Waters Fall Foot in Few Hours, Ice Gone and Mill Owners Breathe Easier

TRIBUTARIES ARE FLOODED

After a rapid rise to almost flood evels the Schuylkill River began to recede early today, being a foot lower at 9 A. M. than the high point of yesrday. According to Winfield Guiles Supervisor of Locks, the breast of water flowing over the Flat Rock Dam at Shawmont is now four feet, as compared to five feet recorded some hours pre-vious. This indicates a level of ten feet in the lower stretches of the river, while twelve feet is considered the danger level for the numerous mills which border the river at this point. All the ice in the Schuy'kill is now melted, says Mr. Guiles, and be thinks that from now on the river will continue illing until it reaches normal.

Judge John M. Patterson, who was cone of the happiest guests present, made a little talk in which he told of the human as opposed to the judicial side of his office. Most of the children had heard of courts. It was part of their home vocabulary, so the talk did not go over their heads when the Judge told how hard it was for him to sentence a lad whom he had paroled for his first offense of stealing automobiles and the had to send him to prison when he west out and did the same thing over again. Then they were told simply how to lead upright lives and grow up into useful men and women. nen and women.
