off their feet, that made men and women want to forget the whole world. everything, save only their delight in each other However, the night after their talk together. Nick broached the subject himself.

"Would you really like to cut our visit short and go home?"

They were on the wide feranda with their chairs close together, and Carol had been dreaming idly. She started into consciousness at his words, but "Well-I think they just-want what they want, when they want it." she choked back the eager yes that had to be good.

"Not unless you would."
"You're tired of it, though."

don't pretend. I want you to feel that happy. I think you're fretting to get back. Shall we go tomorrow?' He almost held his breath as he walt-FOTS TRUNLER still with the firm?" pretend to believe in the double standalmost hostile, themselves, They don't believe in any-ed for her answer. and with a sudden animation in her voice, "to steal back and surprise every one, don't you think so?"

"Of course I do. I wanted to know so as to make arrangements tonight."
A few minutes later he left her to go inside, but he did not go to the desk to inform the clerk that their plans had changed. He walked straight through the lobby and out of a side door, and stood for a moment on the steps leading down from the porch, which was deserted on that side of the hotel. Since yesterday he had weighed care asked idiy.

"I have no use for "But Truxier's different. He really beleves that rot. He horstly, "He's as poison as rar paste."

Viginia was startled. This was not like Paul.

his hot indignation.

"But Truxier's different. He really believes that rot. He housts that if his wife even looked sideways at another man, he'd shoot her.
But he boasts also, in the same breath that he has a sight in the same breath If he talked that for so absorbed had be been with his phy Truxler packs around in his head stuff and didn't believe it, he'd be merely own happiness, with the culmination of all his desires, that he had hardly didn't understand how poison he was just poison—rat poison.

Truxler's ansorbed had he been with his own happiness, with the culmination of all his desires, that he had hardly thought of Carol's side of it. He had the had hardly thought of Carol's side of it. "Why, what in the world do you mean? I thought you admired him."
"Truxler's poison. Truxler, you know, is married. Been married tive years or so. Got a youngster—a little. iow, is married. Been married tive are or so. Got a young-ter—a little thin you're the ceanest fellow in the happiness because she loved him enough the world. You're a darling and I'm to marry him.

doubts began to surge through him. Hundra's of little things that he had not noticed before, because of the blindness of his own passion, now stood out "Aw.' * * * " he stammered. Then e looked at her quizzieally. "A man with an alarming clarity.
"Suppose she doesn't love me,

In'. Men are a darned sight cleaner and finer, inside, than you think they "Suppose she doesn't love me, sup-nose it isn't in me to arouse her love?" His brain kept revolving that thought The trouble is, a fellow hates to over and over, as he stood there un-derneath the stars, on the last night of his laterrupted honeymoon.

Tomorrow-Carol Is Puzzled

A Shining Sink

Soap jelly which is made by dissolving a large bar of soap in two quarts of boiling water and two tablespoonfuls

The Woman's Exchange

All About Reducing

"A Constant Reader," "Bright Eles."

It D. Mrs. W. and T. F. have all written to know about reducing. As their letters are all on the same subject, I am going to answer them all all conce. Exercise and diet for everybody Leg exercises or dancing, playing basketball or walking a regular distance every day will reduce the legs and hims. But if you go on eating fattening foods the result will be just the opposite. Exercise develops muscles and takes off superfluous fat. But, of course, as soon as your muscles are well developed you are ready to use any extra food that is in you to build up more fat of the fluor decide to styp. All About Reducing hard. Is they kind. That is why exercises are good for both thin people and fat ones. But while they are exercising, the fat ones should eat more while they are exercising, the fat ones should eat less of fattening foods, like eggs, with, pointers and so on. And in other to be sure that you are not going to hart courself by this treatment, consult our plus solan in one whether your system will stand it or not first.

Things You'll Love to Make | Krave Injury

"A Constant Economy will that the use of lemon juice on a cream that is made of lemon fuller or a cream that he made to take off french acre helpful. Height flow will have to give up some of her sweets. You contout break up any habit until you put your mind on it and decide to step. Do not use any medicine, T. J. without consulting a physician about it. You might do yourself grays inner.

