

OVERFIGHT SEEN OVER MINERS' PAY

No Agreement Expected Until Nation Begins to Feel Pinch of Shortage

WORK TO STOP TOMORROW

By the Associated Press
New York, March 30.—The hush of silence seemed today to be already descending upon the unionized coal industry as the nation and the anthracite miners and operators' sub-committee on wage contract negotiations abandoned all hope of halting the strike set for April 1, and intrenched themselves for a long struggle over the conference table. Strike notices have been posted in both the bituminous and anthracite fields, Philip Murray, vice president of the United Mine Workers, America, announced. Union miners, 595,000 strong, will lay down their tools at midnight tomorrow, when their present working contract with the operators will expire, he said.

While expressing a hope for speedy negotiation of a new contract for the anthracite workers, neither miners nor operators would promise today that an agreement would be reached before the Nation began to feel the pinch of a coal shortage.

We have been asked to substantiate our demands for higher wages and we must have time to do so," said labor members of the Committee of Eight.

Mass of Data to Be Digested
With these comments they resumed discussion of the mass of data on costs of living, wage increases, taxes on the industry, mechanical production and market profits, on which the union men base their nineteen demands. Among these are the increasing demand for a 20 per cent increase to contract laborers; a minimum of $5.20 a day for unskilled day laborers; the check-off system by which the mine operator collects the workers' union dues; and a uniform wage scale for machine operators.

To these demands the operators have thus far made but one answer—"wages and we must have time to do so," said labor members of the Committee of Eight.

What percentage of reduction they will demand, the operators have not yet revealed.

Wages Must Be Lowered
"Wages in other industries have decreased," said S. D. Warriner, speaker for the operators. "A corresponding reduction must take place in the mines. Lower costs of living warrant it; the inability of the public to buy coal at present prices demands that it be sold more cheaply. To cut the cost of production, increase the market for coal, provide more steady work for the miner at a reduced scale and thereby help relieve the prevailing industrial depression."

To this Philip Murray, vice president of the United Mine Workers of America, has replied that the cost of production in the coal industry is due to wasteful methods of production, excessive profits, violation of the laws of supply and demand, and that costs of living in the mine areas have advanced, while wages remained stationary.

Indianapolis, March 30.—John L. Lewis, international president, and William E. Green, secretary-treasurer, of the United Mine Workers of America, held a press conference at their headquarters here to assume general supervision of the nation-wide coal strike.

Once started, the strike is expected to continue automatically, with district union officials throughout the coal fields conferring by wire with the international officers here, miners said.

Any unexpected developments, they added, may result in a call for a meeting of the union's General Policy Committee and its issuance of circulars informing the miners of the progress of the strike.

MINERS' WAGES FOUND UNDER LIVING COST

By the Associated Press
Washington, March 30.—The cost of living in many coal mining centers is greater than the earnings of the miners, Elizabeth Stewart, Commissioner of Statistics of the Department of Labor, told the House Labor Committee at a hearing today on the coal situation, providing for the appointment by the President of the commission to investigate the coal industry.

Mr. Stewart said department agents were instructed to obtain data from twenty-five families in a number of towns in Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania and West Virginia, and their report for the first time showed that while the average pay of the miner was $1500, the average cost of living was $1700. In the same towns the man in other trades earned an average of $1000 and paid $1040 to live.

Taking one union mine in Illinois, Mr. Stewart said it cost $1.63 to get out a ton of coal, of which the miner received $1.05. The cost at one non-union mine in Pennsylvania, he added, was $1.34 and the miner got sixty-one cents. Members of the committee wanted to know how much the operator received for the coal.

Explaining that the 2500 mines reporting weekly to the Geological Survey do not include all in operation, Mr. Stewart said: "Nobody knows how many mines there are. The number reporting only touch the edge."

LAWRENCE STRIKE GROWING

18,000 Workers Idle—Unions Expect Complete Tie-Up Monday
Lawrence, Mass., March 30.—(By A. P.)—The strike of cotton mill operators here had advanced so far today that it was estimated not more than 8000 were working. When the week closed Saturday there were about 21,000 on the payroll.

