

Lebouveau and Curtis Walker Report at Phils' Camp : Owls, Again Trim Hawks in A's Game

FIRST PHILS GAME ON FOR SATURDAY

Pitchers Allowed to Speed Up in Practice—Six Regulars Tardy

BEVO AND CURTIS REPORT

By EDWIN J. POLLOCK. Leobouveau, Fla., March 8.—"Kiss" Wilhelm caused the ban a bit this morning and permitted some of his hurlers to flip over a few fast ones in the work-out at Cooke Park. There's a reason behind the Kise's generosity. On Saturday the first practice game of the season will be staged, and the Phils' boss would like to look over some slants and hope.

After looking over the array of athletes now drilling on the new ball field it is apparent that the new ball field is going to be used in places other than the regulars are not coming in very fast and the line-ups will have to be filled with some of the extra hurling material on hand.

Bevo Lebourveau and Curtis Walker came in yesterday, but six are still absent. Goldie Rapp has wired that he will report tomorrow, and Cy Williams wrote to ask for his appearance about ten days on account of the illness of his wife.

Nothing has been heard from Jack Leslie, Jimmy Smith, Jack Miller or Rickher.

Leslie still absent. Leslie named President Baker some time ago in Philadelphia, that he was working out with the Yankees at New Orleans and would report on March 8.

To date the prospective Phil first baseman has minor league appearance. Tom Sullivan, the southpaw, who was confined to his bed yesterday with a severe cold, found it very lonesome between the sheets and crawled out this morning.

However, he was not permitted to go to the field. The congestion in his lungs has cleared to a great extent and the danger of pneumonia has passed.

Sullivan came to the Phils from Albany Club. This is only his second year in professional ranks, and he was a bit over-anxious to show what he could do. He was taken with a cold about four days ago, but paid no attention to it, believing he could sweat it out on the ball field. It finally put him down for the count, and he will be at least three or four days' practice.

Wentner Recovered. Phil Weintner, the big West Philadelphia scotchboy of a few years back, is the only other member of the club who has been annoyed with a cold, but he has recovered completely now. His attack was accompanied by a sore throat, but he took pains to see that it was attended to, with the result that he did not have to waste any time.

Huck Blas, the blond right-hander, was on the crippled list for a few days, but he also has entirely recovered. Luck was hit on the shin by a batted ball and carried a lump on his leg about the size of an egg. The swelling gradually came down and all the soreness has disappeared.

Outside of these three cases, the Phils have not had much trouble with colds. There have been a few complaints about sore arms, but the number is small compared with other years. This can be attributed to the careful manner with which the Phils handle their pitching material. The practice this morning consisted of the usual routine of hitting, pitching and fungo chomping. It will be varied somewhat this afternoon with some infield work. The infield probably will be made up of Cliff Lee, first base; Fletcher, second base; Parkinson, shortstop, and Widdow Conroy, third base.

Another Rumor Spiked. Once again the rumor that the Phils are about to take a lease on a new ball park is out.

A report reached here today to the effect that Henry Ford had purchased the grounds at Broad and Huntingdon streets and would build an annex to his assembling plant across the street from the ball park. The rumor also had it that Baker was angling with a real estate dealer in the city of Billy Penn for another site on which to erect a new stadium.

"There's a lot of truth in that," said Bill Sheltnie, the business manager of the Phils. "As a matter of fact, we have the site for a new home picked out. All the details have been attended to, even to instructing Sam Payne to have the flag ready to be unfurled."

Baker's not to be found in glee presidential verification, but "Sheltnie" batted for him in the pinch. Baker and Robert Coane, one of the directors of the club, went morning today.

"The site of our new park is right here in Leobouveau," the demon business manager continued. "Furthermore, we have the whole town in back of us, while in Philadelphia only a small percentage of the population gives us support."

"It looks as if Cooke Park here were going to be our permanent home in the spring."

"But when it comes to the summer we'll be right back at Broad and Huntingdon streets, in Philadelphia. Henry

Stanton, Giants' Pitcher, to Box White Sox Player

San Antonio, Tex., March 9.—There will be a heavyweight battle when the New Yorks make a visit to the White Sox at Seguin next Wednesday. Either before the game or at a barbecue which is to follow, George Stanton, the big left-hander of the Giants, who hails from San Francisco, will tackle a man of equal weight and size from the ranks of the White Sox in a six-round encounter. Johnny Evers, who made the match, will not disclose the name of the Chicago standard bearer, Stanton, who came here with a recommendation from Bill Lange, used to be a four rounder on the Coast.

