

THE WEATHER

Fair tonight and Saturday with lowest tonight about 45 degrees; mostly cloudy Sunday.

TEMPERATURE AT EACH HOUR
8	9	10	11	12	1	2	3	4	5
51	50	49	48	47	46	45	44	43	42
41	39	37	35	34	33	32	31	30	29

His Firm Fails

George W. Kendrick, 3d Whose banking concern, with offices at 1431 Walnut street, closed its doors today. This concern did business under the name of George W. Kendrick, 3d, & Co. The photograph from which the above etching was made was taken some years ago.

CARRIER ACCUSES U. S. PROSECUTOR

Says Kun Uses Federal Office to Hound Auto Stores Company in Civil Suits

COLES DEFENDS HIS AIDE

A charge that Joseph L. Kun counsel for receivers for the United Auto Stores, was using his position as Assistant United States Attorney to coerce witnesses, was made in a petition filed with Federal Judge Thompson today by counsel for E. B. P. Carrier, young president of the bankrupt corporation.

Called "Wild Attack"

The petition further declared that at a hearing yesterday before Magistrate Carney Kun turned to Rose and said:
"You are going to catch hell when you appear before Judge Thompson tomorrow."

U. S. MERCHANT MARINE HARDING'S CHIEF DESIRE

Wants Trade Fleets Formed During His Presidency, Says Lasker

Wanted Trade Fleets Formed During His Presidency, Says Lasker

Washington, March 3.—(By A. P.) —President Harding's one outstanding ambition is to be president of the United States Administration, the American merchant marine was put back on the agenda of his program.

LOOT HOME OF $300 IN GEMS

Burglars ransacked the residence of William H. Godshall, at 210 East Gravers Lane, Chestnut Hill, last night.
They stole jewelry worth more than $300. Members of the family were away at the time.

ARREST 'PARSON' AS SWINDLER OF MOORESTOWN FOLK

Victimized Wealthy Residents in Bogus Collections for Near East Relief, Police Charge

RICH NEW YORKERS 'STUNG'; SAY HE CLEANED UP $60,000

A country-wide search has ended in Moorestown, N. J., with the arrest of the "Rev." Jonan H. Danoo, a Syrian.
He is charged with having collected at least $60,000 within three years while posing as a field agent of the Near East Relief.

Danoo was recognized from descriptions on police files by Chief Bradshaw, of Moorestown. The chief arrested Danoo and wired Newark, where a warrant was out for him. Detective John F. McCarthy went to Moorestown and returned to Newark with his prisoner last night.

According to Chief Bradshaw, Danoo has been traveling the country over, soliciting subscriptions for the starving Armenians and other people in the Near East, representing himself as an agent sent out by the headquarters at Newark.

Danoo picked Moorestown as one of the principal points for his collection campaign in New Jersey because of the wealth of the community, and, according to Detective McCarthy, had obtained $10 from Dr. Joseph Stokes, $25 from Mrs. Miliza Nicholson, $10 from Joel Cadbury, $10 from E. W. Mauls, $5 from W. H. Roberts and $5 from Mrs.
S. C. Horton.

Danoo arrived in Moorestown a few days ago. He went right to work, according to Chief Bradshaw, and all went well until one of his victims who knew about the methods of the Near East Relief, and other representatives questioned him closely.

Danoo's answers were not entirely satisfactory to this man, who called the attention of Chief Bradshaw to the fact that Danoo was recognized as a fugitive from justice, and was confined up in the Moorestown jail.

The methods, according to Detective McCarthy, were usually successful in obtaining money. He would have clergymen of the town write him letters of recommendation to those of the next town in this way he moved across the country, always well recommended.

Swindled Bishop Manning, of the Episcopal Diocese of New York, was one of the prominent churchmen victimized in this manner. Danoo is said to have obtained money also from the Morgans, the Colgates and other prominent New York families.

Julian Zelchenko, secretary of the Near East Relief at the home office at Newark, swore out the warrant for Danoo.

According to Mr. Zelchenko, Danoo never represented the Near East Relief officially, and is an impostor of international activities. A confederate is under arrest in Paris.

"He has admitted to me he collected at least $5000," said Mr. Zelchenko. "Of this sum, he said he gave $2000 to a man who sailed for Europe, and he said he paid the name of the ship he assists. He used various aliases, was known as the Rev. M. Jordan, the Rev. George Jordan, John P.
Ellis, Jonathan Elias and John P.
Nixon."

