IRISH-BRITISH PACT ON DAMAGES BARED

Government Responsible for Injuries Will Bear Burden, Says Churchill

COMMISSION TO FIX AMOUNT

By the Associated Press
London, Feb. 24.—Winston Churchill, Secretary for the Colonies, explained in the House of Commons today the procedure to be adopted by agreement between the British and the Irish Provisional Governments, for the settlement of claims for damage to property in Ireland. It had been agreed, he said, that the party responsible for the damage should bear the burden, a commission to assess the amount of the damage.

This commission, the Secretary explained, would consist of one member appointed by the British Government and another by the Irish Provisional Government, with a chairman selected from holders of high judicial office to be appointed by agreement. This commission would have the power to bear claims regarding criminal injuries to property, including those sustained through the destruction of property by the order of the military authorities under martial law.

The damage done in Northern Ireland was of a different category, the Secretary added, and the British Government considered it had a greater responsibility regarding it. The British Chancellor of the Exchequer, said Mr. Churchill, had told Sir James Craig that parliamentary authority would be sought to pay the Northern Government of Ireland, with respect to criminal injuries to persons and property in the territory of that Government suffered before January 14, 1922, a contribution of £1,500,000.

Dublin, Feb. 24.—(By A. P.)—There was abundant evidence yesterday that the three-months pact arranged at the Ard Fheis for the purpose of securing unity in the ranks of the Sinn Fein organization has brought a lull to the great body of the Irish Republic, writes the political correspondent of the Freeman's Journal.

Suggestions that the agreement involved victory for one side or the other were naturally to be heard, but the general disposition was to dismiss them as futile and mischievous.

"The one thing uppermost in the people's minds was that a split in the national organization had been averted for the moment. The probability of such a division having to be faced later is not to be ignored, but there can be no doubting the general satisfaction at knowing that it is not to come now, and the earnest hope prevails that things will so shape themselves that it can be avoided altogether."

JULY 4 "CITIZENSHIP DAY" INDORSED BY PRESIDENT

Legion Commander Also Favors Plan of Women's Clubs

Austin, Tex., Feb. 24.—(By A. P.)—President Harding's approval of the movement inaugurated by the General Federation of Women's Clubs to make July 4 a "citizenship day" is expressed in a letter from him to Mrs. Perry V. Pennybacker, of Austin, chairman of the Department of American Citizenship of the federation, made public today.

"I am very pleasantly impressed," Mr. Harding wrote, "with your program of celebrating the Nation's natal day in the dignified, impressive and inspiring fashion which you suggest; making it an occasion on which to well come to the duties and obligations of citizenship those young men and women who have come into citizenship within the preceding twelve months and to those of foreign birth who have come into full realization of duties and privileges of American citizenship."

"These are times in which every effort to impress the seriousness, the reality, the earnestness of civic duty, deserves the utmost encouragement."

Death was decreed for Steitch, who threw the bomb. He is twenty-eight years old and a house painter by trade. His chief accomplice, Czakl, aged fifty-three, was sentenced to twenty years at hard labor, and six Communist deputies were given two years each, but the women accused were acquitted.

Nine persons were wounded by the bomb, which exploded under the carriage preceding the one in which Alexander and Premier Pachitch were proceeding to the National Assembly.

After-Dinner Tricks

No. 94—Naming Chosen Fruit.

Give a person an apple and an orange, one in each hand, and tell him to hold up either one, while your back is turned. After a few minutes of "concentration" tell him to take his hand down. Then you turn around, look at the fruit, and then at his eyes, and immediately name which was chosen, the apple or the orange.

What you really observe is the person's hands. The one that held up the chosen fruit will be much whiter than the other, as the blood left the hand while it was held up.
