Louis Browns Should Finish No Lower Than Third This Season, Says Bob Maxwell

ANKS DECLARED OUT OF 1922 CAMPAIGN BY BROWNS; FEAR GRIFFS

St. Louis Players Believe They Will Have No Trouble With Ruth et al. and, Instead, Will Have to Beat Out Washington for Pennant

> By ROBERT W. MAXWELL Sports Editor Evening Public Ledger

Mobile, Ala., March 14. ST. LOUIS is standing put on its American Lengue team for 1922. The line-up will be virtually the same as at the close of last season with the possible exception of two new pitchers. Dave Danforth is one and nobody— not even Lee Fohl—knows the identity of the other. The Browns are taking a wild and woolly chance on the team which finished third last year, and after looking them over, it seems to be a swell idea, Ever since Lee Fohl and the hard-working and efficient traveling secrebary, Willis Johnson, piloted the first gang of battery men to this city on the Gulf of Mexico two weeks ago, an atmosphere of confidence has surrounded by Quinn's ball club. It is not the overbearing, blatant kind which can vered without the aid of a brass band or a salvo of fireworks, but a quiet, sincere feeling that this is THE real ball club of 1922, and every one will be let in on the secret after April 12.

Ball players, assistant managers and the manager are putting everything they have in the preliminary work. They are determined to make the most of the opportunity to step in front this season because they figure the chances are better than ever before.

Strange as it may seem, the New York Yankees are not considered seriously here. The players admit Miller Huggins has a good team, and with and Jones to bolster the pitching staff and Scott at shortstop, they be a trifle stronger than last year, but the Yanks are not figured as pennant contenders.

'We won't have to beat the Yanks to win the pennant." said one of the "The club that will give more trouble in our league is Washington, and we will have to get ahead of that crowd to breeze out in

WE NEVER expected to have the Vankers declared out of the running so early in the season and have a dark horse like Wash. ington enter in the race, but the Browns apparently are deep thinkers. and have figured it out for themselves.

Made Sensational Finish Last Year

AST year St. Louis got off to a very poor start. Not more than five games Liwere won in the first month and the team webbled along in the second division until July 4. On that glorious day baseball history almost was made. The Browns and Athletics were tied for seventh place, and a Connic Mack victory would send St. Louis to the bottom of the league.

However, the Athletics refused to vacate their well upholstered and comfortable cellar, and the Browns were so frightened that they started to win ball mmes. They kept it up until the end of the season and finished third, which, way, was a wonderful accomplishment. Almost as good as the sensational finish of the Braves in 1914.

This great finale is the reason for the quiet confidence in the camp of the 'If we only had gotten away to a good start," they say, "we would have won by at least ten games. We will not make the same mistake this

To dwell briefly on some more ancient history, the Browns last year went to training camp with two infield positions to fill. Second and third base were vacant and it took a lot of experimenting to plug up those holes. McManus dually was selected as the regular second sacker, and Frank Ellerbe was traded by Washington for Earl Smith, to play third. Both of these youngslers are on the job and should show a great improvement because of last year's Fohl is all set in this department and thinks a lot of his inner defense, Sisler on first, McManus, second, Gerber, short, and Ellerbe, third, compare favorably with any other infield in the league. Sisler and Gerber were out of the line-up last year when they were needed most, because of injuries, and their absence naturally weakaned the club.

THERE are only three extra infielders—Jimmy Austia, Genc Robertson and Bill Mullen. Austin will be retained as an assistant coach, and Robertson, because of his hitting with Joplin last year, will be the utility man. Mullen will be sent away for more Begalusa he would sit on the front step of the clubhouse and silently watch the practice. This season he leans against the railing of the grandstand while the athletes do their work-

The manager of the Browns has a most peculiar method of getting his ball club in shape. He is different from any other pilot in the big leagues. He does order his players around, nor does he hand out any instructions. He in stands there, lets the men get themselves in shape, and most of the work is done by Lefty Leifield, the old southpaw pitcher, and Jimmy Austin.

We were standing near Fohl the other day during the practice. He was erving everything, but saying nothing. Suddenly he turned and asked: Three o'clock." we replied.