Ford may have purchased the grounds, but he has a long wait before he can use it. We hold a ninety-nine year lease, and if he has died now, we'll turn it over to him in about ninety-two years. It's a long wait, but the first five years he'll be making money.

"You can deny that rumor as emphatically as you want to. There's absolutely nothing in it, and Mr. Baker would tell you the same thing if he were here. According to the papers, Mr. Ford buys the ball park at least four times a year. I'm going to have a dental printed ready for his next purchase."

HERR SURPRISE OF PENN RELAY TEST

Proves "Dark Horse" by Finishing Second to Brown in Trials for English Trip

JOHNNY HERR, unheralded and unexpected among the athletes of the University of Pennsylvania track team, gave coaches and spectators alike one of the greatest surprises in years on Franklin Field yesterday afternoon when he finished second in the first relay race for the team to represent the Red and Blue in England on April 8.

Larry Brown, captain of the track team, also surprised by winning the event in 4 minutes 28.36 seconds, while Elmer McLane was regarded as the winner of Don Head was third, another surprise; Sam Kerr, fourth; McLane, fifth; McKullen, sixth; Jensen, seventh; Meredith, eighth; Hayes, ninth; Holden, tenth, and Fisher, eleventh. Brown's time for the distance was 4 minutes and 28.36 seconds.

Herr was not even regarded as a possibility among the first half dozen to finish before the race, and for the first two laps he was not even considered by the spectators and Lawson Robertson, the coach. For four years, this is the fourth, Herr has been working as hard as any athlete who ever trod Franklin Field. Try as hard as he could he never gained ground. He ran cross-country, tried the distances and the middle distances, but failed to place his name up among those usually called leaders.

Unable to add to his troubles, Herr broke his ankle. For the remainder of the season he was forced to remain on the side lines. During the summer he devoted himself to developing wind and stamina. In the fall he showed improvement in cross-country as the result of his vacation training.

Better Indoor. Since the indoor season started Herr has been running better than even his most sanguine supporters thought him capable of. He won the handicap mile on the board track on Franklin Field, made fifth place on the two-mile relay team which recently broke the Illinois record, and finished fifth in the 1500-yard event out at Illinois, which was won in record-breaking time.

His running yesterday was a distinct surprise. At the gun he slid into tenth position, getting up to eighth at the start of the second quarter, fully 20 yards behind. During the next quarter mile Herr pulled up into third position. When the runners flashed across the line for the last quarter mile Herr was running in fourth place. In the last 200 yards of the race he started a sprint that carried him into second place.

Robertson Pleased. "I am more than pleased with the running of the candidates yesterday," said Robertson this morning. "The track was heavy and at least one second was very much surprised at the showing of Herr. He ran an excellent race throughout. The trials next Wednesday afternoon will determine the team."

From present indications, judging from yesterday's results, the first five to finish look like the athletes to make the trip. Brown, Head, Kerr and McLane all along have been considered as members of the team, while Herr's running stamps him as a strong possibility next Wednesday.

Fischer, the former Newark Central High School star and New Jersey intercollegiate mile champion last year, was a big disappointment in the race. He finished in last place. Fischer, however, has been in poor physical condition for the last six weeks as the result of a heavy cold.

Back into professional baseball and went south with the Phils. He didn't go good and was shipped to Kansas City where he had a successful season. He feels that he has the stuff to stick this year.

JESS WINTERS — A native of Texas. Started professional baseball in 1913 with the Denison Club of the Western Association. League disbanded in midsummer, and while Jess was preparing to enter a medical school he was given a contract with the Phils. He went North and sat on the bench. The following year saw him in service and when he returned in 1919 he was given another contract by McGraw. Sat out the bench in 1919 and 1920.

Last summer he was sent to Toronto by New York and then came with the Phils. He is a frail boy for a pitcher, but can turn out a crack-crack game if given plenty of rest between battles.

KENNETH SEDGWICK — Ken Sedgwick started professional baseball with the Akron Club in 1910. He had very little experience, and was shipped to New Haven, then to Rochester and finally to Charleston.

