

COL. MILLER RAPS BONUS OPPONENTS

Defending the bonus and scathingly denouncing "army politics" in the face of the enemy, Colonel Thomas W. Miller, Alien Property Custodian, addressed the 315th Infantry Association at a meeting in the Pennsylvania Ballroom, C. A., at Eighteenth and Walnut streets.

"Throughout the service of the Seventy-ninth Division in France things were brought to our attention by the higher-ups but friendly to the regular army officers to whom the bonus was probably due to the general attitude of the regular army officers toward General Kuhn, our commander, who was an engineer officer. There was only one other engineer officer in command of an infantry division during the war—General Hebert—and they got him two months after he landed in France.

"I know of an instance where headquarters told General Kuhn that if he didn't capture Montfaucon by a certain hour that day he would be relieved of command. Montfaucon was already in our hands, but the report sent back to headquarters had not been noticed by the officers there.

"Our young lieutenants were going along a road to bring up a machine-gun battalion to support our infantry. A staff headquarters man of General Pershing's met him and ordered him back. The lieutenant refused, explaining how badly the guns were needed.

"In the name of General Pershing I order you to go back," said the headquarters man.

"And in the name of God I dare you to make me," the little lieutenant replied.

Merely One Incident

"That was one of the incidents that shows why you boys didn't get artillery support when it was needed. You know how the artillery came up thirty-six hours ahead of time into the line, and then dumped their ammunition eight miles back of the line and told us to bring it up.

"We want to clean up this situation at Washington where they are slandering the Seventy-ninth Division. There is a hidden hand there that is striking at us in the dark.

"When we were in camp in the South we saw carpenters in the shipyards making at $10 a day, stopping to watch us drill. It is a fact that 2,700,000 men found their way into professional baseball, shipyards and factories and made that wage while we were in the army.

"With all due respect to the States south of Mason and Dixon's line, the draft there filled their ranks with Negroes who proved excellent in stevedore regiments.

"If we ever get into war again, let them conscript industry!"

Division Struck

"You remember the Spruce division of the Northwest? They were enrolled in the Signal Corps, and put in uniforms at $1 a day. But they went on strike, demanding full laborer's wages—and got it.

"If one of us had tried that in France it wouldn't have lived to tell about it.

"There are just as many financially disabled in the war as physically, which takes us to the question of affairs at Washington.

"In 1918 we were heroes going to France. In 1919 it was returning

URGENT FEWER LEGATIONS

Reichstag Committee Urges Speed in Sending Ambassador to U. S.

Berlin, March 7.—The German Legation at Havana is superfluous, in the opinion of the members of the Reichstag's Main Committee, which has been examining the affairs of the Foreign Office Budget Committee. The committee also criticized the Government's diplomatic appointments in South America and in the Far East on the ground that they are unnecessary in connection with German trade development.

The committee also urged the desirability of the early appointment of an Ambassador to Washington. The Cabinet, on the other hand, is not showing an inclination to accelerate the search for a suitable envoy while the mark is again declining in value. It is declared that a full-fledged embassy in Washington would require a budget of at least 100,000,000 marks under the present rate of exchange.

In Austria

heroes; 1920, ex-service men; 1921, the service men element, and now the raiders of the treasury!

"There is all the difference in the world between those who served and those who didn't. When I go into banks, chambers of commerce and so on and hear the words being used about my former comrades, is it any wonder that I come away feeling angry, with a chip on my shoulder?

Only 20,000,000 Touched

"There were only 20,000,000 people in this country who knew what it was to have a friend, sweetheart, or relative in the service.

"Only 1,500,000 were affected by the casualty lists, as contrasted with England, France and Serbia, where, in the latter 40 per cent of the people were killed. It illustrates why there is lethargy toward the ex-service man.

"I believe the bonus question should be decided by majorities. This country is ruled by majorities, and this is the only fair way to settle things.

"Let me answer those who say we went to Washington and knocked on the door about his bonus. We didn't knock on the door at Washington—Congress itself asked us to come and discuss the matter and submit our views. It is galling to see what is being said today about the ex-service man.

"The situation reminds me of the man who sent an insulting letter in reply to a bill he owed. The creditor wrote back: 'If you are not prepared to meet your bill as well as you are to meet your God, you know where you can get off!' By organizing we can put ourselves in this position."

Gives Blood Fourteenth Time

For the fourteenth time during the last four months, Albert E. Jacobs, twenty-eight years old, of 2032 Cleveland avenue, submitted to a blood transfusion operation when he saved the life of Louis Kravtsov, seventy years old, a sufferer from anemia, at the Jewish Hospital, Saturday afternoon. Jacobs, a former service man, has given from a quart to a quart and a half of blood to each of fourteen patients in this and other States.
