

WATCHING BATHERS AT PALM BEACH

Miss Mary Brown Warburton, of Philadelphia, among the many society people who are enjoying the opening of the social season at the Florida resort

JOHN E. BAIRD DIES AT HONOLULU HOME

Active for Years in Episcopal Church Work Here—Headed Charitable Institutions

HELPED BUILD 2 PARISHES

John E. Baird, prominent in church work in this city for many years, died yesterday in Honolulu, according to a cable received here by a relative. He was seventy-one years old.

Mrs. Baird is in the Kensington Hospital for Women, an institution in which her husband was greatly interested.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Baird, who lived up to 1913 at the Aldine Hotel, were extremely active in the affairs of the Episcopal Church. Mr. Baird was a member of the Standing Committee of the diocese for years. In 1913 Mr. Baird withdrew from the committee as well as many other church organizations with which he was connected and started on a trip around the world.

After touring Europe and the Holy Land, he and Mrs. Baird sailed for Honolulu. Here they found a land exactly suited to them and decided to remain there. They immediately took the same active interest in church affairs there that distinguished them here. Mrs. Baird collected much money here for an educational fund for the Hawaiians.

Of interest at this time is the fact that Mr. Baird's first position was under his father who had taken the contract for the delivery of all supplies to the Contingent. In his letters recently he had shown interest in the Sequi-Centennial and had been working up enthusiasm for it in Honolulu.

He was principally distinguished for the wide scope of his church work. He built the parish house of the Church of St. Jude and the Nativity, at Eleventh and Mt. Vernon streets, and he helped build the parish house of St. Simon's Church at Ninth street and Lehigh avenue.

Mr. Baird was president of the Kensington Home for Women and the Hayes Mechanics Home.

Miss Matilda Baird, a sister, lives in the Bellevue-Stratford.

Dies in Honolulu

JOHN E. BAIRD Who for years was active in the work of the Episcopal Church in this city. With Mrs. Baird he had been a resident of Honolulu for some time

AGED TAILOR DIES DESPITE BLOOD GIVEN HIM BY SON

Jacob Katz, East Moyamensing Avenue, Succumbs in Hospital

Jacob Katz, an aged tailor, 1210 East Moyamensing avenue, died in the Samaritan Hospital this morning despite blood given him by his son, Jules, twenty-four years old, two days ago.

Four other sons and two daughters stood by to make the same sacrifice of their life fluid in an effort to save their father, but it was considered hopeless. About three months ago Mr. Katz had a severe attack of pneumonia.

Despite his age and a bad heart, he fought off the disease and might have recovered if he had not fallen a victim to a bacterial disease, a newly discovered malady similar to gangrene. It is thought he contracted this when he stepped on a shell while bathing last summer. This necessitated the amputation of his leg.

He will be buried tomorrow from his home at 1210 East Moyamensing avenue. Interment will be in Llanerch.

EDUCATORS AT MEETING

Deliver Addresses at Friends' Educational Association Conference

Speakers from colleges and private schools gave addresses today at a general meeting of the Friends' Educational Association, at Friends' Select School, Sixth and Cherry streets.

Rayner W. Kelley, Haverford College, president of the association, included George G. Chambers and George W. McClelland, University of Pennsylvania; Richard M. Gummere, Penn Charter School; Stanley R. Yarnall, Germantown Friends School; and Carroll T. Brown and Samuel H. Brown, of the Westtown School.

Frank D. Slutz, of the Moraine Park School, Dayton, O., will address this afternoon on "The Creative Impulse in Education."

ZEISS'S HOTEL

820 Walnut St. JOHN O. H. MEYERS, Prop.

POINTOMETER

Don't Forget to ask for a POINTOMETER furnished FREE at the MOON MOTOR CAR EXHIBIT AT THE SHOW

STENOGRAPHER OR CLERK

Young lady of refinement and pleasing personality with three years' experience in clerical work desires position in stenographic school. Age 18. Earnest, enthusiastic, energetic. A 331, LEDGER OFFICE to make this a real Thrift Week is to start now to do all your grocery shopping at the Asco Stores. You'll be surprised at the added satisfaction you will derive and the money you will save. Many families paid for Liberty Bonds during the war with what they saved by taking advantage of our Economy Prices.

The Best Way

Young Woman Journalist

and author desires a permanent, well-paying connection with an established magazine or newspaper as a writer, correspondent, or both.

She would like to become an integral factor in a publication of national scope, and among writers who look upon their craft as a dignified profession. She would consider a JOURNALIST in the broadest sense.