He quit the Charleston Club and played semi-pro ball around Washington until he signed with the Phils about 1916. He stayed with the club during the remainder of the year and now is battling for a regular turn in the box. He is a right-hander. He is twenty-two years old and claims to have been a pitcher for two years.

OWLS AGAIN CLIP WINGS OF HAWKS

Young O'Neil Loses A's Spring Game in Opening Canto, Allowing Five Runs

WALKER HITS HOME RUN

Special Dispatch to Evening Public Ledger. Eagle Pass, Tex., March 9.—Constance O'Neil has the laugh on the Hawks tonight in a game which was held under the big sun in their practice this morning, the Owls are giving the Hawk bunch about that 10-to-2 slam-bang yesterday.

Hast Harrison and Loftus did the hurting for the Owls in their second consecutive victory of the spring training matches with the Hawks, who had their wings clipped almost before they could even take to the air.

It could be said that the first Hawk's twirler, O'Neil, who pitched last year in semi-professional ranks up around Ratoon. Can't get on higher than his teammates liked. In the very first round the Owls walloped O'Neil for a lot of loops, totaling five runs.

With all due respect to young Mr. O'Neil, he was not a bad pitcher. He was helped by a wild leave on the part of Bill Barrett, who was shortstopping for the Hawks.

High Wind. One run was added when Moore replaced O'Neil, and four were garnered off of Bill Barrett, when he came on for the finish of the game.

The Hawks could do little with the shoots that Hast and Yarrison delivered. All the run getting by the Hawks was done in the eighth, when Loftus was on the hill.

A high wind blew and the eddying sand interfered with the work of the players, yet it was a clean-play and fast game.

Frank Callaway, with a double and two singles, did some soulful slugging for the Owls. His two-base blow in the eighth put some of the bases clogged and cleared them; Callaway also scored twice during the game, so he was responsible for half of the runs tabbed by the winners.

Tilly Walker reached base every time he came to the bat. He walked twice and was hit with a pitched ball once. He also reached first on an error.

Homer for Tilly. In the seventh round, with Doc Johnson on base, Tilly revived his Shibe Park tactics by lifting the ball over the fence at left field for the circuit. It was about the same as putting the ball into Somerset street in Philadelphia.

Witt was also a sincere performer during the afternoon, having three singles to his credit.

The Hawks were held to eight hits by the Owl currier, Edyes, with two singles, was the only one to have more than a solitary drive.

The best defense was done by Heine Scherer, whose second-base play was a little short of marvelous. Galloway, Matland and Tilly Walker also made some fetching plays.

SCOTTY MONTEITH RESIGNS

Quits Olympia Post Because of New York Business

The Olympia management today started negotiations for their third matchmaker of the season, Scotty Monteith, who succeeded Herman Taylor several weeks ago, resigned yesterday because his presence was necessary in New York for his interests there.

Monteith last night declared he left the position with the best of feeling toward officials of the Olympia, and he could not devote the necessary time here and thought it best to step out to take care of his other interests.

Leon L. Rains, manager of the Olympia, has admitted that Monteith resigned voluntarily.

"Monteith" leaves us with the best of feeling," said Rains. "We have not taken up the question of his successor yet, but expect to do so within a week. Our plans are to get the best matchmaker possible and put on bigger and better shows than ever. Philadelphians have shown they want the best, and we intend to give them just that."

Baseball Filmed in Camps and Elsewhere

Elmer Smith, former Cleveland player, has joined the Red Sox at Hot Springs, Ark., and is slated for the right field position. Smith was last seen in the outfield, has left San Francisco for Hot Springs.

Infielders of the Pirates trying for position in this camp at West Baden, Ind., held their initial practice yesterday. After a hot work-out, the veteran, Wilbur Cooper, was sent to the mound and loaned some tips to the rookies. The entire squad, including the regulars, taking turns at the plate.

Manager Fred Mitchell, of the Braves, is highly pleased at the showing made by Comer, Lane and Gribble, working out at their camp at St. Petersburg, Fla.

Babe Ruth and Wally Schang have left Hot Springs, Ark., and are now on their way to the Yankees' training camp at New Orleans.

