

SO HORRORED PENION IN FIRE IN STABLE

Eleven Others Had to Be Killed
After Burns During Blaze in South Eighth Street

MATTRESS MILL IN FLAMES
Trapped in the second story of a stable at 1427 South Eighth street early this morning, thirty-eight horses were burned to death and eleven others were severely burned that they had to be killed to end their sufferings when fire swept through the building, causing damage estimated at $10,000.

Many tons of hay, wagons and other implements were destroyed in the blaze. One of the horses broke loose in its stall and jumped from the second story into Franklin street, but was so badly hurt that it had to be killed.

The stable, seventeen years ago, burned down and at that time many horses perished. It was then owned by Edward Cox.

An explosion, followed by flames, sent a heavy damage in the mattress factory of Barnett Kernan, 715 North Second street, last night. The building, a three-story structure, was badly damaged.

Firemen were hindered in their work by dense smoke. Fireman Zulkos, of Engine Company No. 51, was overcome by the smoke after he guided four horses to the street. After an hour the fire was under control and the burning cotton and wool waste thrown into the street. It is believed the fire started on the second floor and spread rapidly to the upper floors.

Overcome by smoke issuing from piles of greasy rags during a fire in a two-story brick shop and warehouse at 708 South Water street, last night, Howard Harry McShane, of Engine Company 22, at Second and Pine streets, was saved from falling down an open elevator shaft by firemen, carried to the street and revived.

The blaze started in the basement and spread rapidly to the first floor, destroying both. The building is owned by Alexander Miller, 121 Bainbridge street.

ROTARIANS ARE GUESTS
Kiwans and Poor Richard Members Also Are Entertained
The Matinee Musical Club entertained the Rotary Club at noon today in the latter's luncheon in the new Stratford. The Rotarians also are invited members of both the Kiwanis Club and the Poor Richard Club with their wives. At least 600 guests were present at the luncheon.

A unique program for the luncheon was arranged by Wilkins J. Perkins, chairman of the Luncheon Committee, who was master of ceremonies.

Members of the Fellowship Committee were costumes representing such artists as Rubinstein, Schuber, Schumann, Paderewski, Caruso and Beethoven and the men and women of the three clubs as they entered the ballroom doors.

The chorus was led by the director, Helen Pulaski Innes, and Mrs. Herbert B. Evans was at the piano. Howard Johnson, president of the Kiwanis Club, led about 200 Kiwanians into the ballroom, and Thomas J. Mulvey, vice president of the Poor Richard Club, headed a detachment of 100 Poor Richardites. The chairman of the luncheon was the Rev. Lewis Seymour Mudge, stated clerk of the Presbyterian Church in the United States.

NAB CAMDEN SUSPECT
Is One of Four Believed to Have Tried to Wreck Train
Samuel Richardson, a Negro, thirty-four years old, was arrested today in a shack in Camden, N. J., on suspicion that he was one of the four men who plotted on the New Jersey Seashore Railroad at Seventh and Mechanic streets last Monday morning, with the apparent intention of wrecking a train.

The man, who has no home, had been sleeping in the shack and had attracted attention by his peculiar actions. When Patrolman Carl Richardson arrested him, he was overpowered and taken to the police station. There he was later released by Thomas Handley, of 739 Seaview street, whose warning to the police prevented disaster to a train.

Handley said that Richardson looked like one of the four men he saw when he passed Seventh and Mechanic streets Monday morning.

SEARCH FOR WIFE FAILS
Lester, Pa., Carpenter Seeks Spouse Who Took Four Children With Her
After a search of ten weeks for his wife, who disappeared from their home in Lester, Pa., Max Hauptmann, now living here at 3044 West Susquehanna avenue, has been unable to find any trace of her. She took four of her eight children with her.

"Even if she is in Philadelphia," said Hauptmann today, "it would not be easy to find her, because the city is so large."

Hauptmann is a carpenter and has been married for seventeen years. He says that he knows no reason for his wife's desertion.

Mrs. Hauptmann took with her two of the girls, aged fifteen and twelve, and two of the boys, aged seven and three. Three of the four children she left behind are boys, aged nine, six and five years. The other is a girl, aged thirteen.

MAY DANCE TO LAW'S HARD RHYTHM IN N. Y. STATE
Jazz, Hugging, Cheek-to-Cheek and Other Objectionable Forms Banned
Albany, N. Y., March 7.—(By A. P.)—Creation of a State Public Amusement Commission, with power to regulate dancing, is proposed in a bill introduced in the Legislature today by Assemblyman William Duke, Jr., of Allegany. The bill carries an appropriation of $20,000 for the commission's expenses.