"He had, when caught, a bankbook showing a deposit in the Franklin Trust Company of Philadelphia for $200, and he also had an account in a New York bank and a check for $1000. This account has been transferred elsewhere.

"He is, I believe, the same man who was preaching in an Episcopal church in Newark the other night. We went there to look him over and saw the man and ran from the pulpit. He collected money in Philadelphia and adjacent territory, and I am told was once in the hands of the Philadelphia police. He is about twenty-six years old."

"According to the Moorestown police, Danoo had a room in Philadelphia on Arch street near Seventeenth. The impostor, when he was in the city, it is said, the Methodist Association of New York has a warrant out for him, and the police of other places are curious to look him over."

ELECTROCUTED IN BATH

Woman Killed When Heater Falls Into Tub

Omaha, Neb., March 3.—(By A. P.)
—Death of Mrs. Frances Devereux, twenty-nine, who was electrocuted by an electric heater in a bathtub in her home yesterday, was accidental and no inquest will be necessary, the coroner announced today. Mrs. Devereux was the daughter of Edward B. Clark, Washington correspondent.

The heat was found on a wet towel which was wrapped around the woman's feet. There was no water in the tub, and the heater is believed either to have fallen into the tub or to have been placed there by Mrs. Devereux to warm her feet.

OPEN GATE FOILS THIEVES

Patrolman Passes and Finds Knitting Mill Silks Piled in Yard

A gate left open by burglars prevented the robbing of the Ralph Knitting Mills, 1235 Vine street, early today. Patrolman Frank Schenkel in passing the building noticed the open gate. In the yard he found several bales of silk, worth about $2000, piled in the snow.

Further search showed that the burglars had climbed a fire escape at 1237 Vine street. They forced a window on the second floor, and had passed into the knitting mill by breaking down a door.

The thieves had apparently gone for a truck on which to load their plunder.
As they did not return, it is supposed that they left a lookout who saw the police and gave warning to the band.

Waiter in Spa Winner of Eighteenth Lim'rick

Almost Spilled Customer's Lunch When Good News Was Sprung on Him

Jury of "Shifters" in the Federal Reserve Bank Cast Ballots for Him

Talk about spilling the beans! The winner of Lim'rick No. 18 almost up and spilled the fruit salad when we dropped in on him casual like and told him that he had won $100.
He is Joe Green, of 2345 South Woodstock street, and is a waiter in a spa at Second and Market streets. Some hard-working business man's lunch was almost spilled on the floor when Joe turned to us with a $1,000,000 smile and chuckled: "Well, I'll be darned!
The completed Lim'rick is as follows:
There once was a farmer named Shove Who went out to purchase a cow, He murmured, "Koo-boop!"
But her head gave a toss—Hoove's rounded the horn and back now.

Joe Green, 2345 South Woodstock street, Philadelphia, Pa.

H. S. Falkenstein, 1420 Master
street,
Joseph Ruppert, 2347 Seybert street, H. K. Lachman, Harrisburg, Pa.
And was Joe Green glad to see us?
Why, say, fans, do you know he just naturally couldn't stop smiling, and every one in the place was interested.
And, incidentally, they all took a new lease on Lim'rick life.

Each day all of the men in the spa have contributed answers and now that they have proof positive that there are no strings attached to the check, they they can hardly wait until they shove off Limerick No. 18

The nine other contestants who won places on the ballot are:
Kathryn Walker, Delanco, N. J.
John, George Wilson, Wilmington, Del.
John Ward, 3804 Locust street, Le Roy Roberts, 3513 Hamilton
street.
P. Colby, Darby, Pa.
John Diehl, 2821 Richmond street.

"MENTAL SUICIDE" TO HANG TODAY

Sheriff Plans to Strap Church's Body in Chair for Execution

LAWYERS IN FINAL PLEAS Missive Contains Only Single Word "Bonus" Scrawled
Across Upper Corner

By the Associated Press
Chicago, March 3.—Harvey W.
Church, twenty-one years old, double murderer, sentenced to be hanged today, continued to lay his what many medical men have termed a state of self-imposed hypnotic catalepsy as his attorneys planned to avail themselves of three almost hopeless efforts to obtain a stay of execution.

