INFORMATION BOOTH AT M. E. CONFERENCE

Delegates to the conference seeking information get it from the pleasant young ladies at this booth. From left to right, those shown are the Rev. Dr. S. W. Gehring, the Misses Mabel E. Peoples, Isabel V. Echoff, Rae G. Jones and the Rev. Dr. W. A. Ford. At the bottom appears the Rev. Jacob N. Hughes, eighty-one years old, the oldest active member of the conference, who received today a gift came from the Methodist Historical Society.

Phila. Methodists To Discuss Rum Continued from Page One... The Rev. Dr. John G. Wilson, superintendent of the Northwest District, offered interesting church statistics for the last year. He said there were forty-one churches and thirty-nine Sunday schools with increased membership and twenty-one increased benevolent offerings. There had been 1400 conversions in the district, he reported, and 118 had received membership. In twenty-five churches, he reported, salaries to ministers had been increased.

Three Classes in Ministry... There are three classes in our ministry: First, the radical reactionists; the 'shavian' liberals; in biblical interpretation, they are mostly conservative; second, the moderate group are the ultra-progressives, and from the noise they make you would imagine there were a lot of them. It is strikingly highly perfumed company, made up largely of college professors and immature youths who lay claim to superior intelligence, and snore at most of the great doctrines which our church has cherished from the beginning. Last, there is a vast company representing the best brains and hearts of the Methodist Episcopal Church. It has 12,500 ministers; it has 6,000,000 of lay members. These millions accept the teachings of the Book about human depravity; the exceeding sinfulness of sin; the necessity of repentance.

Warning was given against the 'curse of the dance halls' by the Rev. E. A. E. Palmquist, executive secretary of the Philadelphia Conference of Churches. There are 4000 dance halls in Philadelphia, and 4000 patrolmen in Philadelphia. There should be a patrolman in every dance hall. But he is not all the patrolmen in the dance halls he should get us. The churches, therefore, should take it on themselves to officially to overcome the evils of the dance. The speaker said the city was growing faster in proportion than the Protestant denominations. The Rev. H. W. Jennings, president of the Philadelphia Federation of Churches, spoke on the Sesqui-Centennial Exhibition. There are main demands made in regard to it, he said. The first is that the exhibition shall not be held on Sunday. It is second that we should arrange to give adequate services for the benefit of the great crowds who will attend.

Denyer, March 22.—Kingdon Gould, son of George J. Gould, had been elected to the Board of Directors of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company at the annual meeting here. E. H. Weitzel, of Pueblo, Colo., general manager of the company, also was elected to the board. The resignation of Gould and Weitzel filled the vacancies caused by the resignation of David H. Taylor and Willard Ward, both of New York. Taylor was the Gould representative on the board.

WAITRESSES GREET VISITING PASTORS Refreshment and Other Booths Ready for M. E. Conference Delegates

BIBLE UNION GIVES LUNCH Postoffice, refreshment and information booths, book stores and numerous other conveniences for the benefit of the visiting ministers have appeared as if by magic in the Wharton Memorial Church, Fifty-fourth and Catherine streets, in which the 135th Philadelphia Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church is taking place. The Bible Union of the church today gave a luncheon in the basement for 500 delegates, who were served with excellent dishes such as mother used to make—and evidently still does—by a volunteer army recruited from the ladies of the church.

Under the direction of Mrs. Charles Moritz the smiling waitresses issued from the improvised kitchen bearing trays loaded with good things, while the rattle of dishes and the hum of conversation in the main room testified to the cordiality of their reception. Mrs. B. C. Trimble's cafeteria in the other half of the basement is doing a rushing business daily, many of the ministers who live within convenient distance preferring to have lunch there rather than to go home for it.
