THEAR the Roddy Pages have decided on Friday evening, April 21. for the dance which they will give for their niece, Banning Grange. They were to have given a party earlier in the season, but Roddy Fage's uncle. Mr. Edward Page, died in December, and so they have not been going out for some time. Easter comes on April 16 this year, so the 21st will be in that

LICE was crazy about old Pussy's ALICE was crazy about old Pussy's kittens, which were just a few days old, and she could hardly be kept away from the basket, where they mewed happily in their funny little blind way, while their mother licked them carefully and swiftly with her rough little red tongue. Alice just could not be distracted from those kittens, and when they opened their eyes on the ninth day after their arrival her enchantment and joy knew no er enchantment and joy knew no

And then one day last week mother called her and told her to come with her to Aunt Sarah's house to see the darling new baby that had come to Aunt Sarah and Uncle Bob. Alice went dancing along muchly excited, for she had never seen along heavy was a wonderful muchy excited, for she had never seen a tiny baby. And it was so wonderful to think she had a little cousin. And when she was lifted up to look into the crib she exclaimed in excited tones, "Oh, mamma, look, look, it has its eyes open already!"
