Letters to the Editor

Fan Criticizes Connie Mack... To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—Being a dyed-in-the-wool base- ball fan, and reading so much of Con- nie Mack and the athletics of which he is manager, I cannot refrain from ex- pressing my opinion of him as a base- ball manager. I read Bob Maxwell's article in your paper of a recent date in which you say that Mack is not a manager. Who Is to Blame: Mistress or Maid?

A School for Servants... To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—In the interest of the servant- problem articles you are printing in your paper, may I add my serious ideas on the subject? In my opinion, the only solution to the problem is to interest the house- hold in opening and maintaining a school for our servants continuing in- dependent, which is the root of all the trouble in our relations. It has been my experience, as well as the experience of my friends, that when they apply under that heading they know not to nothing.

DREAMLAND ADVENTURES

Running Waters... By DADDY... Buck Beaver and his family are building a spitte dam to stop the melting snow waters and flood the valley to drown out the forest folks. Jack sends Janet to warn the forest folks, then he seeks a way to stop the building of the dam.

CHAPTER V... CLUMPETY-CLUMP! Up the valley through the melting snows rode Janet on her pony to warn the forest folks of the coming flood.

The Servant Problem... To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I wish to state, in relation to the domestic employee and domestic servant problem, that the difficulty starts generally with the first interview. The servant meets the lady of the house and both talk in a most congenial manner and both are supposed to have un- derstood each other perfectly, namely, the servant must be competent and ca- pable of carrying on her part of the work without the aid of the lady, be- cause the lady is supposed to be of such a society type that she would be too busy to supervise.

Will Andy Win Out?... To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I am very much interested in the letters in your columns in regard to the servant situation, since the problem is one vexing me at present. I have a small, well-ordered, well-built and well-furnished home, and I keep two maids to do the work which could be done by one. I have a cook to do the cooking and take care of the lower floor, which consists of a living room, a dining room, kitchen, pantry and laundry, all small rooms. I give her a room all to herself, also a private bath of her own, well-furnished, with four windows, lots of air and light and cool in summer and warm in winter.

Need of a Job... To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I present a problem for women to answer: "What would please one most," and I believe that under present conditions it would be that some one would help lots of unemployed to get work, who would be glad for a job and glad to get something to eat.

Corrects Printed Statement... To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—In your EVENING PUBLIC LEDGER on Monday, January 23, you published an extract of a sermon by the Rev. W. E. Zimmerman, pastor of the First M. E. Church, of Gloucester, N. J., on the subject "Prohibition—A Success" or so stated at the preacher. He said that he would meet him outside of the church after the service he would take them where they could get all the liquor they wanted, and that after they had had the services the men gathered outside, and when the preacher said, "Let's go," the men said it was too cold, and would put it off until some other time.

Is Uncle Bim Saved?... To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I have been reading the EVENING PUBLIC LEDGER and I note that Uncle Bim and Mrs. Zander have been mentioned a great deal of each other here and there. I would like to see Uncle Bim marry a young widow, instead of the old Mrs. Zander, who wants him for his money. Uncle Bim has spent thousands of his dollars on Mrs. Zander and it is for your Mr. Sidney Smith to decide whether he should spend any more.

Poems and Songs Desired... To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I send you the following as John Ruskin's quotation on "No Bad Weather": Rain is refreshing. Wind is invigorating. Snow is exhilarating. There is really no such thing as bad weather.
