Letters to the Editor

Age and Employment

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I would like very much to see discussed in your paper what is to become of the middle-aged and old men when they are given no chance for employment...

A man who has been actively engaged until he becomes forty-five years of age, and in the interim has done everything to make himself proficient in the business in which he is engaged...

Many of our middle-aged and old men, through force of circumstances, have been unable to lay aside sufficient money for an old age provision...

I don't want to be supported, I want to earn my living, and am quite able to do so, and give as much and as efficient work as any young man would be willing to do...

Human nature seems to be pretty much the same the world over. Meet people with kindness and sincerity and you are pretty sure to receive the same treatment in return...

A Letter of Appreciation

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—The space you have so kindly given in your paper today to the annual meeting of our society is deeply appreciated...

Building of Public Roads

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—Kindly permit an old man to express his views in the People's Forum on road making...

To get to my point, I am going to use the Lincoln Highway as an illustration, as by many people it is looked upon as a mighty fine road...

I have seen touring cars blow their horns for half a mile for the truck to turn aside so they could pass. For if they should have attempted to pass they would have run in the ditch or over the precipice and upset...

Here is the Old Man's idea, and I have been a driver for fifty years: A 50 per cent of the travel in automobiles, the center road should be made from the hardest material that can be obtained (cement)...

Who Is to Blame? Mistress or Maid?

Do They Want Too Much?

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I have been reading all the letters in the Evening Public Ledger regarding the domestic question...

If the mistress would give in to the demands of the front door, and the entertaining of "gentlemen friends" in the sitting room, library or parlor, might it not be possible that before long servants would be as plentiful as the stars in the sky...

Upon request the Company will be glad to place on the mailing list, free of charge, any one desiring to receive this and subsequent issues of The Girard Letter.

Curiosity—The Great Teacher

CURIOSITY is the beginning of all knowledge. Do you know any subject about which your child has not asked you a dozen questions? Let him ask as many as he likes, and be sure to answer them correctly...

Answers Every Question a Child Can Ask

- Why do we grow old? Who made the first electric light? How did the days get their names? Why is a river always running? Why does lightning strike some things and not others? Where does the wind begin? Why does the kettle sing? Where do thoughts come from? What makes coal burn? Why has a star five points? What is it like at the bottom of the sea? Why are tears salt? Why do we have names? What is a thunder-bolt? How high can men fly? Is the earth hollow inside?
