

WESS TO FIGHT PARKWAY CONTROL

Stamping of Lid on Building When If Throughfare Becomes Part of Fairmount Park

ON TAGEN IS SUSPICIOUS

The Parkway, the spacious avenue leading to Fairmount Park, contemplated by many Philadelphians as a highly endowed setting for the most wonderful blending of art, business and governmental activities in the world, would be doomed, according to Councilman von Tagen, if the present plans of the Park Commission are allowed to become law.

The Park Commission, according to William Findlay Brown, one of the commissioners, proposes that the Parkway shall be constituted as a portion of the Park and then the Commission would control the kind and character of structures which might be erected thereon.

The commission, he admitted today, would be opposed to the use of the Parkway as the site for business buildings. Opponents of the commission fear it would also interfere with the character of the Parkway as a portion of the Park.

Councilman von Tagen does not believe the Parkway as the site for business buildings. He does not anticipate even a partial Fifth avenue. Like others, he believes in the future a better avenue, unhampered by the government.

Because of the "dead hand" which the Park Commission would clamp down on this Parkway, Councilman von Tagen is strongly opposed to the resolution in Council, which would stamp the Parkway as a portion of the Park.

This resolution was favorably reported out of the City Property Committee of Council last Thursday.

Mr. von Tagen is suspicious of the resolution which attempts to give the Parkway the same powers and authority of the commission would be accompanied by a greater control over "jobs." These jobs would be the power to give the commission, could be allotted without the "inconvenience" of civil service examinations.

Discussing other phases of his opposition, Councilman von Tagen said: "A serious question of the encroachment of the Park Commission on the powers of the city government has arisen. If the Park Commission gets the authority it is seeking, then, in addition to having the authority to prevent the locating of exceptional places of business—a fine theatre, for example, which would be a great asset to the city, it would have the authority to prevent the erection of city, State or Federal buildings."

The Parkway was not originally contemplated as part of the park. It had been then the Park Commission would have condemned the land for the Parkway. This land, however, was condemned and paid for by the city. It should have been the property of that kind of buildings could be erected, and a zoning law would come in handy there."

Save 5, FIREMAN OVERCOME AS 4 CEMETERY STORES BURN

Family Carried Out—Stopped in Attempt to Jump

Five persons were saved from suffocation and a fireman, overcome by smoke, was rescued during a fire which damaged four buildings from 1116 to 1122 Broadway, Camden, this morning. The damage will reach about $5000.

Those rescued were Mr. and Mrs. A. Cohen, 1122 Broadway, and three children, Samuel, Rose and Nathan. They were carried out by firemen after escape had been out.

The fireman overcome is Henry Zook, Company No. 15. He was found unconscious in the dry goods store of Mees & Pomerantz, 1120 Broadway. Zook was carried out by two firemen and sent to West Jersey Homeopathic Hospital.

The fire started in the grocery of Joseph Winesky, 1118 Broadway, and rapidly spread to adjoining buildings on each side.

In addition to damaging the store of Mees & Pomerantz, the fire also spread to the store of Chabrow Brothers, butter and egg dealers, 1116 Broadway.

RUMOR NAMES MISS REILLY

But She Denies She's Been Recommended as Bryn Mawr Head

Miss Marion Reilly, former dean of Bryn Mawr College, and present chairman of the Philadelphia League of Women Voters, will succeed Dr. M. Carey Thomas as president of the Main Line women's college, according to persistent rumor.

Miss Thomas announced some time ago that her connection with Bryn Mawr would cease next June. Her successor has been a principal topic for discussion among Bryn Mawr alumni.

A committee was appointed last spring to name her successor. As a result, Miss Reilly was named, on which she is chairman of the committee, on which she is chairman of the committee, on which she is chairman of the committee.

Such members of the committee as could be reached today denied that Miss Reilly had been chosen. Mr. Wing indicated that the recommendation should be made public soon. Miss Reilly herself insisted that the rumor was incorrect.

It is known that she has a strong backing among the alumni and trustees. Other candidates who are being mentioned are Miss Lucy M. Donnelly, head of the English department at the college, and Dr. Richard M. Cummings, headmaster of the William Penn Charter School and a Bryn Mawr trustee.

DENIES THEFT PLOT CHARGE

Miss Hazel Whitaker Fights Extradition to California

Miss Hazel Whitaker, who was indicted by the Los Angeles Federal Grand Jury on a charge of conspiracy in automobile thefts, was held today in $2000 bonds by United States Commissioner Manley for a further hearing.

The date of the hearing was not set because the authorities here want first to get further information from California.

Miss Whitaker denied knowledge that the car in question was stolen. She said she thought it belonged to her brother, Norman Whitaker, with whom she made a cross-continent trip. Her husband, Dorothy, and another brother, Edward, also made the trip. They also were indicted.

MISS SONIA AND MISTER BUNNY

Little Sonia Maria Noel Stokowski in her silk-lined bassinet, surrounded by her toys, is laughing at her first glimpse of Philadelphia. Her proud parents say "maybe" she'll be a conductor like papa, Dr. Leopold Stokowski, of the Philadelphia Orchestra, or a noted pianist like mamma, Mme. Samaroff. Who knows? Anyway, Sonia isn't worrying nowadays.

LEGION GIVEN AID IN MEMORIAL FUND

Business Organizations Join Move to Erect Home in North 22d Street

$5000 STILL TO BE RAISED

Through the efforts of business organizations in the central part of the city, and co-operation of others in the neighborhood, the American Legion, located at 537 North Twenty-second street, is being erected.