Brother-in-Law as Boarder to the Editor of Wessell's Pair Dear Madam-1 am coming to you for Dear Madam—I am coming to you for advice. At present we are in apartments three rooms and bath, just my husbands brother wants to come to the city and board with us. How much do you think we should charge him? I don't want to ask too much, but still I want to clear myself.

I am afraid we won't be as happy afterward because his mother has a very mean disposition and, of course, whatever we would charge she would think it was too much. And if he comes we will have to its him in the living whatever we would charge she would think it was too much. And if he comes we will have to fix him in the living room to sleep until we can get a house. Do you think we would be better off not to take him at all? He is wairing formy husband to get bin a position.

to take him at all? He is waiting for my husband to get him a position.

POUTETTELL BUT WILLING.

The best way to decide how much to charge your brother-in-slaw would be target your your among them and charge that if your among them and charge that if your position it may be hard for him to position it may be hard for him to pay anything just at first. Of course, you would be impose without him, as three rooms are not big enough for four people to live in comfortably, even if one of them is a baby. But if there is no place for him to go, it will make much more pleasant feelings in the family if you do take him in. And if he gets a good position he may be able to pay you more later and help you out considerably with your gypenses.

HERE'S THE FRENCH IDEA

Two Minutes of Optimism

"And They Shall Be Turned Into Profit".

EPICTETUS, wise old owl that he was, used to thank God daily for his bad neighbors. He said they served as horrible examples and made him want multiplex annoyances, for the necessity to have to work for a living, for the many obnoxious things and unpleasant people we have to put up with.

An investigation of insane asylums once disclosed the curious fact that an prwhelming proportion of the inmates had been petted and pampered "only children. And there is little doubt that if every one of us could run this globe anything to me. I've as we saw fit, if we each of us could have our own sweet way all the time, the watched you, and I don't think you're world would in no time become a seething hive of spoiled, cantankerous childthink you're fretting to get adults, who after a while would not only be irritated beyond endurance by the sheer monotony of having every wish and whim indulged, but would degenerate into a race of imbeciles and madmen.

EVexations and inconveniences and difficulties were given us to be capitalized, be used as fertilizers for growth.

Is your daily labor a burden? It may be a burden, but it is also your one great safety-valve and life preserver. Without it you would surely get into all kinds of troubles and ills. Without it you would soon become a helpless weakling-physically and mentally and spiritually inferior. The human mechanism is like that of a millstone. Feed it wheat-give it thing to do-and it grinds the wheat into flour, things worth while. Feed it no wheat-give it nothing to do-and it gringls on, but then it is itself, its own powers and possibilities it wears away. Work is incomparable grist. It develops muscle and mind.

And responsibilities. Yours are probably irksome. So are everybody else's. But they are good for you. They build you up. They are curative of lurking ills, even though fully everything Carol had said or done, he had watched her closely and sometimes unpalatable. They hold you to the wheel. Responsibility is what he had come to the conclusion that she whets abilities, puts them on edge. It makes your metal into mettle. It creates was bored. He wanted to be alone for moral and spiritual strength, making you strong, self-reliant, understanding. just body. It makes you of account, not a no-account,

And, like Epictetus, have you trouble with your "neighbors"? Are they Ungrateful? Arrogant? Envious? Deceitful? Unsociable? In short-bad? They are not any of these things to you-they merely make you want to be as entirely different from them as possible. They teach you by antithesis. And so they bring into play your sense of humor, your good nature, your common sense, your self-control. You should, of course, be sorry that your neighbors. friends" and associates are what they are-yet, just a bit grateful-for they develop in you the virtues they lack, and they inculcate in you the unsurpassable stuff we call standibility.

Once you get this knack of taking advantage of disadvantages, you are almost as well off as if you owned the Rod of Hermes. You know about that It turned everything it touched into gold. Has somebody treated you meanly? Has a friend betrayed a trust?- Have

"Flaky white, golden brown,

ASCO

Made from the purest ingredients tonight.

u lost your money? Have you failed again? theer up., Keep up. Don't quit. Keep trying, With the "Rod of Hermes," these things you can transmute into good.

