It does my heart good to hear of this interesting group of young people in the days of jazz and saxophones reading up and actually giving their time and study to music that is real muste and not professionally either; for if they charge for tickets it's for some benefit or worthy cause. They give of their own services and they give those who are wise enough to go and hear them a most delightful evening.

Kitty Morris is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Morris, and since the days when all the rest of us spent our allowances on movies and ices and candy Kitty spent hers on opera tickets, and she has stuck to her love of good music through school days and out days. Nancy Cope, whose engagement was announced last week to Pierre Hazard. Of Syracuse, is another- member of the commany. Nancy is no mean hand at the fiddle, let me tell you.

Besides Marie Zara, they have two other very good singers, a Haverford man named Rhoads, who has a splendid basso. I hear, and Anne Geyer, who is to be Dell'ah in a scene from "Samson and Delilah." Besides the singing. Ernest Kitson and Kitty Morris are to do a dance, "The Moth and' the Flame," in which Ernest is the flame and Kitty the moth. And, as the young impression naively said: "This is the only death scene in all the show this year. The others are all love scenes."