Five thousand dollars is still required to complete the fund necessary for the building.

For the purpose of raising additional funds for the project, Lawrence E. Deane, 26, American Legion, will hold a dance and contest at Mercantile Hall February 25. The Fairmount Business Mens Association is aiding.

Many officers of the American Legion are expected to attend.

A drive has been started by State Fencible Post, No. 142, to make that organization a pace-maker for progress.

Commander T. Ewing Montgomery is directing the work and in announcement to members recently told them that the time for passing the buck was over and every man would be expected to get down to hard work and bring the State Fencibles right up to top-notch condition.

Commander Ewing's suggestions are already bearing fruit and the "Fencibles" have started a number of things intended to keep them at the front of affairs in the Legion.

BOOZE WARRANT UPHELD

Bookbinder Search and Seizure Sustained by Judge Dickinson

The search warrant used for the seizure of liquors in the restaurant of Emanuel Bookbinder, Second and Walnut streets, was sustained by Judge Dickinson today.

The court's ruling is based upon the fact that the seizure was made for smuggled merchandise, and as decision is given upon the question of whether the form of such warrant now used by the Government for seizures for violations of the Volstead Act is valid. Judge Dickinson remarks, however, that "if this warrant had issued under the laws, the purpose of which is to punish those who make illicit sales of intoxicating liquors, it might well be held, both upon principle and under the authority of the cited cases, that the warrant in this case issued improvidently."

RUNAWAY HAS WILD TIME

Gloucester Horse Gives Town a Real Metropolitan Thrill

A horse-drawn produce wagon belonging to John Duffly, Hudson and Willow streets, Gloucester, ran away this afternoon and upset after spreading its load of produce and vegetables through the town.

The wagon skidded up on the sidewalk and partly demolished a back porch, cartmoted off and struck a pole at King and Hudson streets, smashed a collar showcase, strewn collars and cuffs all over the street and finally overturned on King street. No one was hurt.

AMERICAN SLANG HAS PUT PEP INTO BRITON'S SPEECH

Logan Pearsall Smith Praises Vividness of U. S. Writers, but Sees Few Great Novelists in His Native Land

Fifteen years ago there were no blizzards in England; they had storms. Stunts were unknown; one performed instead. Nothing was ever boomed; it was advocated with great enthusiasm.

These are only a few of the changes worked in the mother tongue by the incorporation therein of American words and phrases, according to Logan Pearsall Smith, who recently returned to this country after thirty-five years among the scholars and literary men of England.

Mr. Smith, whose "Trivia" has been recognized by discerning critics as one of the finest examples of contemporary literature, is a native of Philadelphia. After graduating from Haverford College he went to Oxford, and was so charmed with the classical atmosphere and associations of that ancient seat of learning that he has made his home there since. During that time he has written and even translated into English some of the British literature to which many aspire but few are chosen.

"The spoken tongue is the precursor of the written, and the colloquialisms of every-day speech usually find their way into the written word," he says. "We try to guide this process along lines of adaptability and good taste."

"Here in America the spoken language is extraordinarily vivid. I should say that it is much more expressive and colorful than that spoken in England. It is a very individual and important phase of the development of English as a language and as such is receiving serious attention on the other side."

"Much of the American slang is in directing the work and in announcement to members recently told them that the time for passing the buck was over and every man would be expected to get down to hard work and bring the State Fencibles right up to top-notch condition."

Commander Ewing's suggestions are already bearing fruit and the "Fencibles" have started a number of things intended to keep them at the front of affairs in the Legion.

MAN IN MONKEY-GLAND OPERATION DISAPPEARS

Irving R. Bacon, Recently Rejuvenated, May Be Suicide at Shore

Irving R. Bacon, former Philadelphia newspaper man, has mysteriously disappeared from his home at Atlantic City. He had recently declared himself to have been entirely rejuvenated by means of a monkey gland operation in New York.

He is fifty-eight years old and lived with his family and two children at 2500 Boardwalk. Deserted by his friends he said in a farewell note to his wife, and entirely unable to support his family, he hinted at suicide as the one way out for himself and his loved ones.

Mr. Bacon started from his home ostensibly to take up his daily drudgery in search of work. The note was found under the door by Mrs. Bacon when she returned home at noon yesterday.

Mrs. Bacon said that since the operation on her husband, on October 6, he appeared to grow stronger and his intellect seemed to be brighter. His heart, which formerly had been weak, was also stronger, she said.

CHARITY GETS MOST OF HARRY D. SCHELL ESTATE

Bequests to Institutions Total $218,000—Church Home Provided

Virtually the whole estate of the late Harry D. Schell, of 6637 Overbrook avenue, goes to charities under the terms of his will admitted today to probate. Mr. Schell died January 31.

Although the will states that the Mr. Schell's property amounts to "more than $205,000," the bequests to charitable institutions and organizations total $218,000. It is believed, however, that each of the bequests can be comfortably covered by the property.

A codicil attached to the will provides that the property left Mr. Schell by his mother-in-law, Mrs. Catherine A. Wentz, which includes the Overbrook avenue house, shall be sold and the money raised from the sale be used in the erection of new buildings by the Baptist Home of Philadelphia. These buildings are to be known as the Clatskanie memorial. It is requested but not made mandatory that these buildings be erected within the limits of Philadelphia.

Should the Baptist Home authorities fail to decline this bequest the codicil provides that the proceeds of the Wentz property be equally divided between the Northwestern General Hospital and the Roosevelt Hospital.

What residue there may be to Mr. Schell's estate goes to a sister, a nephew and a niece.