An opportunity is sought to express sincerely with good literary technique, a woman's convictions and impressions of current events, interesting persons, etc.

Her qualifications have been acquired through several years' journalistic experience, some creative work, a year of foreign correspondence and lecturing, and considerable academic and collegiate training.

Into a congenial, stimulating, intellectual atmosphere (as she seeks) she would bring passion and a sincere devotion to the highest ideals of service.

A 708, LEDGER OFFICE Philadelphia, Pa.

MACKAY BOOMED IN COUNTER-MOVE

Vares Seek to Stem Beideman's Gubernatorial Drive by Backfiring

$5000 CHECK A SHADOW

Harry A. Mackey, one of the Vares chieftains and chairman of the State Workmen's Compensation Board, is once more proposed by Vares leaders for the gubernatorial nomination.

Senator Vares projected the Mackey candidacy today as at least a counter stroke against the rapidly developing offensive of Lieutenant Governor E. T. Beideman.

Vares leaders are "not sure the people will stand for the incidents connected with the receipt of a $5000 check by Mr. Beideman from Charles A. Snyder when the latter was Auditor General."

Neither are the Varies sure that Beideman's record on woman suffrage will yield much feminine support.

At any rate, Senator Vares has resisted all importunities, up to this time, to declare for Beideman. W. Harry Baker, secretary of the State Committee and campaign manager for Beideman, is confident that a deal will soon be struck with Vares leaders in the interest of the Lieutenant Governor.

Senator Vares is holding off, apparently believing that he holds the key to the Beideman-Baker situation.

Senator Vares, who was confined to his home with a cold yesterday, may be able to receive visitors today. One of them is expected to be Mayor Magner of Pittsburgh, with whom the Senator has a friendly working arrangement. Magner is primarily interested in John A. Bell for the United States Senate. A Magner move therefore will swing around that axis.

Triangular Race

So far as the Vares are concerned, the fight for the nomination is one now between Beideman and either Lewis A. Mackey or W. Franklin Kendrick. Mr. Kendrick was elected Receiver of Taxes on the Vares ticket. State leaders say, however, that Vares' real candidate for Governor, if he could have his way, would be Mackey.

Just as soon as the Vares and the Baker-Beideman group settle this question among themselves, the opposition for the primaries will take form. John S. Fisher, State Banking Commissioner, continued today to be a likely choice of the elements opposed to a Vares ticket.

40c Luncheon

11:30 A. M. to 5 P. M. ZEISS'S HOTEL 820 Walnut St. JOHN O. H. MEYERS

ZANE GREY'S "To the Last Man"

RENT IT TODAY FOR 35c FROM Womrath's Library 15 S. Thirteenth St., Philadelphia

He who motors with uncontrolled springs takes terrible chances

WATSON STABILATORS

John W. Watson, Watson Company 24th & Locust Sts., Phila.

The Best Way

to make this a real Thrift Week is to start now to do all your grocery shopping at the Asco Stores. You'll be surprised at the added satisfaction you will derive and the money you will save. Many families paid for Liberty Bonds during the war with what they saved by taking advantage of our Economy Prices.

Young Woman Journalist

and author desires a permanent, well-paying connection with an established magazine or newspaper as a writer, correspondent, or both.

She would like to become an integral factor in a publication of national scope, and among writers who look upon their craft as a dignified profession. She would consider a JOURNALIST in the broadest sense.

An opportunity is sought to express sincerely with good literary technique, a woman's convictions and impressions of current events, interesting persons, etc.

Her qualifications have been acquired through several years' journalistic experience, some creative work, a year of foreign correspondence and lecturing, and considerable academic and collegiate training.

Into a congenial, stimulating, intellectual atmosphere (as she seeks) she would bring passion and a sincere devotion to the highest ideals of service.

A 708, LEDGER OFFICE Philadelphia, Pa.

CITY'S OLDEST WOMAN, 106, STILL IS EXPERT ON BIBLE

Mrs. Susan Williams Thinks Movies and Airplanes Are "Frip-eries" and Is Aghast at High Prices

At the age of 106, or thereabouts, Mrs. Susan Williams is able to sit up in bed and read from the beginning all the books of the Bible and such homilies in verse as "The Morning Sun" and "The Love of God." Perhaps were it not for an accident, now four years old, that dislocated her hip and confined her to bed, she might do so standing up.

Mrs. Williams lives with her son, Richard Williams, himself old enough to be a grandfather, in a little house at 2213 St. Johns terrace, in West Philadelphia.

