EVENING PUBLIC LEDGER-PHILADELPHIA, THURSDAY, MARCH 2, 1922

Is a Good Man and Has Several Years of Baseball Left in His System, Says Mack of Left-Handed First-Sacker

By ROBERT W. MAXWELL Sports Editor Evening Public Ledger St. Petersburg, Fla., March 2.

LOT of our well-known ball players will be measured for different uniforms this year, and Connie Mack is doing his best to help the cause Connie will have Doc Johnston, of Cleveland, and Bing Miller, of

Mr. McGillicuddy made up his mind to grab Johnston the morning he word on the train to attend the American League meeting in Washington. a read in the paper that Doe would be turned loose and waivers asked on after Harris had been reinstated by Judge Landis and Stuffy McInnis cided to join the Indians.

"Johnston is a good man and has several years of baseball jeft in his m," said Connie. "He would help my ball club, and I will try to get m," said Connie. "Ho If waivers are asked."

This was quite a speech for the lean leader to make, but he announced model, and when the time came he just HAD to get the left-handed first-scher. In fact, our Philadelphia clubs are all set and pretty when it comes setting players by the waiver route.

The big leagues passed a rule last December that when more than one ab claims a player he shall be awarded to the club which stands lowest in the percentage column. That meant the A's and Phils could get any man they went after.

Johnston will not be a hard man to sign, because he is aware that his swices are not in great demand and he can't be unreasonable if he wishes to stay in the big show. His coming to the A's will cause Hauser to change als tactics, for the kid first baseman is not so necessary as before.

Dave Keefe, the three-fingered flinger, who was sold to Cleveland, bas on the market all winter. Connie asked waivers on him, expecting to hip him to Portland. The White Sox claimed him and Connie withdrew him.

AT ONE time the Chicago Club was holding up more than twenty players in the American League. Comiskey was grabbing them from all sides, but he did not land many. Looks as if the war was still on.

Many Trades in American League

THERE were more trades in the American League than in the National this winter. Every team in the Johnson circuit got one or more men in trades, while we can think of only three in the National.

Harris, Elmer Smith. Joe Dugan and those second-string pitchers sent by Miller Huggins will be with Boston. Bush. Jones and Everett Scott go to the Yanks, and the Colonels still are looking for an outfielder. Connie Mack frow Miller and Johnston, Peckinpaugh went to Washington, Stuffy McInnis and Keefe to Cleveland, Cutshaw to Detroit, Acosta to the White Sox and Chick Shorten to St. Loole.

New York, Boston and Cincinnati figured in the important trades in he National. Heinie Groh was shipped to Gotham from Cincinnati for George Burns, Mike Gonzales and a bundle of coin. Boston got Marquard and Kopf from the Reds for John Scott, and Cincinnati is said to be dickerby with Brooklyn for Reuther and New York for Barnes.

The Groh deal virtually made New York the favorite in the National for with Heinie on third, Bancroft short, Frisch second and Kelly first the infield looms up as one of the best in the business. With the Graw still wants Ed Roush and has offered Barnes, Douglas and Shinfor him. If this deal even went through the other seven clubs would have a thrilling but not exciting battle to see which could finish second.

Papers down here publish Garry Herrmann's statement almost every day rding Roush. Garry has said, in all kinds of type, that Eddie would with the Reds or stick on his farm this summer. This sounds so good that we are almost beginning to believe it. ٠

PERHAPS the change of scenery will help the athletes and make the races in both leagues more than a one-city affair. Anyway, let's hope so.

The Hard Luck of Signor Francisco Pizzola

FTHERE is one ball player who imagines he received all the worst of it. His name is Francisco Pizzola, otherwise labeled Ping Bodie for typoall club. He didn't care which one it was so long as it won the champion-He landed with the Yankees and last year, when there was a good ance to cop. Mr. Pizzola was traded to Boston.

Ping didn't like this, so he up and guit and went back to his trade. Mich was riveting ships together. He riveted and riveted all summer and are Landis and the Judge ruled that Francisco Pizzola should be sentenced serve time in Boston. As the ships no longer need so many rivets. Ping report to Mr. Frazee.

THE leaders in the Intercollegiate L Basketball League continued in their winning mood last evening and the race for college honors promises to be one of the most hectic affairs in history. Penn journeyed to New Haven and defeated the tailenders, 31 to 16, while up at Princeton J. Hillman Zahn banded Brother George W. A. Zahn and Dartmouth another setback by the score of 27 to 19. The reverse to the Big Green five just about puts the Hanoverians out of the running and it looks as if all the excitement is to be crowded around the two P's, Penn and Princeton. It has been suggested that Brother George come here and knock Penn off and then Hill finish the job by winning the final. But this is not very likely, although Princeton is very much in the running and not to be taken lightly. The Tigers have a bunch of shooters that are liable to cut loose at any minute, as was evident last night. The defeat of Dart-mouth was as much an upset as the one-noint triumph of the Tigers at clean record. They all like a winner, but they want no ringers on hand to bring the laurel home. With an athletic board composed of presidents of all four classes, captains of all the teams and editors of college publications certifying to the complete eligibility of each member of each team, it is hardly conceivable that any such board would ever permit any unworthy candidate to alip by. Nothing could be finer for sport than to have leading colleges and universities take up this idea and at least give it a chance to work. With a few such council guards established they could then work together and soon build up an order strong enough to present an imprenable barrier against certain leading evils now attacking leading sports.
