

TANGLED TRAILS

By WILLIAM MacLEOD RAINE
Author of "A Man Four-Square,"
"Gunsight Pass," etc.

CHAPTER XXXVIII
A Full Morning
BUT only for an instant. A faint color dribbled back into her yellow cheeks. He could almost see courage flowing again into her veins.

escape, and from walking back upstairs to your own room at the Wyndham.
"Are you certain that I killed him?" Olson wanted to know.

arrested. He had tried to smooth over difficulties between him and Jack. But Kirby, against his desire, found practical reasons of policy to explain these overtures. James did not know he would soon be released through the efforts of other cattlemen. He had stepped in to win the Wyoming cousin's confidence in order that he might have a chance of either that a liability to his cause. The old broker had readily agreed to protect Esther McLean from publicity, but the reason for his forbearance was quite another. He had been protecting himself, not her.

"What man?"
"His name is James. His trembling hand indicated Olson. "He was standing on the fire-escape across the alley."

When I looked around the edge of the blind five minutes later he was gone over the papers in the desk

It was possible that the Oriental might have held evidence against him and that the Oriental, who was with the fear of death in his heart, might have gone each day into the apartment where the man was lurking, taking to him food and newspapers.

WAR AS SEEN BY MINISTERS

PEARL OR OPAL SOCIAL UNREST HOW TO GET A NEW JOB OR A BETTER POSITION

Heroine of Harold MacGrath's New Novel Is Perplexing

Ruth Encheche, the heroine of Harold MacGrath's new novel, "The Ragged Edge," (Doubleday) is intriguing and fascinating. The natives of the South Sea Islands where she lives are a missionary, call her "the down pearl."

Tobenkin's "The Road" Has Lessons for Parlor Bolshevists

Elmas Tobenkin is avowedly an apostle of "the new social order." From his earliest writings as a newspaperman in Chicago when he was delving into things sociological and trying to master the English language, later as a correspondent in Russia and still later as a novelist, Tobenkin has his "message" to deliver.

HOW TO GET A NEW JOB OR A BETTER POSITION

William T. Fletcher gives practical advice to the man out of a job or the numerous class who are interested in getting a better job. His book "How to Get the Job You Want" (Harpers) is not a compendium of routine or commonplace theories and academic ideas, but is a bristling lot of concrete, constructive suggestions.

Dr. Patten Writes a Novel

Dr. Simon N. Patten, international economist, author and professor emeritus of the University of Pennsylvania, has just written over to Doubleday & Co. the manuscript of the book, "Mud Hollow: The Road From Conformity to Freedom." It is a departure in fiction in that it is described by the author as a "scientific novel, the novel of the future."

Books of Many Sorts

In "Simon Called Peter" (E. P. Dutton & Co.), the Rev. Robert Keable has written what is well called an out-spoken love story. The author conceived and artistically presented novel is that of an English war-brother who has been a publisher and a publican and a minister and a man of letters.

MUDIE'S GREAT SALE OF POPULAR AND RARE BOOKS

A Good Investment may be secured by the purchase of books which are being offered at Greatly Reduced Prices by Mudie's Library. Scarce books sought for and reported on free of charge. English and Foreign periodicals despatched to subscribers by first mail after publication.

THE GAY COCKADE

By Temple Bailey Her Latest Book At All Bookstores—Illustrated. $2.00 The Penn Publishing Co., Phila.

CALL AT WOMRATH'S LIBRARY FOR THOSE BOOKS YOU WANT TO READ

Save money by renting all the new popular fiction and the most valued books in the history of literature. Biography, etc. Prompt service of clean copies.

TOILERS OF THE TRAILS

By George Marsh Wonderful stories of Hudson's Bay Profusely Illustrated. Boxed $2.50 At All Bookstores The Penn Publishing Co., Phila.

