

HELPING FAMILY RESCUED AT FIRE

Firemen Break Door of North Fifth Street Store and Rouse Occupants Above

CAUSE OF BLAZE UNKNOWN

The wife and children of Max Fishbein, who keeps a trimmings store at 120 North Fifth street, were rescued at 1:30 o'clock this morning when the store was burned.

The cause of the fire has not yet been learned. It originated in the store on the third floor. It took some time for the smoke from the fire to penetrate to their dwelling quarters.

They were still sleeping when Paul and Master streets station, passed the store and saw a waning light reflecting on the ceiling from the flames.

Some pedestrians happened along at the same time and volunteered to aid the firemen in arousing and rescuing the occupants of the house.

The door to the dwelling portion of the house was forced open and patrolmen and their volunteer aides made their way through smoke to the third floor.

They aroused the Fishbein family and helped them to get to the street. The stairway was thick with smoke, but all were taken out safely.

Neighbors cared for the family until the fire was extinguished, when they were able to return to their own dwellings.

Firemen arrived during the rescue, in response to an alarm which had been turned in by one of the patrolmen.

This aid was not needed in getting the occupants out of the house. They attacked the fire with chemicals and a deluge of water. The fire was a stubborn one, but the firemen's efforts contained it at about 5:00.

MONEY RAISED FOR WIDOW

Woman Who Lost Home and Son in Fire Finds Neighbors Kind

Neighbors of Mrs. Rose Diegan, whose home, at 2525 North Stanley street, was burned—her son James lost his life as a result—last Sunday morning, are "saying" their sympathy "with dollars."

A committee to raise funds met Wednesday night in the First Schwenker Church, Thirtieth and Cumberland streets, and decided to canvass the neighborhood for contributions for Mrs. Diegan, widow, eventually to restore her home. A considerable sum has been received.

E. Miller, 2434 North Thirtieth street, is chairman of the committee; the Rev. Harvey K. Heebner, 2500 North Thirtieth street, secretary, and John Chaplin, a grocer, 2408 North Stanley street, treasurer. Young Diegan was employed by Mr. Chaplin.

Other members of the committee are John V. Abronski, the Rev. George W. Babcock, Frank J. Heebner, J. W. Hooper, John Maguire, the Rev. Frank H. Fisher, the Rev. H. Clay Ferguson, Lewis A. Hobbs, Henry M. Paxson, Ralph Wright, James Hamilton, Boy McMurtrie, Louis Salus, J. Smith and Mr. Robin.

PLAYERS AID BUILDING FUND

Night of Vaudeville and Dancing by San Domingo Council

The players of San Domingo Council, Knights of Columbus, gave a dramatic and vaudeville entertainment and dance in Lu Lu Temple last night. It was a benefit to swell the fund being raised for the new $500,000 building of the council.

The program included three one-act plays, "The Bracer," a comedy, by Alfred Suro; "The Finger of God," by Percival Wilde, and "Prof. Dumb's Night School," a farce with songs, arranged by W. A. S. Lapetina, a local attorney and member of the council.

John J. Cronin impersonated Prof. Dumb, Mr. Lapetina also took part. He also starred in "The Finger of God," with Miss Helena Keeler as leading lady, William J. Rigney, Mrs. Elizabeth Sheehan, James Bradley and Miss Kathryn D. Quirk played the principal parts in "The Bracer."

James J. Mullan appeared in a repetition of his role in the vaudeville length, belted and silk-lined. Of heavy tan cloaking.