Church's story even breathing and steady pulse beat was unchanged, however, and the doctors reiterated expressions of opinion that the transformation during his five week's hunger strike had resulted in complete loss of mental and physical control and that his mind probably had ceased to function.

Church's crime was the murder of Bernard J. Daugherty and Carl Aus-
mus, automobile salesmen, from which he had indicated he intended to purchase a high-priced motorcar. The men were lured to the Church home,
taken singly to the basement, handcuffed and beaten to death with a baseball bat and hanged to a gas pipe. The body was thrown into Des Plaines River, and Ausmus, while yet alive, was lured in the Church garage, his neck broken, according to Church's confession, when he stamped on the
bound, bent body to force it into a shallow hole hurriedly scooped out.

Church's crime was the murder of
Bernard J. Daugherty and Carl Aus-
mus, automobile salesmen, from which
he had indicated he intended to pur-
chase a high-priced motorcar. The men
were lured to the Church home,
taken singly to the basement, hand-
cuffed and beaten to death with a base-
ball bat and hanged to a gas pipe. The
body was thrown into Des Plaines
River, and Ausmus, while yet alive, was
lured in the Church garage, his neck
broken, according to Church's
confession, when he stamped on the
bound, bent body to force it into a
shallow hole hurriedly scooped out.

Church's crime was the murder of
Bernard J. Daugherty and Carl Aus-
mus, automobile salesmen, from which
he had indicated he intended to pur-
chase a high-priced motorcar. The men
were lured to the Church home,
taken singly to the basement, hand-
cuffed and beaten to death with a base-
ball bat and hanged to a gas pipe. The
body was thrown into Des Plaines
River, and Ausmus, while yet alive, was
lured in the Church garage, his neck
broken, according to Church's
confession, when he stamped on the
bound, bent body to force it into a
shallow hole hurriedly scooped out.

Church's crime was the murder of
Bernard J. Daugherty and Carl Aus-
mus, automobile salesmen, from which
he had indicated he intended to pur-
chase a high-priced motorcar. The men
were lured to the Church home,
taken singly to the basement, hand-
cuffed and beaten to death with a base-
ball bat and hanged to a gas pipe. The
body was thrown into Des Plaines
River, and Ausmus, while yet alive, was
lured in the Church garage, his neck
broken, according to Church's
confession, when he stamped on the
bound, bent body to force it into a
shallow hole hurriedly scooped out.

Church's crime was the murder of
Bernard J. Daugherty and Carl Aus-
mus, automobile salesmen, from which
he had indicated he intended to pur-
chase a high-priced motorcar. The men
were lured to the Church home,
taken singly to the basement, hand-
cuffed and beaten to death with a base-
ball bat and hanged to a gas pipe. The
body was thrown into Des Plaines
River, and Ausmus, while yet alive, was
lured in the Church garage, his neck
broken, according to Church's
confession, when he stamped on the
bound, bent body to force it into a
shallow hole hurriedly scooped out.

Church's crime was the murder of
Bernard J. Daugherty and Carl Aus-
mus, automobile salesmen, from which
he had indicated he intended to pur-
chase a high-priced motorcar. The men
were lured to the Church home,
taken singly to the basement, hand-
cuffed and beaten to death with a base-
ball bat and hanged to a gas pipe. The
body was thrown into Des Plaines
River, and Ausmus, while yet alive, was
lured in the Church garage, his neck
broken, according to Church's
confession, when he stamped on the
bound, bent body to force it into a
shallow hole hurriedly scooped out.

Church's crime was the murder of
Bernard J. Daugherty and Carl Aus-
mus, automobile salesmen, from which
he had indicated he intended to pur-
chase a high-priced motorcar. The men
were lured to the Church home,
taken singly to the basement, hand-
cuffed and beaten to death with a base-
ball bat and hanged to a gas pipe. The
body was thrown into Des Plaines
River, and Ausmus, while yet alive, was
lured in the Church garage, his neck
broken, according to Church's
confession, when he stamped on the
bound, bent body to force it into a
shallow hole hurriedly scooped out.

Church's crime was the murder of
Bernard J. Daugherty and Carl Aus-
mus, automobile salesmen, from which
he had indicated he intended to pur-
chase a high-priced motorcar. The men
were lured to the Church home,
taken singly to the basement, hand-
cuffed and beaten to death with a base-
ball bat and hanged to a gas pipe. The
body was thrown into Des Plaines
River, and Ausmus, while yet alive, was
lured in the Church garage, his neck
broken, according to Church's
confession, when he stamped on the
bound, bent body to force it into a
shallow hole hurriedly scooped out.