John McGraw has ordered a rest for his players after having driven around the city the last week. He is still giving unusual attention to the youngsters.

Golfs in Final

MRS. CALEB F. FOX PHILADELPHIA, who took off in final round today for West Coast, Fla., championship against Miss Glenna Collett, Providence, R. I., at Belleair, Fla.

MRS. FOX, LOCAL GOLFER, IN FINALS

Plays Miss Collett for West Coast Championship of Florida—Youth vs. Experience

Belleair Heights, Fla., March 9.—Once more the ancient trial of youth versus experience was staged here today in the final round for the women's golf championship of the Florida West Coast.

Mrs. Caleb F. Fox, of Philadelphia, read off against Miss Glenna Collett, Providence, Rhode Island. The former was making a determined bid in national championships before the latter was born.

The pretty and petite lassie from Rhode Island is one of the most promising young golfers in America, a second Alexa Stirling in the opinion of the experts. She won the medal in the American championship qualifying round at Hollywood last fall, and the following week accomplished one of the greatest triumphs of the year when she beat Cecil Leitch, champion of Great Britain, France and Canada, in Philadelphia during the play for the Berthelcup. Miss Collett eventually won that famous trophy by beating Mrs. W. A. Gavin, twice runner-up for national honors in 1890 at the Philadelphia Country Club. She has been a contender nearly every year, but has failed to qualify and maintain a money play game that is too strong for many of the best.

Her recent victory over Miss Collett at Belleair was a notable triumph which the Providence girl was determined to square up when the two faced again today.

Mrs. Fox accounted for Mrs. G. Henry Stetson, a clubmate at Huntingdon Valley, in the semifinals yesterday, with the two-heavy score of 5 and 2. This was a distinct surprise, as Mrs. Stetson is one of the best and was going well. Miss Collett advanced to the finals by an equally notable victory when she ousted Miss Edith Cummings, the fair Chicago young lady, who had that sensational record of 77 in the qualifying round to win the medal. Miss Collett was 5 up on Miss Cummings at the turn and finished her opponent, 4 and 2.

A large gallery followed little Miss Collett and Mrs. Fox today.

PENN QUINTET MAY LOSE BEN DESSEN

Forward Suffering From Heavy Cold—Subs Aid in Downing Swarthmore, 17-14

CARMACK'S GREAT WORK

BENNY DESSEN, former Southern High School student and forward on the University of Pennsylvania basketball team, may not be able to play against Dartmouth Saturday night, if reports heard in Weightman Hall last night are true.

Dessen is said to be suffering from a severe cold, which may keep him at home until next Monday. Last night he did not appear for the game with Swarthmore, and it was said that his physician ordered him to remain in bed, and a possibility that Dessen may also be out with Vogelin in anything but good shape.

Without Dessen, Huntington and Vogelin, Penn defeated the Swarthmore quintet, 37 to 14, last night in one of the most games of the current season. Bill Grave, Pos Miller and Jabel Goldblatt were assisted by James Brew, Sullivan and Jimmy Melnichol in the conquest of the Dartmouth.

The Red and Blue's team play was away off, while their shooting, passing and general all-around play fell far below par.

Huntington was in a uniform, but the coaches decided to give him a rest for the game Saturday night. Vogelin sat along the sidelines in civilian clothes, giving the ankle he injured last Saturday night a much-needed rest.

Because of the interscholastic tournament being held in Weightman Hall, the Penn players have had little practice for the last few days and have not played since Saturday night. Several of them looked the part last night of athletes who have not been playing.

In the preliminary game the Penn Freshman five broke the winning streak of Freddie Institute by defeating the Jesuits 35 to 27 in a hard-fought game. Jimmy Carmack, the Atlantic City youth and captain of the year, tied the interscholastic foul-goal shooting record by sending fifteen straight through the nets.

Tiplitz Hands Reno a Lacing. Trenton, N. J., March 9.—Joe Tiplitz, of Philadelphia, made a punching bag of Joe Reno, of Trenton, in a ten-round bout here. Ray Mitchell, of Philadelphia, knocked out Jimmie Manos, of Trenton, in the fifth round.

Harry Goodman, of Philadelphia, beat Young Murray, of Trenton, in six rounds, and Joe Murphy, of Trenton, beat Nick Michaelis, of Philadelphia.