Here in an upstairs room lies Mrs. Williams, who once slept in the house of Lord Tremaine and of Sir Charles Saule in her native Cornwall—who was a little girl when Queen Victoria was a little girl.

Started to Travel Late in Life Mrs. Williams was born in the village of St. Austell, on the moorlands of Cornwall, England, and until she was well over eighty had scarcely put foot outside of it.

She spent much of her early life at the village Kirk, where she learned so much of the Christian Association, which (and perhaps can still) any chapter from its first verse and dozens of little stanzas like those she obligingly recited for her visitors. She wanted to tell one about "The Black Cat," concerning which, she said, a "clergyman had assured her "there was nothing immodest whatever."

Mrs. Williams was married late in her life. When her husband died, twenty-two years ago, she was brought to this country by her son. It was the first she had fared farther than St. Austell than Plymouth.

At the time of her birth, vital records were not kept in the Cornwall parishes, and she recalls from the beginning all the books of the Bible and such homilies in verse as "The Morning Sun" and "The Love of God." Perhaps were it not for an accident, now four years old, that dislocated her hip and confined her to bed, she might do so standing up.

Such silliness," she said of it. "I don't know why grown people should waste their time on such things."

She declares the movies of the present vastly inferior to the moving pictures of her childhood, that were one of the delights of fair days. Then you paid a farthing to look through a peep hole, while a man jerked a pair of marionettes up and down.

Shocked by High Prices One phase of modern life, however, that excites Mrs. Williams is the cost of living.

"Tuppence ha' penny for an egg, indeed," she says indignantly. "If I were a Queen I won't buy them at that price. More than a shilling for a dozen is robbery."

Mrs. Williams was married late in her life. When her husband died, twenty-two years ago, she was brought to this country by her son. It was the first she had fared farther than St. Austell than Plymouth.

At the time of her birth, vital records were not kept in the Cornwall parishes, and she recalls from the beginning all the books of the Bible and such homilies in verse as "The Morning Sun" and "The Love of God." Perhaps were it not for an accident, now four years old, that dislocated her hip and confined her to bed, she might do so standing up.

Such silliness," she said of it. "I don't know why grown people should waste their time on such things."

She declares the movies of the present vastly inferior to the moving pictures of her childhood, that were one of the delights of fair days. Then you paid a farthing to look through a peep hole, while a man jerked a pair of marionettes up and down.

Shocked by High Prices One phase of modern life, however, that excites Mrs. Williams is the cost of living.

"Tuppence ha' penny for an egg, indeed," she says indignantly. "If I were a Queen I won't buy them at that price. More than a shilling for a dozen is robbery."

Mrs. Williams was married late in her life. When her husband died, twenty-two years ago, she was brought to this country by her son. It was the first she had fared farther than St. Austell than Plymouth.

At the time of her birth, vital records were not kept in the Cornwall parishes, and she recalls from the beginning all the books of the Bible and such homilies in verse as "The Morning Sun" and "The Love of God." Perhaps were it not for an accident, now four years old, that dislocated her hip and confined her to bed, she might do so standing up.

Such silliness," she said of it. "I don't know why grown people should waste their time on such things."

She declares the movies of the present vastly inferior to the moving pictures of her childhood, that were one of the delights of fair days. Then you paid a farthing to look through a peep hole, while a man jerked a pair of marionettes up and down.

Shocked by High Prices One phase of modern life, however, that excites Mrs. Williams is the cost of living.

"Tuppence ha' penny for an egg, indeed," she says indignantly. "If I were a Queen I won't buy them at that price. More than a shilling for a dozen is robbery."

Mrs. Williams was married late in her life. When her husband died, twenty-two years ago, she was brought to this country by her son. It was the first she had fared farther than St. Austell than Plymouth.

At the time of her birth, vital records were not kept in the Cornwall parishes, and she recalls from the beginning all the books of the Bible and such homilies in verse as "The Morning Sun" and "The Love of God." Perhaps were it not for an accident, now four years old, that dislocated her hip and confined her to bed, she might do so standing up.

Such silliness," she said of it. "I don't know why grown people should waste their time on such things."

She declares the movies of the present vastly inferior to the moving pictures of her childhood, that were one of the delights of fair days. Then you paid a farthing to look through a peep hole, while a man jerked a pair of marionettes up and down.

PICK UP RADIO HINTS

Amateur Operators Send Health Bulletins From Anacosta, Va.

