WOMAN DISTURBS BANK THEFT TRIAL

Relative of Alleged Spring City Hold-up Man Brings Satchel
 Cardinal Elevated Last Year Favored by at Least Thirty of His Colleagues

SPECIK TELLS OF ROBBERY
 West Chester, Pa., Jan. 31.—Court Room No. 2 was crowded to the doors today when the trial of the six men charged with holding up the officers and clerks of the Spring City National Bank on October 10 of last year was resumed. They are charged with stealing $10,000 in cash. They were arrested at Phoenixville and all but $2400 was recovered.
 Many friends and relatives of the accused were present. A sister was seated in the courtroom when a woman relative of one of the men found her way close to the railing against which the men sat and placed a satchel close to one of them and within his reach. The woman was quickly hauled from the room, but the contents of the satchel were not examined.

Alleged Bandit Leader's Story
 George Spevak, known also as George Spevak, alleged leader of the bandit gang, was called by the prosecution to repeat an alleged confession he had made to Detective Heblaw and Assistant District Attorney Harold McCowan. He had made this confession, one immediately after being arrested and another two days later, when he had learned John Mason, the rooming-house keeper, had given information which led to the arrests. He was clearly questioned in attorneys for both sides and had a had afternoon on the stand. Spevak had a hard time adjusting the two statements. It was through Mason that the members of the gang were arrested.

Spevak said he was three years old when his home, Detroit. He recalled he was in Phoenixville three months before the robbery. Some time later he went to Philadelphia and in a postroom met the men implicated in the robbery. "We talked of many things," said Spevak, "and finally Joe, who escaped after the robbery, proposed we go to Phoenixville and rob a bank. He had been in Phoenixville and looked things over, returning to Philadelphia. Three days before the robbery he and I went to Spring City and decided to rob the bank there."
 "I went into the bank and had a dollar bill changed. We were to rob the bank, go to Phoenixville and remain for a day, then go searther."

Implicates Mason
 "On the day of the robbery we went to the home of John Mason, and rented a room. After the money was returned there and I gave Mrs. Mason $50 for the rental, 'Joe' told her to keep the change. 'Joe' gave us the guns and told us how to act and we went to the bank."
 "I jumped on the counter and held up the clerks while the others got the money, placed it in a bag we had secured at the Mason home, and we went to the room where Joe sat as after getting his share of the money he took the automobile and disappeared. We offered Mason $100 for the use of his house."
 Under fire of the attorneys Spevak added that he had told Mason of the robbery two weeks before it took place, and he was to have a share in the proceeds.
 "I did not tell this at first," said Spevak, "because I wanted to shield Mason, but Mason knew our days were to assist in hiding the men. We talked it all over and he was implicated as much as the others."
 "Didn't Want Children Fed?"
 Previous to the grilling of Spevak, Lewis Elyesser said he was in the bank when the robbery took place and was held up by Harold, who showed a gun and asked for $1000. "I handed over my money, thinking he wanted to rob me, when he said, 'Keep quiet, I do not want children fed.'"
 Officer Stillwell, of the State police, stationed at Collegeville, told of the scene after the robbery and how he had gone to Phoenixville after other officers had captured four of the robbers. He went to the Mason home and in an upper room found Paterno hiding under a bed and captured him.

LAURENTI IN LEAD FOR NEXT PONTIFF

By the Associated Press
 Rome, Jan. 31.—Interest in the office of a successor to Pope Benedict is increasing as the time draws near for assembling of the Sacred Congregation and many attempts to find an indication of the man who may be made.
 Cardinal Laurenti, secretary of the Congregation of the Propaganda, although raised to the purple only last year, is understood to be favored by at least thirty members of the Sacred College who believe in a rapprochement with the Italian Government. At the same time he is said to be acceptable to those opposed to closer relations with the Quirinal.
 The name of Cardinal Ratti, Archbishop of Milan, mentioned previously as favored by the "Cresce" group, headed by Cardinal Gasparri, is not heard so often now, and the section headed by Cardinal Merry del Val, which had been critical of the favoring of Cardinal Maffi, Archbishop of Pisa, is reported as ready for a compromise before the balloting begins.

Cardinal Bourne Worried
 Several of the Cardinals, including Bourne, Archbishop of Westminster, visited the conclave quarters after the solemn papal mass in the Sistine Chapel yesterday. Cardinal Bourne appeared especially anxious not to be assigned to rooms on the top floor.
 "The elevator does not appear to be working reliably, and I hope young men like you are selected by lot to occupy the upper stories," he remarked humorously to Cardinal Vannutelli, dean of the Sacred College, who is eighty-five years of age.
 "The Lord will provide," responded the latter.
 The incident yesterday in the Sistine Chapel, when a member of the pontifical Vatican officials refused permits to enter the chapel this morning.

The suggestion made in some of the Italian newspapers that the conclave may be postponed to permit the arrival of the American cardinals, who are not on their way to Rome, was not taken seriously by members of the Sacred College. The correspondent is informed that the conclave will convene Thursday, as was originally planned.

Italian Pope Favored
 "It was an English-speaking pontiff who gave Ireland to England in the twelfth century, therefore, we do not favor any but an Italian for the throne of St. Peter," declared a member of the Italian College, favoring the pope of Ireland, who arrived here yesterday. "The incumbent of this high office must speak the Italian language, be intimately acquainted with the delicate relationship between the Vatican and the Quirinal, and understand the psychology of the Italian Government and people."
 The Holy See encompasses all peoples and all countries, and must not identify itself too closely with any Government, for there would be danger that it would be used as an instrument for the advancement of a group and not in the interest of the whole world.
 Although he had been traveling for five days, Cardinal Logue, upon his arrival, plunged into the many problems confronting the Sacred College. He conferred with Italian and foreign cardinals, and later went to St. Peter's, where he spent some time in silent prayer in the crypt where Benedict XV is entombed.

Despite his eighty-two years, the Irish prelate appeared fresh, buoyant and vigorous. On the way to Rome he stopped off at a small town, where he participated in a solemn high mass in honor of the late pontiff. When seen by the Associated Press correspondent at the Irish Club, he expressed a feeling of satisfaction to be engaged for publication.
 "I am no longer a young fellow like some of you," he said, "but I intend to continue my breath and spirit as long as I have a little red and blue time to do in this world. You American journalists are as diagnostic as gasometers. I am not dissatisfied by your strings of questions since I left Dublin. I cannot say anything for the moment, but perhaps later."

WARN EMPLOYERS AGAINST "ANTI-UNION COERCION"
 New Jersey Business Men See Peril in "Open Shop" Movements
 Newark, N. J., Jan. 31.—Some of the leading business men of Newark, members of a Committee of Relations of the New Jersey State Chamber of Commerce, in a report made public here today, warn employers against the "open shop" movement, which they believe is a danger to the stability of the State.
 "The open shop movement is a danger to the stability of the State," said the report. "It is a movement which seeks to destroy the union, and to place the employer in a position of absolute control over the worker. This is a dangerous and unwise policy, and we urge employers to resist it."
