House Fails to Ratify by One Vote—Predict Passage Today

MEASURE IS RECONSIDERED

Trenton, March 9.—One vote was lacking in the House yesterday afternoon to make New Jersey the forty-sixth State to ratify the Eighteenth Amendment to the Federal Constitution. The vote for ratification stood 30 to 26, one less than the required majority, before Mr. Hobart, of Essex, the dry leader in the House, changed the vote for a reconsideration in order to more for a reconsideration. The resolution, already adopted by the Senate, made the special order of business for 3 o'clock this afternoon.

The House yesterday concurred in the Senate resolution extending the time for final adjournment from March 16 to March 18.

Assemblyman Hobart is leader of the dry delegation and introducer of the new enforcement bills. His vote, with that of Assemblyman Sexsmith, of Monmouth, and dry, and also James Oliver, who is declared by the prohibitionists, carry the measure through today. The resolution making the measure a special order of business was passed by a vote of 32 to 24.

The Republicans voting against ratification were Assemblymen Laird, of Essex; and Assemblymen Evans, of Hants; Williams, of Rowan; or Parris; Franklin, of Mercer; Moore, of Mercer; and Blair, of Camden.

During the debate on the ratification resolution G. Roland Munro, counsel for the New Jersey Anti-Saloon League, checked up votes for the measure.

Minority Leader Gaede said that it was ridiculous for New Jersey to ratify an amendment which had already been ratified and was part of the Constitution.

"Time has shown the wisdom of New Jersey's refusal on previous occasions to ratify the prohibition amendment," asserted Mr. Gaede. "Prohibition has left behind it a trail of such tremendous ill and wrecks that we in New Jersey should be glad that we had no hand in such bad legislation. New Jersey is a conservative State, and I trust that she will continue to show her conservatism by utterly rejecting this resolution."

DREAMLAND ADVENTURES

"Witch Night" BY DADDY

Judge Owl runs away with an old Witch's broomstick, and takes Jack and Janet riding through the air. They see Fairyland, but fail to find it in the north or in the south.

CHAPTER IV
Why the Fairies Fled.

JACK and Janet were glad when the Witch's broomstick arose into the air, carrying them and Judge Owl out of the tropical jungle. The jungle had looked very beautiful—as beautiful as the Fairyland had looked—but it had proved to be filled with dangerous beasts, with monster snakes, and with poisonous insects. It would have slain the man lost in its tangles had not the Witch's broomstick chanced along in time to save him.

"Go to Ireland if you are looking for Fairyland," cried the man after them, "Ireland is the home of the kindly wee folks."

So the Witch's broomstick, steered by Judge Owl, turned from the south to the east, and soon it was speeding over the rolling hills of Ireland, which were as broad and vast, but the broomstick was as swift as thought and they came quickly to an island that lay like a gem among the rolling waters.

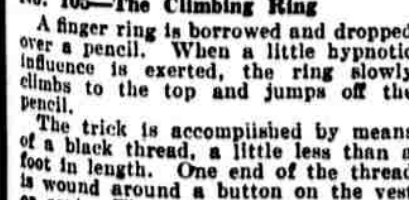

This island grew larger to the view as they neared it. Soon they could see it was a charming country of hills and valleys and sparkling lakes. The silvery moonlight bathed it in beauty, and Jack and Janet gazing down upon it felt that this was truly a land where fairies might love to dwell.

The Witch's broomstick skimmed over tiny villages and above pretty countryside. Jack and Janet leaned over hoping to see fairies dancing in the moonlight.

They saw no fairies, but after a time they heard a song coming from a cottage. It was a sad song, but wonderfully sweet, a song that fairies might delight to hear.

"Let us stop here," said Janet, "and ask where the fairies live."

The broomstick sank softly to the ground, and Jack and Janet left it in charge of Judge Owl, while they crept up to the open door. Within was a dear little old white-haired, blue-eyed woman, singing this song:

105
No. 105 The Climbing Ring

A finger ring is borrowed and dropped over a pencil. When a little hydraulic influence is exerted, the ring slowly climbs to the top and jumps off the pencil.

"What made them flee?" asked Janet.

"Hate made them flee," sobbed the dear little old woman. "The black witch came on a dark night. They sowed hate over the land. And the hate they sowed grew into quarrels and fighting and warfare. And fairies cannot abide where there are quarrels and fighting and warfare, so the fairies fled. There are no more fairies in Ireland. But perhaps if we sing and pray, we may coax them back again." Once more the little old woman sang her song:

"I'll tell you where we used to find them," said the dear little old woman, leading the children to the door. "Do you see that well in the yard? That is a fairy well, and every night the fairies come out of that well to do good deeds to those who loved them. They brought sweet dreams to babies, whispered tender thoughts to lovers, pinched the cheeks of naughty little boys; wended kindly feelings among neighbors, comforted those who mourned, and brought glad memories to the old who folk young again. Ah, but the black witch made life happy in old Ireland."

