MARY GARDEN STARS IN MASSENET'S "THE JUGGLER"

Amazing Transformation From "Salome" to Opera of Almost Religious Character

The amazing Mary Garden, fresh from what was probably the most effective presentation of "Salome" that she has ever given anywhere, went to the other end of the emotional scale and last evening presented Massenet's "Le Jongleur de Notre Dame," perhaps the most spirituelle of all operas in its character, and, what is more to the point, she gave it with a perfection of feeling and technique which in its way was just as artistic as was her presentation of the degenerate daughter of Herodias on the previous evening.

A weak link in the sales system

DID you ever picture to yourself, one by one, your "channels of trade"?

They are all human—those men who touch or handle or steer your goods on their way from factory to consumer. Their likes or dislikes are what make your business good or bad.

If they fail to understand the "why" of your policies and methods, then their dislikes are going to build up walls of opposition.

A good printer should be a link in your sales system. Print your messages and explanations of policy. Mail them to your customers before and between your salesman's calls. Good printed matter is a low-cost insurance against loss of sales through ignorance of the real merit of your goods or unjustified dislike of your policy. Better printing and better use of it means better business.
