

Griddle Cakes for Breakfast,
Pie for Dinner and Biscuits for Supper

By MRS. M. A. WILSON

IN AN old diary of Letitia Penn, she makes mention of the thrifty manner of the early Colonial housewife as follows: "Most every home hath a loft, or attic, and here you will find stored away, all manner of herbs and seasonings from the kitchen garden. Bottles of balsam, apple saive, for cuts and bruises, and the balsam apple preserved in alcohol for medicinal purposes; as well as cordials of lavender and other aromatic vinegars, also apple and rose conserve and other sweetmeats."

Today the housewife can find in the markets a number of dependable baking powders, which will make the baking light, thus eliminating a number of the now costly eggs. It is my intention to feature inexpensive baking this week; and will plan the Sunday menu featuring three meals on Sunday with this idea.

The market basket will require this week: Prunes, oranges, oatmeal, flour, cornmeal, sugar, shortening, sausage, salt pork, piece of shin beef weighing about three and one-half pounds, potatoes, red cabbage, onions, celery, apples and the usual weekly staples.

Stewed Prunes with Orange
Wash one pound of prunes well in warm water, then place in a crock or earthen casserole and add:
One quart of scum water,
One orange, sliced,
One-half cup of brown sugar.

Place in a slow oven and let cook very slowly; if you have a coal range the prunes may be placed to cook in the oven after the range is locked off for the night.

Brown Onion Soup
Mince about one-half cup of salt pork fine and place in soup kettle; add
Two cups of sliced onions, and cook the onions a good brown color without burning them, then add
Three-quarters cup of flour,
and brown the flour a deep mahogany brown. Now add:
Six cups of cold water,
One carrot, cut in dice,
One turnip, cut in dice,
One-half cup bone of mutton,
One tablespoon of vinegar,
Two cups of canned tomatoes, rubbed through a sieve,
One faggot of soup herbs.

Cook slowly on the simmering burner for three hours; season to taste.

Pot Roast of Shin Beef
Wipe meat and place in the skillet, brown nicely, lift to the pot, and cook slowly, adding from time to time one-half cup of boiling water. Allow forty-five minutes to the pound. Add, about one hour before serving:
One teaspoon of thyme,
Two tablespoons of vinegar,
One teaspoon of salt,
One-half teaspoon of pepper.

Griddle Cakes
Place in a bowl
Three cups of flour,
One cup of cornmeal,
One cup of buckwheat,
One teaspoon of salt,
Two and three-quarters cups of water.

One cup of scalded and cooked milk.
One yeast cake, crumbled in two tablespoons of sugar,
Stir to blend and dissolve the yeast cake and add the prepared flour. Beat hard to blend and set away in warm place overnight to rise; in the morning add:
One-half cup of scum water,
One-half teaspoon of soda,
Two tablespoons of airup.

Beat hard to blend; let stand near the heat and it will be ready to bake in fifteen minutes.

Deep Dish Apple Pie
This recipe is an old Swedish apple pie, and is delicious. Rub a baking dish well with butter. Now place in a layer of pared and thinly sliced apples; then spread with brown sugar, cinnamon and a few raisins; cover with a piece of the pastry rolled as thin as paper.

Then place in a second layer of the apples and season as before; cover this layer with a piece of the pastry rolled as thin as paper; now place the last layer as directed for the other layers and season; then pour around the edge four tablespoons of melted butter, and place on the top crust. Bake in a slow oven for one hour and serve with sweet cream sauce. Use the ordinary pastry as for pies in this recipe.

Butter Biscuit
Place in a mixing bowl
Four cups of flour,
One teaspoon of salt,
Five tablespoonfuls of baking powder,
Six tablespoonfuls of sugar.

Sift to mix; now rub in to the flour six tablespoonfuls of butter, and use one egg and one cup of milk.
Beat together to form a dough, turn on the moulting board and roll out one-half inch thick; now brush well with melted butter and fold over in half. Pat gently with the rolling pin and cut in squares; lift to baking sheet and bake in a hot oven for twenty minutes. These biscuits will split open by just gently pulling them.

Adventures With a Parse
I ALWAYS think of Elizabeth as having the most efficiently equipped kitchen I ever saw. All the little labor-saving devices that go to make kitchen-work easy were to be found in her tiny, charming home. That is why I thought, charming home. That is why I know that there are other Elizabeths who also delight in the sort of thing I shall tell you of. It is a patented lighter for the gas stove. No worry about having matches about. This is a metal affair, four or five inches long, with a turn on the gas. And I wish it because over the gas. Ignition takes place immediately. Isn't that a good idea? You can buy one for fifteen cents, and I feel quite sure you will come to find it invaluable.

The names of shops address Woman's Page of the above items are on Main 1041 between the hours of 9 and 5.

New Frocks Are Radiant With Spring

They have a most bewitching freshness that is quite irresistible—it's been years and years since frocks have been so pretty.

Particularly lovely are the taffeta dresses which have an air of jaunty gaiety which nothing can equal. Here are fascinating skirts, ruffled, corded, shirred and frilled. Some are scalloped and some have tabs faced with contrasting colors.

And sleeves! Who ever dreamed of such sleeves? A slash at the elbow, a puff at the shoulder, a bow at the wrist and behold a most engaging confection.

Softer and more clinging are the dresses of crepe de chine and Canton crepe. Newest of these are the frocks with Russian blouses, sometimes of Paisley silk, sometimes of solid color, elaborately embroidered with colorful silk or wool.

Fuchsia, cornflower, hyacinth, bobolink and rose-tint are some of the new shades.

Taffeta dresses, $15, $16.50, $23.50, $25 to $30.