Of the idle ones 7000 went workless by the shutdown of the Arlington mills, announced as due to poor business conditions, but characterized by unions as a lockout. The streets of the city were increased daily since the first walkouts of Monday, was augmented today on all sides.

"At this rate no mill will be able to open its gates Monday morning," one union leader said.

Lock Haven, Pa., March 30.—Ex-Senator George W. Mason died last night. He was aged sixty-eight years, a thirty-second degree Mason, and had conducted a drug store here for fifty years.

ONLY ONE GOSPEL, FRIENDS ARE TOLD

So Called "Social Gospel" Not a Good Thing, Says William
Bishop in Sermon

MEETINGS FOR DEVOTION

The Philadelphia Friends' Yearly Meeting today held devotional meetings at the meeting house, Twelfth street below Market streets.

William Bishop, of Morrisville, urged a greater realization of the privilege of life given by God, Charles Evans, of this city, said that there was no good thing as a so-called "social gospel." There is only one Gospel, he said, to Christianize the community. He said every man, woman and child should be ready to do good works. He also said the law of Christ is as eternal as the law of gravity.

David M. Edwards, president of Earlham College, Richmond, Ind., stated that there is no inconsistency between the idea of Jesus as a man of sorrows and a man of firmness and decision. Anna Whitcomb, of England, said that although simplicity and faithfulness cause riches and increase, the opportunity for redemptive work which this brings must not be forgotten.

The evening meeting, held at Twelfth street below Market, was addressed by Dr. Frank H. Akagi, New York, and Roy H. Akagi, who spoke on "The Christian Movement in Japan From the Japanese Viewpoint."

Last evening's meeting of the Foreign Missionary Association of Friends was presided over by C. Walter Burton, Moorestown, N. J.

Dr. Padelford spoke of Christian obligations in China. The country, he said, is one of age-old beliefs, and the people are able to assimilate and make Chinese anything that comes their way. As the student class is the one that controls China's destiny, the Christian challenge is to that class, the speaker said.

Mr. Akagi, a native of Tokio, at present in the graduate school of the University of Pennsylvania, spoke briefly on his views of the Christian movement in Japan.

In forceful English, Mr. Akagi said industry is outstripping Christianity in Japan. "Modern smokestacks are being built than churches," he declared. His conclusion, in line with that of the previous speaker, was that Christian education of the youth of Japan is persistently conducted, would automatically solve the Japanese question on the Pacific Coast.

Today the business session is postponed until the executive officers of the annual Peace Meeting, one of the notable events of the whole week, will meet at the Executive Office of the Arch streets. Paul Jones, of the Fellowship of Reconciliation, will speak on "The Washington Conference and Peace," and Frederick J. Libby, of "The Work Before Us."

LEGION RAPS GOV. BLAINE FOR FAVOR TO SOCIALIST

Declares Lecture Would Desecrate
Capitol of Wisconsin
Madison, Wis., March 30.—(By A. P.)—A resolution condemning Governor Blaine for granting Mrs. Kate Richards O'Hara, Socialist lecturer, permission to speak in the State Capitol tonight, was adopted by the executive committee of the local post of the American Legion. A near-riot broke out at a protest meeting of the Legion and other patriotic and civic organizations last night.

When Volz referred to the American Legion as a "political football" there was a rush for the platform. Volz was jostled about and knocked down before order was restored.

The resolution declared it a desecration "that the building, wherein are enshrined the colors and preserved the casualty lists of Wisconsin regiments should now become the forum of the enemy."

PLAN TO BUY EMBASSIES

U. S. Commission Considers Proposal to Purchase Berlin Building
Washington, March 30.—(By A. P.)—Purchase of buildings for permanent American embassies in Paris and Berlin and other foreign capitals was considered today by the special commission consisting of Secretary Hughes, Secretary Mellon and the chairman and ranking Democratic members of the Senate and House Foreign Committees.

