

Morning Public Ledger PUBLIC LEDGER COMPANY. Cyrus E. Curtis, President; J. C. Meyer, Secretary; Charles H. Loring, Treasurer; George K. Collins, Editor; George K. Collins, Editor-in-Chief; George K. Collins, Editor.

MORE ABOUT TRAFFIC OF PARTICULAR interest in the list of suggestions promulgated by the Chamber of Commerce for the better regulation of motor traffic is the recommendation for a modern system of semaphores on Broad street. This suggestion might well be broadened to include Market, Chestnut and Walnut streets as well.

FLORIDA FOR FLORIDANS MR. BRYAN is coming up against the prejudice of the people of Florida in favor of gratifying the political ambitions of old residents.

ONE OF THE most interesting aspects of the present situation in Florida is the fact that the State is now a political vacuum.

CANNON'S LAST TERM IT WOULD be ungracious to say that "Uncle Joe" Cannon has decided to retire from Congress at the expiration of his present term because he cannot get a re-nomination.

MORE HATE OF THE Irish republicans who killed the first tier of a new war on the Ulster border line were paid exultations of the most cold-blooded British terrorism.

PARADOXICAL A woman's pocketbook, which contains a woman's heart, is a very important thing.

POINT OF AGREEMENT There are thousands of students who are studying in the United States and who are doing well.

NAVY YARD WORKERS find more value in the serapping of warships if they are permitted to go to work in renovating the Leviathan.

fight to retain the vantage point that the Irish people have arrived at after 700 years of strife and loss. A civil war in Ireland would not be between Ulster and the South or the English and the South. It would be between two different sections of the Irish people.

THE PRESIDENT AND PEPPER TALK OF PARTY DISCIPLINE

Beginning of a Concerted Move to Discourage the Formation of Bi-Partisan Blocs in Congress. There was more than coincidence in the plan for a restoration of party discipline by President Harding in Washington and by Senator Pepper in Lancaster on Saturday night.

The President, talking to the League of Republican States, said: "I believe in the collective judgment of the party convention and I believe in the district of the party through which the development of America and its political institutions has come."

The Senator, addressing the Young Republicans of Lancaster, said: "We are Republicans. We have a highly organized and effective party system. Through the working of that system I am sent to the Senate, whether by appointment or election."

Both President Harding and Senator Pepper seem to be convinced that no-time has not yet come to abandon the party system and to foster factions in Congress that cut across party lines of each that arise within the parties themselves.

The advantages or disadvantages of the party system in the abstract are aside from the question. It would be foolish to talk about the way the French manage, for their whole system is fundamentally different from ours.

It is one thing that the city—hardly a confession—has provided a solid wood frame. It is another thing that the city—hardly a confession—has provided a solid wood frame.

DR. GEORGE P. DONKHEE is doubtful of the opinion that the city has provided for the safety of its relief far better than the State.

UNDERSHIRT PLAYERS and ball players and robins and crickets and crabs and shank cabbage are enough signs of spring to give the Old Dutch plenty of excuse for saying he doesn't believe in signs.

one party committed to a definite policy. If the pledges which the Republican made to the country are to be kept, the Republicans must work harmoniously together to that end without this and the other Congressional making side excursions into the ranks of the opposition to win special legislation for any group of the population.

A PACIFIST WAVE? CORRESPONDENTS OF THE DEMOCRATIC PRESS

It is true that there is a disposition not only in the Middle West, but also where, to read more into the arms limitation treaties than was written into them. One of the consequences of this general tendency is a growing belief among farmers' representatives in Washington that the navy and the arms will be cut to the bone.

These letter writers endorse and compliment. They beg, cajole, inquire, suggest, condemn and ramble. The "ramblers" are the ones who start nowhere and never get there.

DR. GEORGE P. DONKHEE is doubtful of the opinion that the city has provided for the safety of its relief far better than the State.

UNDERSHIRT PLAYERS and ball players and robins and crickets and crabs and shank cabbage are enough signs of spring to give the Old Dutch plenty of excuse for saying he doesn't believe in signs.

BOGUS LIBERTY BELL That is the Belief That Prevails in a Section of the Golden West—Senator Pepper Learning the Ropes—Our Endangered State Records. By GEORGE NOX McCAIN.

It is one of the rarest communications the Mayor has received in months. There is such a fine feeling displayed in the letter that I violate my rule about not publishing letters to give it in full.

It is needless to say that Mrs. X-Y-Z was informed that the bell is still in Philadelphia. Likewise that it was the original bell that made the pilgrimage to the Coast.

MAJOR MOORE'S principal occupation, besides governing the city and making addresses, is answering letters. His mail runs all the way from a dozen to ninety communications a day.

SENATOR GEORGE WHARTON PEPPER is still learning the ropes in this respect at Washington. That is, the correspondence phase of his official life.

CHARLES GRADY On American Sculpture. The interest in sculpture of the American public and those younger persons who have a predilection toward the fine arts has been increasing within the last few years.

FINER SENSE OF THOUGHT "Not only is there a larger number of students taking up sculpture, but the minds of the persons doing it seem to be better equipped and more advanced than formerly."

THE exhibition of sculpture at the great international exhibitions are of the greatest value to the furtherance of the appreciation of sculpture both among the people at large and among the artists as well.

FEWER PORTRAIT STATUES "There are constantly fewer and fewer portrait statues being made in the United States. Something finer has taken the place of these works."

CONGRESSMEN may never become expert throwers of the boomerang, but they are always liable to find out how it works.

NOW MY IDEA IS THIS!

Daily Talks With Thinking Philadelphians on Subjects They Know Best.

THE tendency of the best sculptors now is to deal more and more with the elements which go to make up the real character of the man rather than his mere bodily outlines.

SCULPTURE IN OTHER COUNTRIES "American sculpture now ranks with the best that Europe can produce, and in many respects it is much higher in thought than sculpture of any other country."

THE Commission Question "This, in the past, has been largely the work of the commissions appointed to get a piece of sculpture. They did not give the sculptor sufficient leeway."

SHORT CUTS

- The housing shortage continues to embarrass our Ambassadors. Take it all in all, Mr. Lincoln's birthday party is a success. Congress is now busily engaged in putting the bone in bonus. Ireland still shows cause for being called the distressful country.

What Do You Know?

- QUIZ 1. Where is Fairmount Park? 2. What is the nickname of New Jersey? 3. Who is the Regent of Japan? 4. What is a regent? 5. What is an anagram? 6. Who is Wellington Koo? 7. What is meant by a canopane? 8. Name the author of "The Yellowplush Papers." 9. What is the Sacred College, and how many members has it? ANSWERS TO YESTERDAY'S QUIZ 1. Zoglool Fasha is the leader of the Egyptian Nationalists.