22 SEASON STARTS Winning Pennant This Year Will Mean No Boost for Miller Huggins, But, if He Loses, the Anvil Chorus

Will Ring Merrily

By ROBERT W. MAXWELL Sports Editor Evening Public Ledger

RUVE and one-half months after the baseball season started last year the New Orleans, La., March 15. New York Yankees won the American Lengue pennant. This year conditions have changed. At this writing, which is one month before the opening of the regular season, the Yanks already have been awarded the flag, and all bey have to do is go through the motions of winning it. In other words. only thing that stands between the New York Club and the Johnson gonfalon is a period of six and one-half months.

This is always the case with a pennant-winning team. The grandoldopsters look back upon the previous season, study the records of the players and figure that they will be just as good, if not better, in the 1922 campaign. The possibility that a man might have an off year never is considered. The is the dope, figgers are figgers and every one knows that figgers don't lie. It's their story and they will stick to it.

The Yankees will be lucky if they don't suffer an acute attack of overconfidence in the early part of the season. The players have listened to so Lany stories of their prowess that they are beginning to believe it themselves. The mere fact that Ruth and Meusel will be absent thirty-six days will not cause them to change their opinion of themselves.

This does not mean the Yankees are swaggering around here patting themves on the back and announcing to the world they are the real and only talking, and the players always are an interested and responsive audience.

The big argument down here is the pitching staff. Since Sam Jones and Joe Bush were obtained from the Red Sox, the hurling department, on paper. appears to be invincible. And the figgers are dragged in to prove it.

Last year the "big five." which is the latest slang for Miller Huggins' star slingers, won a lot of ball games. Mays kicked in with twenty-seven rictories ; Jones, twenty, - three ; Hoyt, nineteen ; Shawkey, eighteen, and Bush, sisteen

"These men." says the depesters impressively. "won a total of 103 games between them. Jones and Bush were on a second division club and should do better with such altting strength behind them. But if they do the same as last year, and the others repeat, the 103 victories will be more than enough to win the pennant. The Yanks will have a percentage of .668. and that's good enough to win in ANY league."

AST year was last year and has passed into history. This year Le is something else again, and every one knows the uncertainty of the future. A lot of things can happen. True, the hurlers should come through again, but WILD they?

Huggins Has Two Training Camps

MILLER HUGGINS tried a new training stunt this year in having two camps, one for the veterans. Baker, Bush, De Vormer, Hoyt, Mays, Ruth. Scott, Shawkey and Schang remained in Hot Springs until McNally. the end of last week, and did not join the main sound until a few days ago. They profited by the baths and mountain climbing at the Arkausas resort. and were in first-class condition when they reported here. Ruth is much lighter than last year and seems to be more active.

The split training season gave Huggins an opportunity to look over the new talent in Heimeman Park. Of the twenty-three who were here all of the time, fourteen were newcomers, and of these, seven were pitchers. Some had been with the club last year at Shreveport and were sent out for more experience, but they come under the head of rookies just the same.

Glenn Killinger, the All-American halfback from Penn State, was the incipal attraction the first week of practice, and he did not show up very rell. The boy had been touted too highly during the winter, and too much was expected of him. He was nervous or had stage fright or something, for he starred neither in the field nor at the bat, and those who predicted he would be a second Frisch were disappointed.

HOWEVER, Huggins has confidence that Killinger will make good. He never will be a brilliant, fashy player, but should develop into an infielder like Del Pratt. As soon as the nervousness wears of the Penn State star should show a big improvement.

Need Right Fielder for First Month

THE best-looking young infielder is Norman McMillan, who was loaned to Rochester last year. In the early workouts he did some excellent work around third base, going after everything on either the right or left side. His throwing arm appeared strong and his hitting was exceptionally good. McMillan is a natural hitter, and if he can continue to shine as a fielder he carried through t fluggins needs one outfielder for the first month of the season while Ruth and Mensel are serving time for barnstorming. Elmer Miller will be stationed in center, and Chick Fewster has been assigned to the left field job. The suburb out in right has to be filled, and everybody is getting a chance to show what he can do.

Wally Schang has been mentioned as a possibility, but he will not play in the outfield unless absolutely necessary. Schang is needed behind the bat. somebody else will patrol the territory behind first base.

Hinkey Haines, who will be assistant football coach at Penn State next fall, has made a big hit in the outfield. He is a wonderful fielder and wanders all over to snare fly balls. He looks better than any of the new men when it comes to fielding, but his hitting must improve

HUGGINS changed him to a left-handed hitter this speine, and believes the change will help the youngster.

Camp Skinner Expected to Make Good

MAMP SKINNER, who was with the club last year, and was loaned to Dal-Ulas, also has been going good. He is a fair outfielder and a natural hitter. Huggins thinks well of him and he will be carefully haudled during the training veriod. Skinner looks like Bobby Veach at the plate, and takes a wicked cut at the ball. It would not be surprising if Skinner came through this year.

O. D. Tucker, who already has been labled "Old Dan." halls from Rudiant, Va., and played with Cedartown, Gu., last year. He is a husky youth and a murderous hitter. He had an average of .434 last year, and those who have seen him work down here believe it. He bats left-handed and pulls to right field. He hit the fence twice the first day out, which caused more or less of a sensation. "Old Dan." however, is not much of a fielder. He was tried in right, but flivvered. In center he was much better. Dan might be a regular in a couple of years.

Grigsby is a fast fielding but weak-hitting outfielder, and that about lets him out-which is likely in a couple of weeks. Schang, Hoffman and De Vormer will take care of the entching. De Vormer has improved over last year's form and shows promise of developing isto a first-class backstop. He has more confidence, his temperament has proved and the one year in the fast set has been a great benefit to him.

Miller Huggins' "big five" will do most of the pitching, although there im't a left-hander in the bunch. Mays. Jones, Hoyt, Bush and Shawkey all predict great seasons for themselves, and judging from their form now, they eem to be correct. They should get off to a good start.

Lefty O'Doul is the big noise among the new moundsmen. He was with the club two years ago as an outfielder, but was shipped back to the Coast. Last year he was a pitcher, and in Vernon, Callf., won twenty-five and lost seven games. He looks good and will be retained because he is the only southpaw of promise on the club. Harper will not report until June.

He confided to his boss that he was twenty pounds overweight, so he is used to retrieve fly balls and do other running exercises which will remove those twenty pounds. If he can stand up under the

B.T. Culp, one of "Old Dan" Tucker's teammates in Cedartown, looks like a good right-handed flinger. He is a tall, skinny guy and has an under-hand delivery not so low as Carl Mays', but something like Bryan Harris', of the Athletics. He has been very effective, and while he might not come through this year, he should be ready for hig-league purposes in 1923.

George Murray, a sturdy right-hander, is likely to stick. George has all the carmarks of a finished pitcher and profited by his stay in Rochester last year. Nobody can spend a season with George Stallings without learning ething, and Murray was an apt pupil.

Huggins' infield is all set. Pipp will be on first. Ward. second: Scott. ort, and Baker, third. The Trappe thumper and former home-run king ort, and Baker, third. He also will be needed. He also will ave to play a strong game to stay there. It is hoped that Baker will fill the lace, and if not, Mike McNully will be inserted.

The Tanks will be weakened the first five weeks of the season with Ruth Mensel on the sidelines, but Huggins is making the best of it. He still is for another seasoned outfielder, and it wouldn't be strange if he closed . . .
