

Unger Hunt Starts for Walter Unger

out the total amount Unger had... and last with Dier & Co. Unger opened his account with Dier...

Balance Doubles to $500 An November of last year he was called upon to put up margin, being...

Unger flight revealed a sensational career... in the street, as one of the city's most reckless and extravagant...

Known as "Boy Speculator" It was revealed that Unger had been known in the brokerage houses as the "Boy Speculator"...

Reached End of String It is the talk of the street today that Unger's account was thousands of dollars short not long before Dier & Co. collapsed...

Suspicious of Report On account of Mr. Reeves, who was a rather sensitive old gentleman, no one really cared to pry into the affairs of the museum...

Then It All Came Out I thought that very peculiar, and I said, "I don't know, but I'll find out," so I called up and found that he hadn't, and informed Mr. Wayne...

Unger's Sponsor FRANCIS B. REEVES Mr. Reeves was sponsor for Walter A. Unger, assistant treasurer of the Evans Dental Institute...

HOME OF "BOY SPECULATOR"

The home of Walter A. Unger, trusted clerk who lost a U. of P. dental school fund of $200,000, lost it in the stock market and then fled. It is occupied by his mother and sister, who are today in the depths of despair over the boy's act. The home is in Barmouth.

something might be wrong with the accounts.

Unger Not Only Plunger Who Kept Deals Hidden

Walter Unger's defalcation is not by any means the only one revealed by the fall of Dier & Co. according to Clarence Leeb, ancillary receiver.

Many pitiful appeals have been made to me," said Leeb today, "by people who want their names kept from becoming public. They have begged me not to list them as creditors, preferring to let everything go."

There are doctors, lawyers, clergymen, employees of banks. They are trying to hide their identity under fictitious names and to conceal the amounts they lost. They know if the facts get out they will be ruined.

Bank Funds Untouched Mr. Randolph declared with much emphasis that Unger had not "stolen a cent" from the bank itself. "We have checked up on everything," he said.

Unusual in Appearance I do recall having seen him once or twice at the building and loan meetings and I recall him especially because of his appearance. He was so tall and thin that he would attract attention everywhere.

Then It All Came Out I thought that very peculiar, and I said, "I don't know, but I'll find out," so I called up and found that he hadn't, and informed Mr. Wayne.

See Family Disgraced "I don't believe I'll ever get over the shame of this," she went on after a moment's pause. "Suppose I ever want to get work. Why, no one will ever employ me, because they'll remember this about my brother. He's too awful to talk about. We haven't seen Mr. Reeves' representatives yet, or heard anything from them, but my brother is going to see them soon. I don't know what they intend doing about it."

There are two brothers in the family besides Walter, a third having been killed some time ago in an automobile accident. The family is well known in the vicinity, but news of Walter's disappearance has not yet become general property and residents of Barmouth were yesterday in ignorance of the fact.

that there was anything unusual about the young man's absence from home.

Home Owned by Mother The Unger home in Belmont avenue, Barmouth, is shown on the records of Lower Merion Township, at Norris-town, as the property of the mother. It is assessed at $3000. The assessments in the township usually are for one-third actual value, which would make it worth approximately $10,000.

Was News at University Unger's disappearance with the funds of the institute was the main topic of conversation today at the Dental School at the University.

Unger's disappearance with the funds of the institute was the main topic of conversation today at the Dental School at the University.

George W. Norris and Edward B. Robinson. The Evans Institute, which is one of the finest of its kind in the world, was established through a bequest by that prince of adventurers, Dr. Thomas W. Evans, of Philadelphia, dentist to the court of France in the last royal regime. It was through his daring and ingenuity that the Empress Eugenie escaped from Paris, and, incidentally, the guillotine.

Building Boom in Lancaster Lancaster, Pa., March 7.—Building operations, to cost approximately $70,000, have been started this month in this city, according to building permits granted by Joseph Brozman, building inspector. Last month permits were granted for construction work amounting to $80,000.

MRS. SPENCER GETS DECORATED

Newport Society Leader Decorated Major Decorated in War Newport, N. I., March 7.—On grounds of non-support Mrs. Lorillard Spencer, society leader, received a decree of divorce from her husband, Mrs. Lorillard Spencer, yesterday in Superior Court.

Took Cash and Cookies, Too Thieves with a liking for ginger cookies and fried chicken rambled through the home of Harry Wiley, 2718 Chestnut street, yesterday afternoon, stealing clothing and jewelry valued at $275 and $15 in cash. Cookies, cranberries and fragments of chicken were left on a table.

Purity Has Made Us Famous We are going to invite twelve hundred Philadelphia women to serve on a "Board of Advisors" for the Ivins Bakery this year! Every Ivins cookie, cake or cracker will be tested and judged by this new "Advisory Board" WE are Philadelphia's oldest bakery. For 76 years we have been baking cakes and crackers for Philadelphia families. We believe we have baked only those good things that women wanted to serve in their homes. Now, in 1922, we are going to prove that beyond question. This is our plan: Twice a month, we are going to select 50 Philadelphia women. To each, we will send an assortment of Ivins cookie-cakes and crackers. We will ask each "advisor" to eat these Ivins good things—to compare them with any similar products—and then to give us her frank opinion. The biggest thing we've ever attempted! In our 76 years of baking, we have originated a host of popular cookie-cakes and crackers—Lunch-on-Thins, Sweet Maries, Honey Grahams, Chocolate Bon Bons and many others, each a masterpiece of the baking art. We will continue to bake new creations from time to time, and each new piece will be submitted to the "Advisory Board" to be approved by them. In short—as soon as the new "Advisory Board" can test and judge the many Ivins' products, you will have only one thing to do in choosing cakes and crackers at your grocer's: Look for the Ivins Seal of Approval. It should decide your choice. J. S. IVINS' SON, Inc. Baker of Good Biscuits in Philadelphia since 1846