

2 GIRL RUNAWAYS FIRE OF ADVENTURE

Upper Darby High School Students Now Think Home is Best Place

FOUND IN NEWARK, N. J.

The two Upper Darby High School girls who left their homes in East Lansdowne Wednesday, seeking "adventure," are home today, sorry that they caused their parents worry, but anything but satisfied with their "adventures."

The girls are Estella Johnson, sixteen, daughter of Peter O. Johnson, of 110 Oak avenue, East Lansdowne, and Eleanor Sweet, eighteen, daughter of H. G. Sweet, Rustic Apartments, Fernwood.

Parents of the girls were too glad to get them back to reprimand them, as they had threatened.

They were intercepted by the police at Newark, N. J., yesterday, where they had taken refuge at the Y. W. C. A., and were brought back last night by Mr. Johnson.

"We were afraid we'd get caught if we went to the Y. W. C. A.," said Miss Johnson, "but we were tramping around Newark clad in knickerbockers and had no place to go."

As she told of the escapade Miss Johnson kept her big brown eyes turned toward the floor, and answered most questions with merely a shake of her bobbed hair.

"We were not homesick, most certainly not," she said. "We were bored with school, of course, but then there were a lot more reasons why we wanted to take the hike. If we had stopped to think and realized what worry we were going to cause our parents we would never have gone."

"We were headed for Detroit. Both of us have friends there. I don't know how we could have made it on the $7 that we had left between us, but we were on our way. We had $17 when we started from home."

"We had a lot of fun along the way, and were only stopped once. That was on the Roosevelt Boulevard, where a man stopped us and asked where we were from and where we were going. We told him we came from Baltimore and were going to New York to see some relatives."

"Then we walked and walked and walked. It seemed like a never-ending road, so finally we decided to hop on a bus. We did and finally landed in Newark at about 8 P. M. last night. We didn't want to go to the Y. W. C. A., but we knew of no place else to go."

Miss Johnson admitted reluctantly that she would start back to school tomorrow. She did not explain where they had acquired the khaki knickerbockers.

STEAL $415 IN JEWELRY
Robbers Jimmy Front Door of Hazel Avenue House

Robbers entered the home of H. M. Tenoyan, at 5150 Hazel avenue, during the absence of the family some time between 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon and 1 o'clock last night. They ransacked the house and stole cash and jewelry to the amount of $415.

Entrance to the house was obtained through the front door, which had been jammed open.

After-Dinner Tricks

No. 112—Tumbler Balanced on Card
To balance a playing card on a tumbler is a mysterious feat, but when you balance the card on edge and stand the tumbler on top of it you will create a sensation.

To prepare for the trick previously lay two cards face down and bend one of them backwards, lengthwise near the center. Lay this folded card face down on the other and glue one of the bent halves to the back of the ordinary card. When the double card is ready for use hold the loose flap pressed tightly to the card, and it will appear quite ordinary. By releasing the flap and bringing it back at right angles, the card may be placed anywhere with a tumbler on top of it.

STOKOWSKI TO BE HOST

Will Entertain at Dinner All Those Connected With Orchestra
Dr. Leopold Stokowski, conductor of the Philadelphia Orchestra, is to give a dinner to "his men" next Monday night at the Musical Arts Club, Eighteenth and Banstead streets. The dinner will afford Dr. Stokowski the opportunity he did not have, following the presentation of the Philadelphia Award of $10,000 last Thursday night, of giving credit for part of the signal honor bestowed upon him, to his associates.