Church's crime was the murder of
Bernard J. Daugherty and Carl Aus-
mus, automobile salesmen, from which
he had indicated he intended to pur-
chase a high-priced motorcar. The men
were lured to the Church home,
taken singly to the basement, hand-
cuffed and beaten to death with a base-
ball bat and hanged to a gas pipe. The
body was thrown into Des Plaines
River, and Ausmus, while yet alive, was
lured in the Church garage, his neck
broken, according to Church's
confession, when he stamped on the
bound, bent body to force it into a
shallow hole hurriedly scooped out.

Church's crime was the murder of
Bernard J. Daugherty and Carl Aus-
mus, automobile salesmen, from which
he had indicated he intended to pur-
chase a high-priced motorcar. The men
were lured to the Church home,
taken singly to the basement, hand-
cuffed and beaten to death with a base-
ball bat and hanged to a gas pipe. The
body was thrown into Des Plaines
River, and Ausmus, while yet alive, was
lured in the Church garage, his neck
broken, according to Church's
confession, when he stamped on the
bound, bent body to force it into a
shallow hole hurriedly scooped out.

Church's crime was the murder of
Bernard J. Daugherty and Carl Aus-
mus, automobile salesmen, from which
he had indicated he intended to pur-
chase a high-priced motorcar. The men
were lured to the Church home,
taken singly to the basement, hand-
cuffed and beaten to death with a base-
ball bat and hanged to a gas pipe. The
body was thrown into Des Plaines
River, and Ausmus, while yet alive, was
lured in the Church garage, his neck
broken, according to Church's
confession, when he stamped on the
bound, bent body to force it into a
shallow hole hurriedly scooped out.

Church's crime was the murder of
Bernard J. Daugherty and Carl Aus-
mus, automobile salesmen, from which
he had indicated he intended to pur-
chase a high-priced motorcar. The men
were lured to the Church home,
taken singly to the basement, hand-
cuffed and beaten to death with a base-
ball bat and hanged to a gas pipe. The
body was thrown into Des Plaines
River, and Ausmus, while yet alive, was
lured in the Church garage, his neck
broken, according to Church's
confession, when he stamped on the
bound, bent body to force it into a
shallow hole hurriedly scooped out.

Church's crime was the murder of
Bernard J. Daugherty and Carl Aus-
mus, automobile salesmen, from which
he had indicated he intended to pur-
chase a high-priced motorcar. The men
were lured to the Church home,
taken singly to the basement, hand-
cuffed and beaten to death with a base-
ball bat and hanged to a gas pipe. The
body was thrown into Des Plaines
River, and Ausmus, while yet alive, was
lured in the Church garage, his neck
broken, according to Church's
confession, when he stamped on the
bound, bent body to force it into a
shallow hole hurriedly scooped out.

Church's crime was the murder of
Bernard J. Daugherty and Carl Aus-
mus, automobile salesmen, from which
he had indicated he intended to pur-
chase a high-priced motorcar. The men
were lured to the Church home,
taken singly to the basement, hand-
cuffed and beaten to death with a base-
ball bat and hanged to a gas pipe. The
body was thrown into Des Plaines
River, and Ausmus, while yet alive, was
lured in the Church garage, his neck
broken, according to Church's
confession, when he stamped on the
bound, bent body to force it into a
shallow hole hurriedly scooped out.

Church's crime was the murder of
Bernard J. Daugherty and Carl Aus-
mus, automobile salesmen, from which
he had indicated he intended to pur-
chase a high-priced motorcar. The men
were lured to the Church home,
taken singly to the basement, hand-
cuffed and beaten to death with a base-
ball bat and hanged to a gas pipe. The
body was thrown into Des Plaines
River, and Ausmus, while yet alive, was
lured in the Church garage, his neck
broken, according to Church's
confession, when he stamped on the
bound, bent body to force it into a
shallow hole hurriedly scooped out.