Secretary Hughes was represented today by Assistant Secretary Hils. The plan was to purchase a building of expenditure of $300,000 for new embassy and legation buildings and has under consideration an advantageous proposal for a Berlin embassy was final decision, however, was reached at today's meeting.

CORSAGES MORE DARING

Paris Summer Styles Call for Filmy, Clinging Gowns
Special Cable Dispatch, Copyright, 1932
Paris, March 30.—Corsets are returning, owing to the smart summer styles which call for light, clinging materials draped over the body and stretched tightly over the bust, abdomen and hips.

"Young, slender women may continue to dispense with corsets, but any one inclined to be fleshy must wear a knitted elastic restraint or girder and stout persons must revert to the old-fashioned stays," said Jean Patou, a dressmaker. "Corsets are becoming more and more daring, not in what is actually revealed through a decollete, but what is suggested by stretching filmy materials mold-like over the busts and draping them around the hips."

AMUNDSEN IN TEST FLIGHT

Discoverer of South Pole Going
From N. Y. to Washington
New York, March 30.—(By A. P.)—Captain Rold Amundsen, discoverer of the South Pole, hopped off for Washington at 12:12 P. M. today in the all-metal monoplane which he will take with him when he starts from Seattle, June 1, to drift across the North Pole in his vessel Maude.

Today's flight was made both as a test of the ship and in order to permit the explorer to confer with Government officials regarding plans for his Polar expedition.

BRIDGE SECTIONS WILL BE REMOVED SOON

The first section, weighing about 900 tons, will be taken from the South Street Bridge piers in a few days in one piece. The new bridge will be started as soon as the old one is cleared away.

19 P. R. T. SKIP-STOPS ABOLISHED BY P. S. C.

Among Them Were Two at 28th and 30th Streets and Girard Ave.

BUSINESS MEN COMPLAINED

By a Staff Correspondent
Harrisburg, Pa., March 30.—Nineteen P. R. T. skip stops were ordered abolished today by the Public Service Commission and car stops ordered restored.

Among the stops ordered restored are Fortieth and Parrish streets and Fortieth and Parrish streets. Skip stops at these points were complained of by the West Philadelphia Hospital for Women.

A stop was ordered restored at Twenty-eighth street and Girard avenue. Complainants against the skip stop at that point were Richard Weglin, president of Council, and the Northwest Business Men's Association.

Other skip stops abolished are: Twenty-sixth street and Columbia avenue; Twenty-fourth street and Columbia avenue; Eighth and Parrish; Seventh and Parrish; Franklin and Parrish; Fifty-third and Market; Twelfth and Moore; G street and Allegheny avenue; Butler street and Germantown avenue; Forty-eighth street and Chester avenue; Sixty-second street and Haverford avenue; Twenty-sixth street and Ridge avenue; Oxford street and Ridge avenue; Fifth and Somerset.

Two women figured as complainants. Ida Turner complained of the skip-stop at Forty-eighth street and Chester avenue. She considered it a nuisance. Foley of the skip-stop at Forty-sixth street and Chester avenue.

MAYOR HAS NEW PROPOSAL ON 'L'

Hope to Reach Agreement on Frankford Line on Another

"We did quite a bit of shopping," she said. "He bought me a beautiful evening gown. He certainly was splendid to me. It was our honeymoon, so I kept all the programs and tickets to the shows we went to see. I remember everything about that trip."

Her counsel then interrupted. "Up to then, Miss Stone, you were a straightforward, honorable Southern girl."

"Yes, I was," the witness replied, with a fresh flow of tears. "You considered it your honeymoon?"

"It was my honeymoon," she then testified and Kinkaid had returned to Atlantic City, this time in a motor car.

Three days later Kinkaid left for Washington, saying he had a case there, and Miss Stone said she accompanied him as far as Philadelphia, then continuing to Cincinnati.

WAS CAUTIONED TO SILENCE

She testified Kinkaid told her to stay at the nurses' home and say nothing about her marriage until he returned. In the fall, she said, she found she was going to have a child and Kinkaid took her to the Dewey Apartments in Atlantic City, where she said she was introduced as Mrs. Kinkaid.