Fohl waved his arms, the practice stopped and the players left the field. There are thirty-seven athletes in the Brownies' camp, and most of them are pitchers. The big league managers are trying hard to develop young talent instead of purchasing it at fabulous prices from the Class AA clubs. and nineteen of them are working daily in the ball park on the shore of Mobile Urban Shocker, Dixie Davis, Elam Vangilder, Ray Kolp and Billy Bayne are the veterans, and all but Kolp are expected to do good work. Kolp was used for relief purposes last year and may be able to take his regular turn in CHOCKER, who won twenty-seven games and tied Mays' record for 1921, should have another good year, and so should Bayne. Davis looks better and Vangilder is stronger than ever before. Last year he reported twenty pounds under weight and did not get going until late

Most Promising of Kids Is W. Wright

WAYNE WRIGHT is the most promising of the rookies. He was with the club before, but couldn't stick and was sent to Louisville. He is a right. hander and should stay. Fohl is much impressed with the work of Roy Davis, a righthander, from Herrin, Ill. Roy tried to strike oil last year and after losing $15,000 decided he had better play ball for a living. He is trying hard to make good. John Ocerlook, another rookie, wanted to be a banker, but the bank failed and he had to go to work. He was sent to St. Paul at the end of last season and won four out of five games. He is a good prospect. Henry Deten is a coul miner from Breese. Ill. He worked in the mines all day and pitched ball on Sunday. He was discovered by a scout one Sabbath afternoon and invited to make the training trip with St. Louis. He is sir feet four inches tall and has tremendous speed. If should be good as soon as Lefty Leifield teaches him a windup Henry Meine, of Beaumont, and Frank Henry, a telthander from Orlando, Fig., also may develop. Meine did good work in the Texas League, but he the spitter down there and must try something else this year. Henry was the best hurler in the Florida State League and won twenty-five and lost seven gamese. He probably will be shipped away for further experience. The other aspirants are James Elliot, of Rockford; Frank Smith, a semi-pro from Rock Island; John Holiday, an Alten, Ill., semi-pro; Rubert Pruett, collegian, who played with Tulsa; Clarence Lillpop, of St. Louis; Robert Cook, discovered by Billy Bayne in Pittsburgh, and Ed Lambing, a semi-pro St. Louis.

THESE men will soon be sent away from here.

Best All-Round Outfield in League

ONLY one extra outfielder will be carried this season and it will be only for emergency purposes. Chick Shorten, who was purchased from Detroit last winter, will sit in when any of the regulars are missing. St. Louis has the best all-round outfield in the league. Johnny Tobin. Bill Jacobson and Ken Williams can take care of the outer garden on the defense and can hammer in a lot of runs on the attack. This combination is enough to make any manager feel chesty about his pennant chances. Last year Williams was runner-up to Ruth in making home runs. He ocked twenty-five during the season and in addition batted .346. Both Tobin and Jacobson hit .352, which is out of the ordinary. Cedric Durst, of Beaumont, is a fast man and covers lots of ground, but his hitting will send him back to the minors again.

HANK SEVEREID, Josh Billings and Pat Collins will be the regular catchers. John Heving, who was with the club last year and was loaned to Tulsa, and Arthur Watkins, who played with the Stayleys, of Decatur, Ill., will take another trip to the alfalfa.

Browns Should Be Up Near the Top

SUM up, St. Louis has four good pitchers in Shocker, Davis, Bayne and Danforth, with Vangilder and Kolp as strong possibilities. The catching pariment is above the average and the infield, consisting of Sisler, McManus, r and Elerbe, could not stand much improvement. The outfield is the out in the league.

The Browns are strong on the attack and defense, and if they get any sitching they will be up there fighting with the leaders.

THIS is a first division ball club, and to us it looks as if they would finish not lower than third.

TREES TO STIFFEN

Umbrage to Narrow Fairways at Local Golf Club-Greens to Be Improved

DEL. CO. TOURNEY ENCORE

By SANDY McNIBLICK

MANY golfers insist that the "fair way" is the best and may protest against Lansdowne's methods of stiffening the golf course as "shady." This is a comical way of referring to the trees which will be planted out there.

The idea in this case, however, is as hazards. You won't be able to judge these trees by their bark, either. They are going to be deliberately set in mean places. They will serve not only to beautify the course, for some, but will be in the nature of buoys warning of dan-gerous "shoals." They will take the place of traps and help to define the

"Woodman, woodman, spare that tree," will very likely be the clarion call of the Greens Committee at Lansdowne this year.

About six trees will be planted at each of three holes, the third, fifth and seventh. It is felt in many cases, particularly on these holes, the fairway is too wide. The trees will be planted so as to narrow down the verdant nisles to the greens, injecting a slight dogleg or more character into the hole.

A few sand traps will also be gouged out, these mostly at the greens. Some of the putting spaces may be made a trifle larger and built up at the same