Health hints have been received here the last week by amateur radio telephone operators. The health bulletins are sent from the Anacosta, Va. The latest talk was on bacteria.

The health service bulletins from Washington will be augmented by a bi-weekly service from the high-powered Woodford Hills station of the American Radio and Research Corporation near Boston.

Every Tuesday evening nearly 30,000 persons will be able to hear the "Health Hints" sent out within a 1000-mile radius. The Boston chapter of the American Red Cross is in charge of the bulletins, which the executive secretary, B. A. Welcome, gives in person.

JEWES PLAN FOR FUND DRIVE

Rabbi Magnes and Levinthal to Speak at Mass-Meeting

A public meeting, preliminary to the opening of the $1,000,000 campaign of the American Jewish Relief Appeal January 29, will be held tomorrow night in the Forrest Theatre.

Joseph D. Litt, chairman of the campaign Executive Committee, will preside and introduce the speakers, Rabbi Judah L. Magnes, of New York City, and Rabbi B. L. Levinthal, of this city.

Motion pictures showing conditions in the famine-stricken areas in Russia and Eastern Europe will be shown.

SOLICITORS DISAVOWED

Institution for Crippled Children Charges Fraud in Asking Funds

Officers of the Home of the Merciful Saviour for Crippled Children, Forty-fourth street and Baltimore avenue, have issued a warning that certain persons have been soliciting funds for that institution and that the work is unauthorized, as they have never solicited funds.

They declare any one canvassing for funds in the name of the home is acting fraudulently and that the matter has been taken up with the police authorities.

Man Attempts Suicide

Richard Brown, sixty-four years old, shot himself in the head last night at his home, Forty-fifth street near Locust, police say. He is in the Mercersburg Hospital in a serious condition. Despondency over business affairs and ill-health caused the act, relatives say.

CALIFORNIA & HAWAII via Panama

A Raymond-Whitcomb Cruise, leaving New York Feb. 18, visiting Cuba, Porto Rico, Virgin Islands, Panama Canal, Salina Cruz and Manzanillo in Mexico, Los Angeles, San Francisco, the Hawaiian National Park and the famous Active volcano, Kilauea, Hilo and Honolulu, returning to San Francisco. Optional Eastward trip by sea or rail. Rates $750 up.

Raymond & Whitcomb Co

1238 Walnut Street, Philadelphia Telephone, Filbert 3864

MAY MOVE 8000 BODIES IN PLAYGROUND PLAN

Council Committee Considers Eighteenth Ward Project

Council's Welfare Committee yesterday moved to set in motion the machinery of acquiring what promises to be one of the most costly plots of ground ever taken over by the city for a playground. The plot in question is located in the Eighteenth Ward, bounded by Columbia avenue, Thompson, Earp and Livingston streets. It is to be taken over for a playground.

The plot in question is one and a quarter acres in area. The actual cost of the ground is not so high, but the plot comprises three Colonial burial grounds. There are between 7000 and 8000 bodies in the tract, and the city is endeavoring to enter into an agreement with the ancient cemetery companies to remove the bodies.

It was at first estimated that the cost of removing each body would be $75. That figure would run the cost of removing the bodies up to more than $600,000. At present negotiations are under way between the City Solicitor's office and the attorneys for the three cemetery companies involved for the city to pay a lump sum for the removal of the bodies.

LANDIS SERIOUSLY ILL

Doctors Fear Chicago Judge Will Develop Pneumonia

Chicago, Jan. 21.—Kensaw M. Landis Federal judge is seriously ill with bronchial troubles. It was announced by his office last night. Judge Landis has been confined to his home for several days with a bad cold. The doctors said that they feared influenza or pneumonia which might prove fatal to a man of the judge's age, although his condition was not yet critical.

NEWMAN LECTURE PLEASES

It was a case of "See-America First" in the second of E. M. Newman's series of traveltalks given last night at the Academy of Music. "The Canadian Rockies" was the subject of the second of the lecturer's series, and views were shown of Victoria, Vancouver, the Duhobors, Lake Windermere, Emerald Lake, Takkaka Falls, Canadian National Park, Banff and Lake Louise. Interesting pictures of wild animals were included. The traveltalk will be repeated this afternoon.

Men of Parish to Dine

The parish of Holy Apostles, Twenty-first and Christian streets, will hold its twentieth annual men's dinner Thursday night in Cooper Battalion Hall, Twenty-third and Christian streets. The speakers will include the Rev. Carter Helms Jones, Fletcher W. Stites and Noah Swayne.