About September 10, 1918, she said, she had to move, because Kinkaid said a "woman of the underworld" was coming from Cincinnati to look for him. In reply to a question by her attorney, she said Kinkaid told her the woman was Marie Louise Gormley, who, the defense contends, became Mrs. Kinkaid.

The widow, a close spectator at the trial, grinned as if at a good joke when this testimony was given.

ORIGINAL DU PONT POWDER -FACTORIES ARE ABANDONED

Site of Mills Since 1803 Given Up
Because of City's Growth
Wilmington, Del., March 30.—The Du Ponts have abandoned their original mills for the manufacture of explosives, it was announced today by the company, when the equipment of the former plant have been operated in connection with the plant was offered at public auction.

These works are located on the Brandywine River, just north of Wilmington. They were established by Euthene du Pont, in 1803, shortly after he came over from France, and have been in continual operation up to this time.

However, because of the encroachment of the city on the yards the company has for several years endeavored to reduce their operation to a minimum.

Enough influence to straighten the whole matter out.

She said she believed him, and that they then went to the Marlborough-Blenheim and registered as Mr. and Mrs. Ellis G. Kinkaid, of Cincinnati. Then she described her "honeymoon" in Atlantic City and New York, where, she said, they stayed at the Park Avenue Hotel.

Once, she said, Kinkaid gave her a wrist watch, with "E" and "G" entwined. In New York, she said, they had a gala time, staying out "real late" nights.

SMALL NATIONS ALSO ASK FOR SLICE OF GERMAN PIE

Want Agreement Similar to Treaty of Wiesbaden
Paris, March 30.—(By A. P.)—Delegates from Brazil, Rumania, Greece, Portugal, Czechoslovakia, Poland and other countries not represented at the recent conference of allied finance ministers in Paris met today under the presidency of Roland W. Boyden, American unofficial representative on the reparations commission. They expressed a desire that the reparations be fixed as soon as possible.

The delegates also decided to ask the reparations commission to determine within what limits it would be possible for those countries to enter into agreements with Germany for payments in kind, similar to the payments made last year by France and Germany.

Mr. Boyden agreed to present these requests to the reparations commission at its next meeting.

BURCH JUROR SCENTS PLOT

Girl Alleges Venire Is Being Tampered With
Los Angeles, March 30.—Prospective jurors in the trial for murder of Arthur C. Burch yesterday afternoon told the court that persons claiming to represent the District Attorney's office had attempted to get information of their attitude concerning the case.

Miss Schenck, chief defense counsel, said she could not be a "fair juror" because a man representing himself to be a relative of the District Attorney called at her home with reference to the case.

Schenck said if it was discovered that jurors had been "tampered with" he would challenge the entire panel.

HOCH LINE PIPED LIQUOR INTO CAFE

Dry Agents Say John Martin
Had Special Service for Thirsty Guests

COURT LIKE OLD-TIME BAR

A pipe line from cellar to bar as the medium through which customers were sure of a never failing supply of hooch is the latest method of keeping the sober side of the bar cleared of suspicious evidence.

Charges that John Martin, proprietor of a cafe at 1028 Sanson street, used that means to serve his patrons, were brought against him today by several special agents testifying before Judge Thompson in Federal Court.

Martin and his bartender, Theodore Moolinski, were present to answer to charges. It was a wet morning in court, with more half pints on hips than have been seen since New Year's Day. Each special agent, and there were six of them, produced his own flask, which he declared he had obtained in a visit to the cafe last fall. In addition they testified that they had bought drinks at fifty cents each. They found no fault, however, with the quality.

Nearly Spills "Evidence"

Gaups were audible as Agent Mellon brought in a startling array of liquors, including whiskey, gin, champagne and port. As he made his charges he placed a half pint before him on the table to lend vigor to his denunciation. A ripple of dismay surged through the onlookers as he tipped the bottle during his excitement and seized it just before it was dashed to the floor.

