

LET PLEIOSAURUS LIVE, SAY S. P. C. A.

Objects to Killing Monster Found by Prof. O'Neill in Patagonia

SAID TO BE HARMLESS

Let the pleiosaurus live. This is the opinion of representatives of the Pennsylvania Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals...

It appears that Prof. O'Neill and others on the expedition were desirous of capturing and killing the animal...

This caused a general protest among humanitarians in the South American countries, and several regarded as authorities asserted that the animal, which was known to be harmless, had the right to live...

Frank B. Rutherford, operative manager of the Pennsylvania S. P. C. A., agrees with Dr. Albarassin. "As the animal is said to be harmless," said Mr. Rutherford, "I think it would be wrong to kill it."

"It was placed on earth for some reason and has some function which scientists perhaps have not yet discovered. I think the pleiosaurus should have a chance. It would be well to study it closely, and observe its habits. If it is happy in its own country and going along without molesting humanity—then humanity should reciprocate and let this rare animal alone."

"Perhaps if it is permitted to live it will lead to other discoveries which may be very important to science." Prof. O'Neill, who got in touch with several scientific societies in Brazil, said he would pursue the pleiosaurus and present it to one of the South American zoos if sufficient funds were forthcoming.

Meanwhile the pleiosaurus is said to be near the Straits of Magellan and may succeed in reaching the island of Terra del Fuego before the necessary financial re-enforcements have been received by Prof. O'Neill and his party.

JAIL DODGE'S SON AFTER GIRL LEAPS FROM HIS AUTO

Sped Machine in Wrong Direction, Companions Declare

Kalamazoo, Mich., March 13.—(By A. P.)—John D. Dodge, son of the late John F. Dodge, millionaire Detroit automobile manufacturer, and Rex Earl, of this city, were held in the county jail today pending further investigation into an automobile accident yesterday that resulted in serious injury to Miss Kwanerick, Kwanerick, nineteen-year-old Western State Normal School student.

Miss Susan Stegenga and Miss Ethel Clemons, two other Western Normal students, who also were in the machine, said Dodge and Earl offered to take them to their home from a dance, and that Miss Kwanerick leaped from the machine when Dodge, who was driving, ignored their protests that he was not driving in the right direction to their rooming house. They charge he drove into the country at high speed.

Miss Kwanerick was found at the roadside by a passing motorist, who took her to a hospital. Officers declare a bottle of liquor was found in the machine.

WILL GUARD WINE CELLARS

Bala-Cynwyd Police Force Increased by Twenty to Halt Thieves

Detective-policemen to stop raids on wine cellars in Bala and Cynwyd is the plan of Police Commissioner Martin P. Glynn. The days of the "soft snappers" and languid patrol duty are over, and henceforth the patrolmen of Lower Merion Township will keep on the job or get off the force.

The new take-up followed complaints from residents of Bala-Cynwyd that police protection was inadequate and raids on cellars by thieves were becoming too frequent. The small size of the force was blamed as much as the lack of vigilance on the part of the present members.

DIER CREDITORS URGED TO REFUSE $200,000

Stoneham Should "Shell Over" $2,000,000, Says Creditors' Attorney

New York, March 13.—Creditors of the bankrupt brokerage house of E. J. Dier & Co. have been advised by counsel to withhold their acceptance of the $200,000 offered them by Charles A. Stoneham, owner of the New York Giants, until a thorough investigation of the details of the failure of the firm has been completed, it became known today.

Opinions of the various organizations of the creditors differ somewhat on the policy to be adopted, and to clarify matters for them a special meeting of all creditors in this district will be called within the next week or ten days.

From the Western creditors of the Dier house, who are represented by C. J. James, of Chicago, comes the word that a payment of 25 per cent is not acceptable to them. In the words of Mr. James, according to Daniel W. Blumenthal, who is working with him at this end of the matter, "Mr. Stoneham will have to 'shell over' at least $2,000,000."

Regarding Elmore D. Dier, head of the brokerage firm, Mr. Blumenthal spoke quite differently, saying that both he and his clients felt that "Dier permitted a wholesale robbery of the worst kind."