"and they shall be turned into profit."

Victor Bread's the best in town" because

Baked

by master

Victor Bread

scientifically

ASCO

Exacting cleanliness throughout our three immense sunshine of kerosene is a great aid in keeping a of kerosene is a great and in keeping a white shining sink. I keep a glass of soap jelly on the sink shelf, and when I have finished my dishes. I pur a little on a cloth which I keep especially for that purpose, and clean the sink. Then I wash the sink out with clean, hot. sudsy water, and the result is well worth the effort.—Mrs. J. A. Okla, in Good Housekeeping.

The Question Corner

Today's Inquiries 1. What What sovereign established the first model dairy farm in England?

2. For what other extremely important purpose can two iron washtubs be used, and how are they arranged so that this can be accomplished?

3. When a girl is elever at knitting, what elever booking and distinctive articles to wear with a sports suit can she make for herself?
4. For a boy thirty nine inches tall, what is the correct weight? Also for a girl of the same height?

Describe a quaint dress in com-bination of materials and in style for the girl of fourteen. In what striken way is the latest fan made'

Yesterday's Answers The distinction of being the first woman lawyer in Nova Sectia belongs to Mrs. Florence Sey-

2. A metal container with an electrical attachment, nade so that a glass can be fitted into it, is a new device that will heat liquid rapidly by a process that does not Scalloped trimmin

Scalloped trimmings of red leather fastened around the edges of a black teather handling make ir original in a highly attractive 4. The correct weight for a boy thirty-eight inches tall should be thirty-six pounds; for a girl of the same beight, thirty-five In a colorful sort of manner the sleeves and skirt of a black velfrock are banded with

Paister:
A small pocket smartly placed on the upper left-hand side of a little girl's dress will be much appreciated and liked by her.

Today, hundreds of thousands of families are enjoying this deliciously wholesome bread. Make sure it is on your table

Sold only in Asco Stores, located all over Phila. and throughout Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware and Maryland.

ASCO

Please Tell Me What to Do

By CYNTHIA

Some Good in All

Dear Cynthia—Don't you think the "Little Friend of All the World" is a darling? She says there are boys who believe the modern girl an absolute failure. I am not to be found among that number. Said the poet:

"Men whom men condemn as ill. I find so much of goodness still."
Does that not apply to girls as well? There are girls who follow the latest in slang, frills and fada. If they do not think of something better there are nothing in the end but regrets and thoughts of what might have been. But there are many others more thoughtful and studious, who become the most charming and delightful companions.

CLARENCE.

He's Lonely, Too.

Dear Cynthia—After reading your content of the leavest while l

Dear Cynthia—After reading your column for the longest while I am asking you and the readers of your wonderful paper to try to help me out.

I am a young man twenty-one years of age, in business tied down sixteen hours daily. Recently I have broken a sixteen-month courtship with a young lady whom I dearly love and cannot forget. I am a long distance from home, and my only friend gave me up, which makes me feel like the last rose of summer.

which makes me feel like the last rose of summer.

Now, dear Cynthia, if you can suggest a way of amusement for me I would greatly appreciate it and would be very thankful to you.

Hoping your motherly suggestion will appear soon.

ALL ALONE.

Must the break in your courtship be final? Doubtless this is why you feel Must the break in your courtship be final? Doubtless this is why you feel so gloomy and lonely. Do you ever go to the "Y" to meet some men friends? Or what of talking to the rector of your church or one of the curates and asking him to introduce you to some nice men and girls?

Wonder's Why She Was Wall Flower

Dear Coutble - I went to a dance the Dear Cynthia—I went to a dance the other evening and was a wall flower all through the dances, while the bold. bobbed-haired girls danced every dance if I have to say 4t, I considered myself the best-looking girl on the floor. I have beautiful golden hair and large violet blue eyes, and I have yet to say I ever used paint and powder. How is it that those "freaks" of nature with their bobbed heads and false faces can claim all the dances and the hearts of the young men everywhere they go?

bridge party to a club meeting, from there to some other kind of meeting.

