

JUST GOSSIP ABOUT PEOPLE

Nancy Wynne Tells of Next Week's Gayeties and of Several Mardi Gras Parties, in Addition to the Annual Bal Masque for February 28

THROUGH social doings have seemed rather dead, so many people are away and there have been no parties except the Junior Cotillon, things are coming along in a rather slow and next week will be as busy as possible.

On Saturday of this week the new series of supper-dances of which Mrs. Hutchison Scott has charge, at the Bellevue-Stratford, will start on Saturday night.

AFTER the Assembly, which is held on the 24th of the month, there's more party, and that is the Bal Masque, which is to be given this year at the Bellevue-Stratford for the first time.

There's to be a Mardi Gras party this year, too. Did you know that? A number of the younger married set are getting up a party at the Whitehall Club.

THIS sounds like a chronicle of a coming event, but you know a day or two later one did not go about very much, though I did brave the weather and go down to St. Peter's for Mary Fair's wedding.

THE bride was of horse hair in a sort of pinkish blue and the crowns were of pinkish silk. Jane Yeastman's hat was all of silk.

AUNT DOLLY came on to visit lately and with her came small Peggy. New they had to travel quite a distance, and it was too much of an undertaking to bring the coach.

SOUTH PHILADELPHIA Mrs. Cleighton Turner, of 2504 South Twentieth street, entertained at a luncheon and bridge party on Monday afternoon.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES Miss Henrietta MacDonald Wilson, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. Reynolds Wilson, of 1709 Spruce street, and the Bellevue-Stratford, whose engagement has been announced.