Mellon said that the pipe line was the only source from which the wet hooch poured in great plenty in the cafe. He testified that they had collected also fourteen quarts of whiskey, nineteen of champagne, two of gin and a keg of port.

Denies Selling Liquor

Martin testified that the champagne belonged to his wife and that liquor had never been sold at his bar. He admitted he kept a small quantity in the house for medicinal purposes and that one bottle rested behind the bar, in order that he might have a drink when he wanted it.

Character witnesses backed up the proprietor. They had never seen a drink served in his place, they said.

ULSTER MAN TAKEN AWAY AND KILLED

Unemployed Worker Apparently Marked for Execution
by Foes

LEADERS CONFER AGAIN

By the Associated Press
Bellevue, March 30.—The death of Samuel Mallen, whose body was found in the White Rock road yesterday, appears to have been in the nature of an execution. It is learned that he was taken from a group of men who had been barred from their places of work and who were awaiting their unemployment doles, and was escorted to the place where his body was afterward discovered.

During the afternoon his worker's card, the envelope of which should have contained the unemployment allowance, was pushed under the door of his home. It was found by his wife, who was speculating on the peculiar occurrence when the police brought news of her husband's fate.

James Lyle, of Dromore, was shot through the chest while walking in Joy street in the Sinn Fein district of Belfast, today.

London, March 30.—(By A. P.)—Leading representatives of the British, Provisional Irish Free State and Ulster Governments gathered today to consider proposals advanced yesterday at the initial session of the conference called to consider negotiating Ireland.

Those meeting this morning were: Winston Spencer Churchill, Secretary for Colonies (chairman); Sir Laming W. G. Allenby, Secretary for War; Michael Collins, head of the Provisional Free State Government; Arthur Griffith, president of the Dail Eireann; and James Craig, of Ulster, and the Marquis of Londonderry, Minister of Education in the Northern Government.

That the negotiations were proceeding "every second" was the only authoritative word given out at the conference. Mr. Churchill again presided.

It was expected that a plenary meeting of the conference would be called later in the day.

Dublin, March 30.—(By A. P.)—The raiders who wrecked the plant of the Freeman's Journal early today numbered about fifty, and were not disguised.

They cut the telephone wires and held up the staff at revolver point, confining them in a room while they smashed the three gasoline tanks on the floors and stairs and set fire to the building. The plant's supply of news print paper suffered principally from the fire.

The raid is believed to have been a sequel to the publication by the newspaper of a report of the proceedings at the secret convention of the De Valera section of the Irish Republican Army on Sunday.

A large news press that had been set up by the newspaper was not injured, apparently having been overlooked by the incendiaries.

The paper is opposite the barracks of the Metropolitan Police. Fifty men lined up along the wall on the barracks side of the street while about five hundred men entered the office. The gang entered the room of Harry Moore, the managing editor of the paper. One man put a gun to Moore's stomach with one hand and held him with the other.

The Freeman's Journal appeared this morning in the shape of a small handbill, which was placarded all over the city. It contained a sensational account of the attack, expressed defiance of those who made it, and asserted it would continue to appear in some form or other, and say what it chose "in exposing, in a way which would be of benefit to the Irish people."

Republican Army men, armed with revolvers, went about the city tearing down the editorial wherever it was posted.

DIVORCES LOWELL SHERMAN

Actor Struck Her, Used Abusive
Language, Wife Says
Providence, R. I., March 30.—Evelyn Booth Sherman, wife of Lowell Sherman, well-known actor, was granted a divorce by Judge Barrows, in Superior Court yesterday, on the grounds of extreme cruelty and neglect to provide.

They have no children. She was given permission to resume her maiden name. Counsel for the petitioner announced alimony was permanently waived.

Mrs. Sherman in her deposition deposed that she was twenty-eight, and that she lived with her husband in Providence. She stated Lowell Sherman had lived continuously in Providence for the last fourteen years, and that she was married to him March 11, 1916. She said he struck her and left black and blue marks on her body; that he threw things at her, used abusive language and made life almost unbearable for her.
