MOTOR ROADS OPENED UP

Auto Club Bureau Reports Most of Highways Again in Condition

Conditions for motoring are fast improving, according to a report today by the touring bureau of the Keystone Automobile Club. Many highways have been cleared of the snow. Roads that can now be used by automobiles include Lincoln highway to New York; Lincoln highway, west, open to the Lancaster County line; Bethlehem pike, open all the way; Baltimore pike, open to Baltimore; Chester pike, open to Wilmington; William Penn highway, open all the way; Bristol pike, open all the way; Doylestown pike, open to Doylestown.

Warning was issued to motorists not to try to run from Doylestown to Easton on account of the condition of the road just below Easton.

Ridge pike, it was reported, will be open for automobile traffic by tonight.

The State Highway Department reports State road, Skippack pike, Second Street pike and Walsh road are open.

TABLET IS UNVEILED

Swarthmore Prep School Honors A. H. Tomlinson's Memory

A tablet in honor of the memory of Arthur H. Tomlinson, founder of Swarthmore Preparatory School, was unveiled at the school at 10 o'clock this morning in the presence of the students, members of the Alumni Association, faculty and relatives and friends of Mr. Tomlinson. The tablet was the gift of the Alumni Association.

The presentation was made by Charles North, Philadelphia architect, who designed the tablet. Mr. North is a graduate of Swarthmore. He spoke of the useful life of Mr. Tomlinson. Today, he said, is the sixty-sixth anniversary of the birth of Mr. Tomlinson. The educator died three years ago.

The tablet was accepted by Willard P. Tomlinson, son of the founder, who is now head master of Swarthmore.

LITTLE BENNY'S NOTE BOOK

By Lee Pape

I wasent allowed to go out this afternoon on account of having a bad cold gettin worse, and Mrs. Hews came to see ma, leeving her automobeel out front, and they started to tawk about bringing up children, Mrs. Hews saying, Appeel to their reason, thats my motto that I go by, appeal to their reason, I allways say.

Absilootly, sed ma, thats the very prinsiple I invariibly use with Benny, whenever I tell him to do something I explain to him jest wy, and I never tell him to do anything unless he sees its for his own good.

Quite rite, taackly, sed Mrs. Hews, and ma sed, absilootly. And pritty soon Mrs. Hews went and I sed to ma, May ma, can I go out now?

Certeny not, with a cold like that, certeny not, sed ma.

Well gosh, G, ma, you told Mrs. Hews I dident haff to do eavthing unless I saw it was for my good, and I dont see how staying in the house is for my good, so I mite as well go out, I sed, and ma sed, Wat nonsents, izzent it for your own good not to make your cold eny worse?

Well, maybe, but I cant see that it is, and you sed I had to see it for myself, so I guess Ill go out, I sed, and ma sed, I guess youll do nuthing of the sort, the ideer.

Well G wizz ma, dident I tell you I cant see hows its for my good to stay in? I sed, and ma sed, You'd see it if you had the slightest particle of sents.

Well gosh, G, ma, holey smoaks, I sed, and ma sed, No argewments, please, you mind wat I tell you weather you see or weather you dont see.

Wich I did. Proving people ony appeel to your reason as long as it werks.

INSTALL PASTOR SUNDAY

Collingdale Lutherans Arrange Services for Rev. Mr. Richards

The Rev. Marion G. Richards will be installed as pastor of the First Lutheran Church, Collingdale, Sunday morning.

The installation ceremony will take place in the firehouse of Company No. 1, in charge of the Rev. Dr. Charles P. Wiles, editor of the Sunday school literature of the United Lutheran Church. He will preach the sermon and deliver the charge to the new pastor.

The charge to the congregation will be made by the Rev. Dr. B. D. Burt Smith, editor of the Sunday school department of the Lutheran Journal.

Mr. Richards has served churches in Ambler, Pa.; Lake City, Fla., and Chester Springs. His last charge was the Emmanuel Church, of East Lansdowne, where he served four years.

VOTES: FOR WHAT? DUNNO!

Councilman Buchholz Admits He Said "No" Without Thought

Councilman Buchholz admitted today he cast a vote in Council without knowing just what he was voting about. He had called out "No" on the measure, but when Councilman Hall shouted "What?" Buchholz switched his vote to "aye."

The bill was to pay $207.40 to William H. Pilkington, a former city fireman, for the period when he was off sick while employed by the city. Council's Law Committee had acted favorably on the payment as a "moral claim."

"You see it was this way," Mr. Buchholz explained. "I had voted for the bill in the Law Committee. Councilman Roper tried to block the payment. When a vote was called for I was looking up something in my desk and thought the measure was something else. I changed my vote when I discovered my mistake."

"L" Trains Delayed

Office workers living in West Philadelphia were delayed from fifteen to twenty-five minutes this morning by a short block on the Market street elevated. The trouble was caused by one of the trains becoming suddenly disabled in the subway at Nineteenth street. In less than fifteen minutes the crew had restored the train to motion, but progress on the rest of the road was behind schedule for some time afterward.
