Perhaps the Fleet Winds Have Blown March Away So Quickly—The Again, It May Be the Wanamaker Sales Make It Just Seem Short

But the Fact Remains There Are Only Five More Days for These Great Sales of China and Housewares

Five more days to select from tens upon tens of thousands of the best housewares at savings ranging from ten to fifty per cent.

Five more days to take your pick from the finest showing of china and cut glass we ever have put into a sale.

It has been a great March for great sales.

And it's going to remain good to the last day.

Although more people have been buying than ever before there is still no end of choosing.

Two mighty sales, providing almost everything for the housework, the pantry, the laundry, the kitchen, the dinner table, or the china closet.

Even a Rugged Mango Tree or a Lonely Looking live oak with gray moss drapery can become such as you may see on the shores of Lake Worth or Biscayne Bay, Florida, where scores of the wood ibis birds are roosting in the sun, in their white, glossy coats, with wings tipped with black.

A Hospitality Tree

Sometimes the long-legged, broad-winged white cranes and the queer blue herons take night lodgings on the friendly trees.

This would be a happier world if we were more hospitable.

One used to think of silk pongee in only one color, but not any more.

They are in six to twelve year sizes and are moderately priced at $11.50.

Paris Sends Spring Fashions for the Dearest Babies

Perhaps you don't think that fashions change in baby's world.

They not only change, but every year the little garments are daintier and more beautiful.

This Spring Paris has fairly outdone herself in the exquisitely fine materials, the hand embroidery, such as only Paris can do, and the delicate colorings of these adorable little dresses, hats, caps, wrappers, coach covers, pillow cases, bibs and so on.

One can get a bewitching cap for the new baby, every tiny stitch is handwork, for as little as $3.85, and on up to the finest hand-embroidered lingerie hat with ribbon streamers, fit for a princess, at $25.

Such dainty hand-made dresses were surely never seen!

They are for babies up to six years, and they are most elaborately hand embroidered, hand tucked and trimmed with real Valenciennes and Irish laces. From $4.50 to $85 are their prices.

Then there are wonderful negligees, chiffon over pale pink or blue silk, lovely coach covers and pillow cases, silk hood shawls, tiny booties, bibs—in fact, everything baby will need for a most elaborate trousseau.

The Finer Dark Blue Gowns That Women Find So Different

Each gown is full of fashion interest—and there are hardly two gowns alike.

Here is one with nothing but broad bands composed of tiny tucks of the material and a shining black girde; another—a polonaise style—has a wide side frill and deep cuffs of embroidered cream-colored batiste; a third has a back wholly of tucks; a fourth has a heavily jeweled belt holding up its side draperies.

There are a good many polonaise designs with draperies charmingly tucked up at the side under the bead motives, which Paris favors so highly; and there are sleeves of all sorts from cap to full length, and always interesting; there is novel and delightful decoration of beads.

In some instances where the interest is given by masses of tucks the tucks are put in with gold or silver thread.

Prices are $50 to $155.