LAUD PEPPER'S EFFORTS

Aero Club Praises Senator in Air Mail Activities

Congratulations to Senator George Wharton Pepper on his efforts to restore the New York-Washington air mail service were forwarded last night by the Aero Club of Pennsylvania following a meeting and election of officers at the Engineers' Club.

Joseph A. Steinmetz was re-elected president of the club, with William H. Shuman as first vice president; Henry F. Bergerer, second vice president, and George S. Gasser as secretary and treasurer.

Richard Heads Sunday School

The Sabbath-School Association of the Olivet Presbyterian Church, of Prospect Park, has just elected the following officers for the year: A. T. Rickards, superintendent; D. W. Connor and Dr. E. W. Dodd, assistant superintendents; F. E. Cowan, secretary, and William Detweiler, assistant secretary, and H. E. Carlisle, treasurer.

ONE IN FOUR

THIS IS THIRTY PER CENT OF THE PEOPLE OF PHILADELPHIA ARE SAID TO MAINTAIN SAVINGS FUND OR CHECKING ACCOUNTS. THIS IS A SPECTACULAR RECORD. ARE YOU ONE OF THIS ARMY OF ENDOVEA? "THE COMMONWEALTH" HAS, AND PLACES AT YOUR SERVICE, EVERY FACILITY WHICH YOU MAY NEED IN THE CONDUCT OF YOUR FINANCIAL AFFAIRS.

COMMONWEALTH Title Insurance and Trust Company

N. W. Cor. 12th and Chestnut Sts. Established 1888

DOUBLE YOUR SAVINGS—IT CAN BE DONE

DOUBLE YOUR SAVINGS—IT CAN BE DONE

COMMONWEALTH Title Insurance and Trust Company

N. W. Cor. 12th and Chestnut Sts. Established 1888

MAN SHOTS GIRL WHO REPULSED HIM

Flees From House at 1407 Jefferson Street After Firing Four Shots

VICTIM WILL RECOVER

Inflamed when his advances were repulsed, John J. Rene, twenty-seven, a barber, boarder at 1407 Jefferson street, shot and seriously injured Harriet Deatur, twenty-nine, of the same address, last night.

Rene fired four shots, two of which took effect. One struck her in the left thigh and the other in the same leg below the knee. After firing, Rene ran to the street and the young woman attempted to follow him. Screaming, she had almost overtaken him at Fifteenth and Master streets, when she collapsed.

Miss Deatur was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital, where it is said she will probably recover.

Miss Deatur said today that Rene had been infatuated with her for about a month, and persistently annoyed her. Although spurned on every occasion, she said, he entered her apartment last night and said:

"I want to talk with you."

"Go away, I don't want to have anything to do with you," she answered.

Without another word Rene pulled a revolver from his pocket and began shooting.

BAILEY BANKS & BIDDLE CO.

JEWELS The Gift of a Diamond, Pearl or other Jewel from this Establishment, regardless of its price or size, is an assurance of intrinsic value and enduring satisfaction

Income Tax Department

TO persons unfamiliar with the regulations governing the Federal Income Tax, the preparation of the annual return required by law presents many difficulties.

Our Income Tax Department is for the purpose of assisting our patrons, but we are glad to extend its facilities to any one in need of such help.

There is no charge for this service.

Philadelphia Trust Company

415 Chestnut Street Broad and Chestnut Streets

THE 4 CORNERS

OF Tabor Road and Adams Avenue

ALSO Tract Tabor Road E. of Adams Avenue Two Fronts on Frankford Branch, Reading R. R. Passenger Station on Property.

ALL Adjacent to the Roosevelt Boulevard AT PUBLIC SALE

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 25, 1922, at 12 M.

AT THE REAL ESTATE SALESROOMS 1519-21 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia

No. 1—30 7-10 Acres No. 3—24 1-10 Acres

N. W. Cor. Tabor Road and Adams Ave. S. E. Cor. Tabor Road and Adams Ave. With R. R. Front

No. 2—19 3-10 Acres No. 4—19-10 Acres

S. W. Cor. Tabor Road and Adams Ave. Tabor Road E. of Adams Ave. With R. R. Front

Tract No. 5—16 10 Acres, N. E. Cor. Tabor Road and Adams Ave.

Sold by order of the Orphans' Court for the estate of Ann Whitaker, Decd. By order of M. Hampton Todd, Esq., Trustee.

SAMUEL T. FREEMAN & CO., Auctioneers

1519-21 CHESTNUT ST., PHILA.