Church's crime was the murder of
Bernard J. Daugherty and Carl Aus-
mus, automobile salesmen, from which
he had indicated he intended to pur-
chase a high-priced motorcar. The men
were lured to the Church home,
taken singly to the basement, hand-
cuffed and beaten to death with a base-
ball bat and hanged to a gas pipe. The
body was thrown into Des Plaines
River, and Ausmus, while yet alive, was
lured in the Church garage, his neck
broken, according to Church's
confession, when he stamped on the
bound, bent body to force it into a
shallow hole hurriedly scooped out.

BRITISH PREMIER'S FOES UNMOVED BY THREAT TO RESIGN

Lloyd George to Quit March 8 Unless His Ultimatum
Is Met

CONSERVATIVES REITERATE NEW GOVERNMENT DEMAND

By the Associated Press
London, March 3.—Wednesday, March 8, is the date set by Prime Minister Lloyd George for fulfillment of his ultimatum to Austen Chamberlain, according to a report in parliamentary circles. If by that day he has not received satisfactory assurances of the loyal support of the coalition conservatives, it is said he will present to the King his formal resignation of the premiership which he is now significantly carrying in his pocket.

Numerous private meetings of politicians yesterday led to no official announcement of developments tending toward a solution of the crisis. One Unionist, indeed, leader is hardening the opposition to the "dis-honouring" conservative to Lloyd George's leadership.

Conservatives Unshaken
This meeting was held in a committee room of the House of Commons, where more than eighty conservative members of the Commons and the House of Lords adopted a resolution affirming "that in order to restore confidence, throughout the country, in a view to the approaching general election, there is urgent need for reassertion of the conservative and Unionist principles. The meeting is reported to have further decided that the utmost should be done to hasten the formation of a Conservative-Unionist government."

The determination of Mr. Chamberlain, Lord Chancellor Birkenhead and other Conservative Unionist leaders to bring their followers into line are awaited with much interest. The curiosity may be satisfied when Mr. Chamberlain delivers his speech at Oxford tonight, as it is generally expected he will bear an important pronouncement bearing on the crisis.

"The Cabinet met last night, but, as far as can be ascertained, did not deal with the crisis, transacting only state business."

Divergent Views in Press All the morning newspapers print lengthy accounts of the situation together with editorial taking sides in the issue. The anti-coalition newspapers say the storm raised by the Premier's suggestion to Mr. Chamberlain became worse yesterday, while Lloyd George's changing views declare matters are somewhat improving. All agree, however, that notwithstanding the Premier's attitude, the crisis remains acute.

The Westminster Gazette charges that the whole situation is a maneuver by Mr. Lloyd George to procure for himself the leadership of the Conservative Party and contends that, if this were not the object of his letter to Chamberlain, it would be gratuitous folly on his part.

SAYS WOMAN DID SHOOTING Survivor in Reading Tragedy Declares He Was Not Aggressor

Reading, Pa., March 3.—Conscious for half an hour this morning for the first time since the fatal shooting yesterday when Mrs. Sarah Weaver was fatally wounded, August H. Bauers shot through the lungs, the latter declared that he did not do the shooting and placed all blame on the dead woman.

The police are baffled and admit they do not know where to begin. They say that the tragedy was the result of a lovers' quarrel and that Bauers did the shooting.

Mrs. Weaver did the shooting," Bauers told the detectives this morning. "I went to the house to find out why she did not want to see me any more. There was a quarrel. I had taken off my coat and she threw it on the floor. My shirt fell out. Both of us reached for it. She got it first and fired. I ran upstairs and then I heard more shots."

RUMOR PRINCE OF WALES.
HAS BEEN SHOT IN INDIA

Another Report Says Unrest Forced Change in Itinerary

London, March 3.—(By A. P.)—The Evening News today publishes what it characterizes as an "absurd rumor" which is being persistently repeated in London, that the Prince of Wales has been shot in India. Officials here know nothing of any such incident. The latest report from India says the Prince left Sivray today for Poohawar.

The Daily Mail says the Prince has abandoned his intention to visit Amritsar, where, it is recalled, troops fired on the Prince and his party. Both of the Prince's party were wounded. The reason for the alteration in the Prince's plans is not stated, although it is known the increasing unrest is alarming British authorities and is feared of extremists in Bengal will gain the ascendancy.

Dispatches from India February 24 reported that members of the Prince's party had been fired upon while motoring from Delhi to Puttalia, an India office version of the incident later, declared that although one of the motor-cars had been hit by a single bullet, the bullet was not a bullet, but was probably a stone either thrown or kicked up by the car.