Jazz dancing, hugging, cheek-to-cheek dancing, neck-hold dancing and all classes of suggestive dances are sought to be banned by the bill. Dancing under soft dim lights is specifically forbidden by the bill, which also has the unique distinction of containing pictorial illustrations of "proper dancing."

The bill describes the proper method in this fashion: "The man places his arm lightly about his partner's waist, his hand resting gently on her back just above the waist line. The man's partner should rest her left hand lightly on the man's right shoulder and her right hand should rest lightly in his left hand. At no time, the bill says, should the dancers fail to keep their bodies or faces apart."

Sunday dancing is sought to be prohibited and no unmarried person under seventeen years of age would be permitted to attend a public dance unless accompanied by one parent.

The bill would also set up the time measure for certain dances as follows: Waltz, 48; two step, 54; one step, 66; fox trot, 42.

Inspectors would be required to attend and supervise all public dances.

SAYS WORLD NEEDS INDIVIDUAL EFFORT

Rev. Dr. H. W. A. Hanson Uses "Unknown Soldier" as Theme for Lenten Service
LIKENS LIFE TO ORCHESTRA

The effort of the individual is the factor which, in the last analysis, must be enlisted in the solution of the world's problems today, according to the Rev. Dr. Henry W. A. Hanson, president of the Eastern Pennsylvania Synod of Lutheran Churches, who spoke today at the Unknown Hero service at the Lutheran service in Keith's Theatre. Similar services for business men and women were held in churches and theatres throughout the city at noon today.

"The individual must be the basis for any enduring accomplishment," said Dr. Hanson. "To reach the public the individual must be appealed to; it was the individual, personified by the unknown soldier, who was the real winner of the war."

"The tangible values of our present age," he said, "are three: first, self-interest needs to give place to self-dedication; second, religion should be fellowship with God, not creed or dogma; third, every man is worth as much as the things which most interest him. The huge liner, with all her power, cannot dispense with the tiny tugs; neither can any movement do without the services of the individual who lives in the world today. To make it worth while and forcible these things are necessary in the individual consciousness: Character, courage and conscience."

"Life is like a great orchestra in which the individuals are the musicians and God the conductor. While running up there is a veritable bedlam and confusion. But God can evolve sweet harmonies from this confusion."

"If You Were God, What Would You Do?"
This was the theme of an address by Bishop Philip Cook at the services today in St. Stephen's Church, Tenth and Chestnut. Bishop Cook said that the idea had engaged minds throughout the ages and that there were presumptuous men who thought that they could do a veritable bedlam and confusion. But God can evolve sweet harmonies from this confusion.

Lessons were drawn from the life of St. Francis Xavier by the Rev. Joseph P. O'Reilly, S. J., today at the Lenten service in St. Joseph's Church, Williams alley near Fourth street.

The saint was a man of the world who had been a successful business man. He felt himself called for service to God and was inspired to believe that the fruits of his labor would follow him.

Several centuries after the saint labored in Japan, the preacher continued, that country was opened to the world. In and about Tokio were descendants of those who had been taught by St. Francis Xavier. The descendants formed a nucleus for the work of missionaries when Japan sided its isolation.

"If we devote our life to the Lord's work instead of worldly pleasures we will live forever. For our bodies may decay, but our souls will live on," according to the Rev. John Kane, of the Most Blessed Sacrament Catholic Church, West Philadelphia, who spoke at the noonday service in St. John's Church, Thirteenth street below Market.

"Love of our Father, and not of the world," he said, "will lead us to the Holy Spirit. For the world passes away, but God lives forever. Worlds are born, and pass away like flowers, but new worlds are born of their ashes. Instead of success in a worldly way, we should strive for success in a spiritual way, sacrifice ourselves."

WILD MAN BITES CHAUFFEUR

Negro Injures Taxicab Driver Who Tried to Lift Him From Tracks
The wild man of South Philadelphia, for whom the police have been searching for more than a week, has been captured. Early today a taxicab driver saw a Negro lying on a track on Delaware avenue. The driver got down the man away. As he bent over the Negro fastened his teeth in the chauffeur's nose.

The driver shouted. This aroused Patrolmen Thomas and Taylor, of the Fourth and Race streets station, who were nearby. When they tried to arrest the Negro he attacked them with a razor, but was subdued.

The prisoner gave his name as Edgel Thompson and said he was thirty-five years old and a seaman.

He was identified as the man who came into the Twelfth and Pine streets station house on February 28 and demanded a place to sleep and something to eat. When Acting Sergeant Curran told him he could have lodging but there would be no food, he cut Curran's face with a razor. Magistrate O'Brien held Thompson in $1500 bail for a further hearing.