"Are the fairies still in that well?" asked Jack, running to it and peering down.

"No, no," cried the little old woman. "The fairies have fled."

JUSTICE HOLMES IS 81
Celebrates Birthday on Bench.
Near Supreme Court Record
Washington, March 9.—Associate Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, of the Supreme Court, yesterday celebrated his eighty-first birthday by actively participating throughout the day in the sessions of the court. He took his seat upon the bench at the highest court December 8, 1902, and in the history of the court only three members have reached a more advanced age. Chief Justice Taft and Associate Justice Duvall died at the age of ninety-two, nine years after he had retired from the bench. Chief Justice Taft, at the age of eighty-seven, while an active member, and Justice Field was eighty-three years old at the time of his death, which occurred twenty-eight years after he had ceased active judicial duties.

The World Sweep of 650,000 Pelmanists

MAJOR GEN. FREDERICK MAURICE, K. C. M. E.

"The Pelman System is not cram or trick, but a scientific method of training."

CHARLES M. SCHWAB
Captain of Industry

"Brains are needed to carry out the plans of those who furnish the capital. The man who attracts attention is not the dabbler, but the man who is thinking the time and expressing himself in little, unusual ways."

H. RIDER HAGGARD
Famous Author

"I recommend Pelmanism to those who, in the fullest sense, really wish to learn and to become what men and women ought to be."

ROBERT BADEN-POWELL
Founder of the Boy Scouts

"The Pelman System offers in a practical form the cardinal steps to the development and strengthening of mental character."

The Story of a Great Movement that Compels the Interest of Forward Looking Men and Women

PELMANISM, with its record of 650,000 successes in England, has at last been brought to the United States by Americans for Americans. Pelmanism is not a theory, but a practice. For twenty years it has been teaching people how to develop and strengthen their known powers, how to discover and train their latent mental abilities.

The Art of "Get There"

Science is the knowledge of truth. Art is its useful application. Pelmanism, the science, teaches the art of "getting there" quickly, surely, finely. Not only for men, but for women.

Woman in her home as well as in business has her ambitions and her perplexities. Followed honestly, Pelmanism will help solve woman's problems and aid her to realize her ambition. For Pelmanism means to men and to women clear thinking, concentrated thinking; it means self-reliance, mind, character and personality development to the highest degree. There is no sex in thought—and no limits to its development.

Destiny or Decision

These statements are not advanced as empty speculation, but are stated as facts; facts that have behind them the testimony of more than 650,000 men and women who have studied Pelmanism.

Its searchlight reveals the unsuspected powers and potentialities, trains and develops them, and then applies them to every-day life.

Increased Incomes

Talk of quick and large salary suggests quackery, but thousands of letters tell how Pelmanism has increased earning capacity from 25 to 300 per cent. And why not? Increased efficiency is worth more money.

Clearing the Fog

The minds of many men are veiled by a fog of misunderstanding. They think in a circle haplessly and vaguely. They wander in the twilight of doubt. Pelmanism clears the fog. It changes doubt to certainty, misdirection to direction, guessing to knowledge.

How to Become a Pelmanist

"Mind and Memory" is the name of the booklet which describes Pelmanism down to the last detail. It is fascinating in itself, with its wealth of original thought and intelligent observation. It has benefits of its own that will make the reader keep it.

The People's University

Pelmanism takes no account of class, creed or circumstances. Its values are for all.

Penman Develops the Mind Behind Memory

Twenty-five years ago Pelmanism was a simple memory training. Today it scientifically trains and exercises individual mental powers instead of one function of the mind.

The founder of Pelmanism had an idea. He went to the leading psychologists of England and America, and said: "I have a good memory system. I think I may say that it is the best. But it occurs to me that there is a small point in memory which is not being taught by any of you gentlemen teach the science of the mind. You teach it only to those who come to you. As for the rest, they come to us by popularizing it. Why can't we make people train their minds just as they train their bodies? Why can't you put all that you have to teach into a series of simple, understandable lessons that can be grasped by the average man with an average education?"

The eminent professors did it! Penman today develops mind as surely as a physical trainer develops muscle. It is a new practical application of truths as old as the history of the world. It substitutes head for brawn; it puts the stored wealth of memory at the disposal of every-day work.

Pelmanism develops individual mental faculty to its highest power; it recognizes the interdependence of all mental faculties and trains them together. It corrects bad habits by forming good habits, and emphasizes the importance of the development of character in the development of mental activity.

Pelmanism is not a miracle. It is not a mental pill for mental ills. The course