VOTE FOR CHURCH UNION United Evangelicals of Central Pennsylvania Favor Merger

Lewisburg, Pa., March 3.—(By A.
P.)—The Central Pennsylvania Conference of the United Evangelical Church, in twenty-eighth annual session 14th city, today voted in favor of union of every country object of the Evangelical Association. The vote was 219 in favor of the move with only 12 opposing.

The Rev. I. E. Spangler, of Jersey Shore, was elected presiding elder for the Carlisle district, the Rev. W. B. Cox having resigned. Report of the presiding elders showed all churches in good condition. The Rev. C. L. Sones, of the York district, stressed in his report the great need for concentrated leaders.

All the candidates for the ministry, eleven in number, and including one Chinese student, were admitted.

Engaged

MRS. VOORHEES DRAYTON Whose engagement to Dr. William Pepper, dean of the Medical School at the University of Pennsylvania, was announced today

MRS. VOORHEES DRAYTON ENGAGED TO DR. PEPPER

Society Woman to Be Married to Dean of Penn Medical School

Mr. and Mrs. Harlow C. Voorhees announced today the engagement of Mrs. Voorhees' sister, Mrs. Voorhees Drayton, to Dr. William Pepper, dean of the Medical School at the University of Pennsylvania.

Dr. Pepper is a widower, with three children. Mrs. Drayton was the wife of W. Heyward Drayton, Jr. The Draytons were divorced some years ago.
Mrs. Drayton is a daughter of the late Theodore Voorhees, president of the Reading Railway. She is at present living at the Longacre with her three children, Nancy, Phoebe and Henry E., Jr. Her summer home is at Elkings Park.

Dr. Pepper lives at 1811 Spruce street, and is a cousin of Senator Pepper. His first wife, who was Miss Mary Godfrey, died four years ago.
Mrs. Drayton's first husband, W.
Heyward Drayton, Jr., married Mrs.
Grace Weldersheim after the divorce.

ALLEGED BLACKMAILER OF NEGRO MINISTER CAUGHT

Clergyman Who Helped Capture Luther Boddy Threatened

As a consequence of a series of Black Hand letters threatening the life of the Rev. Charles A. Tindley, the Negro minister who helped to capture Luther Boddy, escaped New York slayer, January 9, a trap was laid last night which resulted in the capture early this morning of Joseph Brown, a Negro, 1345 Lombard street.

Brown was seized at 4:40 o'clock by three detectives when he appeared at the Carpenter street freight station of the Pennsylvania Railroad to pick up a paper bag containing $200, the sum demanded as the price of sparing the minister's life.

Magistrate Scott, who also aided in the capture of Boddy, held Brown without bail for the Grand Jury.

Since the capture of Boddy in this city, Mr. Tindley has received more than thirty threatening letters at his home, 1539 Christian street. These letters, for the most part, threatened his life for his share in the capture, and at other times demanded money as the price of safety.

FUNDS AND WOMAN GONE
Bookkeeper Accused of Stealing $10,000 of Town's Money

Boston, March 3.—(By A. P.)—Miss Elizabeth Kenney, thirty, bookkeeper and bookkeeper for Town Treasurer Warren J. Wright, of Northfield, Massachusetts, was being sought in Boston today. Detectives had a warrant for her arrest, charging her with larceny of $10,000 of the town's money.

State auditors said the shortage would amount to $20,000. No charge has been made against Mr. Wright, who has brought a civil action to recover from Miss Kenney. Owing to his failing sight, he had allowed his housekeeper to look after his books.

DENIES CORTELYOU FATHERED ANTI-PARKING BILL

"Director Cortelyou told me he knew nothing about it," said Councilman Von Tagen today, referring to a no-parking ordinance affecting the vicinity of Germantown and Chelten avenues which Councilman Limeburner said he introduced at the request of the Director. Limeburner does not represent the Germantown district.
Strong opposition has developed there to the bill.

SHARES ESTATE OF BROTHER HE KILLED

Ralph J. Penrose left a large share of his estate of $75,000 to his brother Norman, of Ogontz, recently acquitted of a charge of manslaughter for having slain him. The will was admitted to probate today at Doylestown. The Doylestown Trust Company is left $15,000, income from which is to be paid to Miss Elizabeth