SHE should be working; not for the good she could do some business or the world at large.

After, all, a girl like that has just as much right to work as the girl who needs the money, she is just as much a talent or a piece of ability with some girl around it, as the girl who has to the young men everywhere they go? PRETTY.

I think we've found the trouble right away, dear. If you think you were the prettiest girl there you probably let others know your thoughts. And people do not like conceit. Neither do they like superiority. Bobbed-hair girls are not necessarily bold. That is a very broad statement. You'll find you won't be a wall flower if you do not hold yourself superior to and more beautiful than others.

Work.

And very often she has had experience and education which leave her better fitted than the other girl for some particular position which has certain requirements.

This ngain counts against the other girl.

FIHE whole situation is unfortunate.

And it is unfair when the wealthy girl works just to kill time.

Writes to "Handsome"

Writes to "Handsome"

Dear Cynthia—In reference to our most esteemed and fluctuated handsome youths. I wish to confer a few mythological words—how's that?

In the first place, what is their-game in telling every one in the newspapers that they're pretty? Do they expect to get a $10,000 bride?

Naturally, we, the readers of this column, are indeed glad to have such handsome youths write to it. Some honor, Cynthia, eh? The zoo is a place where the city saves all sorts of rare things for the benefit of others. Better reserve another cage.

In a museum, "Handsome," you can go under the much-deserved title. "The Handsomest Man in the World" and sell photographs at twenty-five cents apiece. I'd even find time myself to come and see you. I guess Wally Reid will now have to go in the bootlegging business.

will now have to go in the bootlegking business.

Please do not let Mary Pickford fail in love with you, for she is already divorced and married again.

Well. "Handsome," there is no need of laughing, for we all know how concetted you are. I'll bet ten to one you weren't even in a dance hall, SAM P.

The Girl Who Doesn't Have to Work Should Do So if She Has the Ability

It Doesn't Seem Quite Fair to the Girl Who Has to Earn Money, but, After All, if There Is Talent It Shouldn't Be Wasted little as her employer wants to give her, thereby establishing a precedent that is pretty difficult for the girl who comes after her to break up.

BUT, on the other hand, it wouldn't be right if some girls who are well off didn't work.

off didn't work.

For it is not right for anybody to waste a perfectly good talent.

girl around it, as the girl who has to work.

And very often she has had experi-

And it is unfair when the wealthy girl works just to kill time.

SHE_may not need the money herself, but the girl who comes after her, if she leaves for another position or to get married, or to rest, will need it

And she will have a difficult time ge ting more than her predecessor got.

That is the only way a girl who doesn't have to work but wants to and should, because she has the ability, can make up to the girl, who has to work whether she has the ability or not, for taking a place that she might hold.

> Right from the glowing ovens to our Stores

Victor Bread

Sold only in our Stores

FEBRUARY SALE PRICE

3-pc. Velour Tapestry Suit, $99.50 ACME FURNITURE CO., 5936 Market St.

You need spend no more

-but you should eliminate ALL doubts about your most essential food

WOULD any thinking mother in a family use milk about which she had doubts?

Borden's Evaporated Milk is a milk which is produced with utmost attention to both safety and nutritive value. The covering of the cans of milk with clean cloths to exclude every particle of dust, while the milk is en route to the condensary-precautions such as special veterinary inspection of Borden herds-special care in handling, throughout the evaporating process-final testing before the finished product is sent to your grocer-the sum total of these and other safeguards makes Borden's Evaporated Milk one on which you can always depend.

Pure country milk with the cream left in Borden's Evaporated Milk is pure country milk-delicious for both coffee and cooking. It is milk alone, with the excess water removed. It is sterilized and sealed in tight containers which assures you of its absolute purity.

Your grocer wants to please his customers, so he offers you Borden's at the usual price for standard brands, even though he sometimes pays more for it, himself. Get Borden's

Evaporated Milk and eliminate ALL your

Evaporated Milk

UNSWEETENED EVAPORATED