Two Burlington, N. J., Men Beaten on Camden Pike Near Bridgeboro

ONE OF THE THUGS CAUGHT

A posse of fermers took up again today the hunt for a bandit who aided in holding up and beating two Burlingion, N. J., grocers on the Burlington pike below Bridgeboro.

the of the hold-up men was captured yesterday by Fred scialanger, 021 Jackson street this city, driver of a bakery truck. The men held up are Michael Barbagalla and his cousin, Alfio

At the county jail the bandit who was captured gave his name as Nicola Juliano, and said his home is in Philadel-

The driver of the bakery truck, who The driver of the bakery truck, who is known along his delivery route as "Fritz," was asked for a ride by the two men when he passed them near Bridgeboro. He refused and went on to Fairriew, where he stopped to make deliveries. While there he saw the two ride by on the rear of the grocery

He continued along the pike and when he continued along the place that when he came to Jessup's Corner he found that the grocers had been held up. The bandits were driven off by farm hands from the farm of Charles B. Jessup. They escaped, running in different disceptions, and the victims, who had been binchlacked, were cared for by the Jessup.

Continuing on his route and turning into the Riverton road, "Fritz" saw a man ahead who looked like one of the hold-up men. He ran back to Boh's grocery store and, with "Jack" Bohs. the got a shot gun, they started in pursuit.

They jumped into the truck and soon time up with the man. "Fritz" covcame up with the man. "Fritz" cov-ered him with the shotgun as "Jack" took a revolver and blackjack from his pocket. By that time the Palmyra and Riverton police arrived and the prisoner was turned over to Patrolman Quigley, of the Riverton force.
