MRS. OBENCHAIN AWAITS NEW TRIAL Kennedy Murder Defendant Returns to Jail After Jury Disagrees, 9-3 MAJORITY VOTED GUILTY

Los Angeles, March 20.—In her cell in the county jail, again facing trial for the murder of J. Belton Kennedy, her sweetheart, Mrs. Madalynne Obenchain, in whose case a jury last night disagreed and was discharged, today was resolutely waiting for tomorrow when it is expected her second trial will be set.

The foreman reported the jury was "overly divided" and for each of the nine men and three women who composed it had been asked separately and had contradicted the foreman's report. Judge Sidney N. Reese discharged them.

The foreman, Frank W. Crockett, a retired attorney of Pasadena, told the court the decision was 9 to 3, and had no effect on the first to the fifth and final ballot.

Mrs. Obenchain, with a pale, drawn face, but otherwise displaying no sign of emotion, was in court when the jury reported. She quickly returned to her cell in the women's department of the jail, without giving out any interview, although it was reported she had been assigned to the department.

Judge Reese set the case for tomorrow, when, according to the District Attorney's office, a motion will be made for the setting of a new trial date.

Revenge Was Theory The revenge of a woman scorned was the motive of the prosecution sought to establish in the trial of Mrs. Obenchain. About two months before the murder of Kennedy, on August 5, 1927, according to testimony, Mrs. Obenchain left Chicago for San Francisco and told acquaintances she was to marry Kennedy in that city on June 28.

Kennedy failed to meet her, however, and she came to Los Angeles. There were frequent meetings between the couple during July and Mrs. Obenchain wrote some letters to Kennedy, introducing the subject of marriage. She expressed ardent affection, others deep resentment. On one occasion Mrs. Obenchain took Kennedy to a fortune teller whom she had asked to talk favorably to the young man, according to testimony.

Faces Second Trial MADALYNE OBENCHAIN

Owing to a disagreement of the jury which heard the evidence in the trial of Mrs. Obenchain, who was accused of the murder of J. Belton Kennedy, a former sweetheart, the District Attorney of Los Angeles County announced that he would move for another trial tomorrow.

In the choice of a director general for the Centennial Exposition, forty-six years ago, the men at the head of it recognized this. They selected General Joseph R. Hawley, then forty-seven years of age for the post.

It may be insisted that the Sesqui-Centennial is further advanced than was the centennial forty years before. It should be. We are half a century away from the centennial's beginnings. We are living in another age.

Brides, the exposition of 1929 will be the greatest the world has ever known.

That is unless, through selfish, dilatory, meddling methods the international exposition of 1929 is permitted to degenerate to the level of a red leonardo and peanut fair unworthy of the city, the country or the greatest event which it will commemorate.

And that is what it will come to unless the Board of Directors and the Mayor himself get right down to brass tacks.

U. S. RECOVERS $175,000 Two Arrested for Theft of Liberty Bonds From Treasury

Washington, March 20.—(By A. P.)—Recovery of all the Liberty bonds, amounting to $175,000, stolen from the branch office of the Treasury Department Saturday night, was announced today by the Secret Service.

T. O. Wamsley, formerly of Washington, was arrested in Charlottesville, Va., and charged with complicity with Charles A. Cleveland, an employee of the bond department of the Treasury, already in custody in connection with the robbery. Wamsley is being brought back to Washington, officials said, indicating that the round-up of suspects in the case had been completed.

Cleveland was arraigned before United States Commissioner McDonnell, pleaded not guilty, and was held in lieu of $10,000 bail. Wamsley, who reached Washington shortly before noon, will be arraigned later today.

Cleveland told the Commissioner that he wished to make no statement. He was charged with conspiracy to defraud the United States Government.

Barg Brothers, Cleaners and Dyers, deserve the reputation which they hold among their patrons, both men and women, for satisfactory and efficient service.

THE up-to-date housekeeper will not depend upon a home cleaning for her draperies, curtains or rugs this spring, for she will realize that even the most thorough home methods are inadequate as compared to the methods employed by a firm like that of Barg Brothers, 1113 Chestnut Street. Then, too, it is more economical to have your housefurnishings scientifically cleaned. Your rugs will wear longer when every bit of grit and dirt is removed and, what is more, they will keep fresh and new looking. You should also send your blankets to Barg's to be cleaned, for you know they lose their original soft texture when submitted to the wash tub.

A FUR SCARF always gives just the finishing touch to one's street costume, and I was particularly impressed by the display at the store of J. Habisreitinger, Furrier, 1911 Chestnut Street. The Baum Martens are exceptionally fine, lovely and soft in texture and of a beautiful shade of brown, hardly distinguishable from the exquisite Russian Sables, although there is no getting away from the fact that nothing quite equals real Russian Sable. Then there are the Hudson Bay Sables and the attractive Stone Martens, while Fisher is extremely smart this season, and you will find unusually fine skins at Habisreitinger's.

ALTHOUGH the happy little bride-to-be lived in California, her Engagement Ring had come from the store of Bailey, Banks & Biddle Company, for nowhere else could her fiancé obtain that most beautiful of all jewels, the Polished Girdle Diamond. The Polished Girdle Diamond is not only of superb quality but it is cut in such a way as to excel all others in beauty and brilliancy. Truly it seems as though Bailey's artists and craftsmen have surpassed themselves in designing and making appropriate settings for this exquisite gem. While a dainty Circle of Diamonds from Bailey's is without doubt the Wedding Ring.