A LITTLE MORE

By W. B. MAXWELL THE THE YORK TIMES says: "A story of an almost astonishing simplicity, like some fairy tale related at midnight but it has magic, it is full of real human beings, it is cheerful and colorful and moving, a charming variation of an old theme that will make a host of friends among Mr. Maxwell's public, and will probably introduce him to a new public."

THE GAY COCKADE

By Temple Bailey Her Latest Book At All Bookstores—Illustrated. $2.00 The Penn Publishing Co., Phila.

CONGRATULATIONS! I think it is superb.

says DR. CLIFFORD SMYTH of Andivius Hedulio

Simon Called Peter

By ROBERT KEABLE, Author of "Standing By" GRACE PHELPS in the N. Y. Tribune calls it: "A novel far out of the ordinary, presenting a startling picture of the effect of war in stripping men and women to the essentials."

John Murray Gibbon in The Freeman

"A distinguished piece of work; a beautiful and accomplished drama of pioneer-life in a Canadian forest."

MARIA CHAPDELAIN

A Tale of the Lake St. John Country By LOUIS HEMON

Carl Van Doren in the Nation

"A little masterpiece which has charmed me. What strength, what lightness! What tenderness!"

TOILERS OF THE TRAILS

By George Marsh Wonderful stories of Hudson's Bay Profusely Illustrated. Boxed $2.50 At All Bookstores The Penn Publishing Co., Phila.

Andivius Hedulio

By EDWARD LUCAS WHITE, Author of "El Supremo" "I don't know when I have read such a vivid narrative of adventure, one that has left me with so thrilling a sense of having myself witnessed the scenes and known the people that fill its pages."

John Murray Gibbon in The Freeman

"A distinguished piece of work; a beautiful and accomplished drama of pioneer-life in a Canadian forest."

CYLLIERY TRUMPETER SW... By Temple Bailey A delightful love story At All Bookstores—Illustrated. The Penn Publishing Co., Phila.

Nogi Runs Away! Did the little Jap servant murder Duke Waring? Footprints and flight provide powerful evidence against him. No one else is not the only one suspected of the crime that forms the basis of the mystery.

Mystery Girl A Fleming Stone Detective Story By CAROLYN WELLS A novel in which Fleming Stone, master criminologist, and his faithful assistant, Popsy, reappear. At All Bookstores, $2.00 J. B. LIPPINCOTT COMPANY, Philadelphia

PLAYS The only place in the city where the new plays are obtained. If you cannot call, send for a illustrated catalogue. The Penn Publishing Company, 925 Filbert Street Philadelphia

Are You Reading the weekly educational advertisements in the Evening Public Ledger? "The Great Deception" by Samuel Colcord. $1.50 at Bookstores, or Postpaid. B. L. BONI & LIVERIGHT, NEW YORK

We Spend Thousands of Dollars a Year to Insure Healthful MILK

MANY of us think of milk in terms of bottles on our doorstep—or merely "something to drink."

But seldom do we realize the constant watchfulness that is necessary to insure that the milk we drink is absolutely pure and healthful.

Abbotts Laboratory Control starts right at the farm where the milk is produced and ends when ABBOTTS "A" MILK reaches your doorstep in the morning.

We carefully scrutinize the milk at its source. Each supply is given a laboratory test at the receiving station.

Then it is rushed into our large city plant, where every act of clarifying, pasteurizing and bottling is under the strict supervision of our main laboratory.

Abbotts "A" Milk

This laboratory is under the personal direction of our own bacteriologist, who daily supervises examinations of ABBOTTS "A" MILK. A member of his staff even inspects each piece of equipment every day after its regular sterilization, just to make sure.

To exercise and maintain this "laboratory control" costs us many thousands of dollars each year. And this is done to protect you.

We would like to leave a bottle of ABBOTTS "A" MILK on your doorstep tomorrow. A phone call to Baring 0205 will bring it.

ABBOTTS ALDERNEY DAIRIES, INC. "Milk suppliers to critical buyers" Philadelphia Pleasantville Woodrow