

AMID SNOW AND RAIN. A vista in Fairmount Park, showing Memorial Hall back of the line of trees

SNOW BUST OF PRESIDENT HARDING. A tablespoon was the only tool used by Ralph O. Yardley, a California newspaper artist, in his snow creation Underwood & Underwood

CAN YOU RECALL THIS BIT OF OLD PHILADELPHIA?

DURING THE ERECTION OF PHILADELPHIA'S POSTOFFICE BUILDING. The photograph was made on July 12, 1877, by James Monaghan, of 3833 North Broad street, who is the contributor. Mr. Monaghan made the view from a building on Market street. Ninth street buildings have been very much changed. Have you an old-Philadelphia photograph? Send it to the EVENING PUBLIC LEDGER

WHACKING UP. Emanuel Frountiner and Snyder Auerbach shoveled snow from many pavements. They divided their wages fifty-fifty as Ruth Josephs looked on

MISS ANNE McDONOUGH talks of sight singing in Editorial Page interview

REMOVING SNOW FROM WALKS. This snow-clearing device was put into service in Independence Square yesterday morning by the Bureau of City Property

FAR FROM SNOW. George McFadden, of Philadelphia, on the sands at Palm Beach

MISS RAE E. KIRSHNER. In the cast of "Jack o'Hearts," presented by the Three Arts Club players

FRANKFORD ARSENAL EMPLOYEES AS JURY FOR LIMERICK. Bottom row (left to right), Julia Rickard, Anna Boyle, Sergt. F. A. McFarland, Naomi Sherwood and Esther Heller. Top row, R. E. Kraber, Thomas J. Werir, Gertrude Taylor, Samuel Thawley, Grace Kuhn, Leon McBride and Violet Britts

DIRECTOR TWINING, with Mayor Moore, inspected Frankford "L" yesterday J. M. Elliott

EDWARD AND ARTHUR ROOP. Among the prize winners at a children's masque ball. They live at 1802 Gladstone street

OUR CITY'S WORKERS AND WHAT THEY DO

MISS EVELYN WEIBER, 2444 North Bancroft street, operating a printing press at the Fenton Label Company, 506-512 Race street. The press prints 4500 labels an hour

MISS BLANCHE E. CLAIR ADVERTISING WOMEN HAVE BIG NIGHT. Four of the many workers necessary to make the annual get-together of the Philadelphia Club of Advertising Women a huge success. Of course, the men folk were invited to the affair, which was held at the Bellevue-Stratford last night

MRS. ROY H. AKAGI

MISS ANNA K. JOHNSON

MISS MARY B. PRETTMAN

BUSY PHILADELPHIANS

AUDITOR. Andrew S. Davis, of the Kensington National Bank. He is married and lives at Haddon Heights, N. J. Hobbies, bowling and golf. With the bank eleven years