

A NINETY-TON LIFT. An American Bridge Company's derrick took this section of the old South Street Bridge from its piers and lowered it to the boats, where it will be broken up.

ON HIS WAY DOWN. The jockey struck earth just a moment after the camera clicked, at the Hunters' Steeplechase, Sandown, England. Was he hurt? No! He remounted and continued the race. Wide World

CAN YOU RECALL THIS BIT OF OLD PHILADELPHIA?

A WEST PHILADELPHIA INN. The Mount Moriah Hotel stood in what was known as Mount Moriah lane. The same spot is now the northeast corner of Sixty-second street and Woodland avenue. This view was taken in 1898. At present modern houses cover the spot. Mrs. Louise Woessner, 6821 Woodland avenue, wife of the inn proprietor, sent us the photograph. If you have any old-Philadelphia photographs, send them to the EVENING PUBLIC LEDGER.

BOSTON AND NEW YORK POLO PLAYERS. Miss Polly Frost (left), of New York, and Miss Elizabeth Hammond, of Boston, stop for a chat. They were practicing polo at Santa Barbara. Underwood & Underwood

DO YOU KNOW THIS YOUNG LADY? She is Anita Stewart. Yes, you've often seen her on the motion-picture screen. Her pet, an English bulldog, is King Casey. Underwood & Underwood

MRS. N. HAMILTON DALTON, MADAME J. C. A. EVERWIJN. New portrait of the wife of Netherlands, Minister to the United States. Harris & Ewing

SNAPPY GOING. Juniors of Eton College going over high hurdles in neat unison, in English school town.

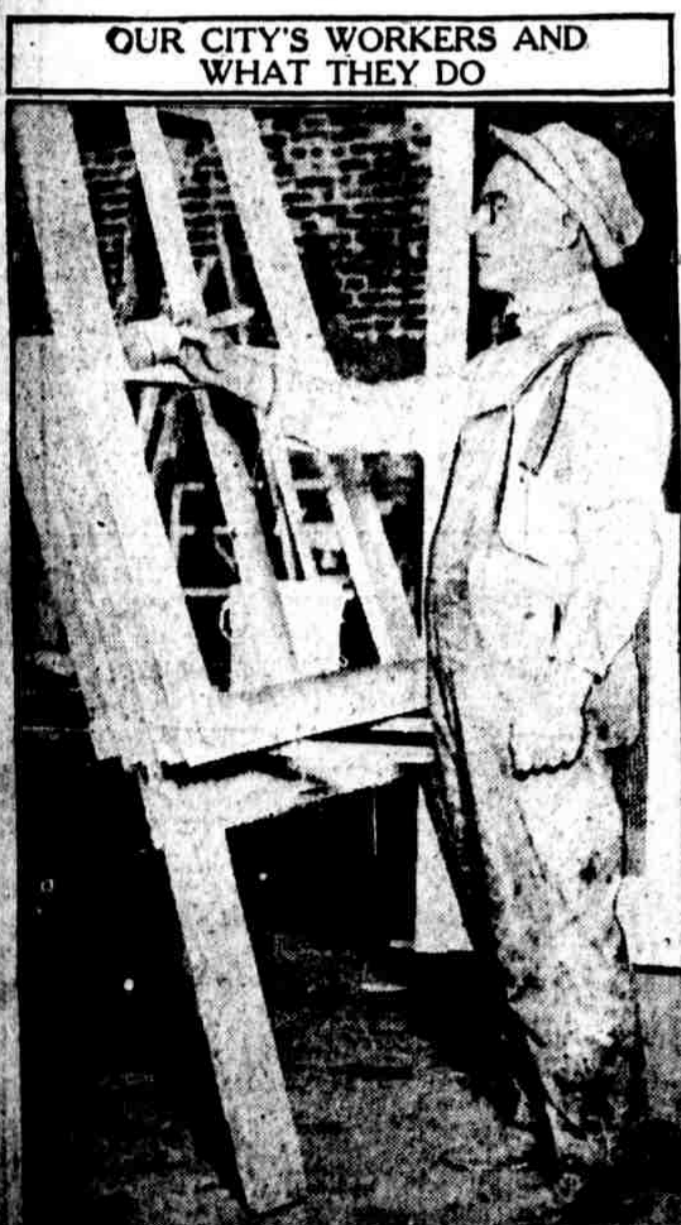

FRANK S. VAN HART (left), new Mayor of Camden. He is receiving the key of office from Charles H. Ellis, Mayor of the New Jersey city for many years. The new Mayor took office yesterday.

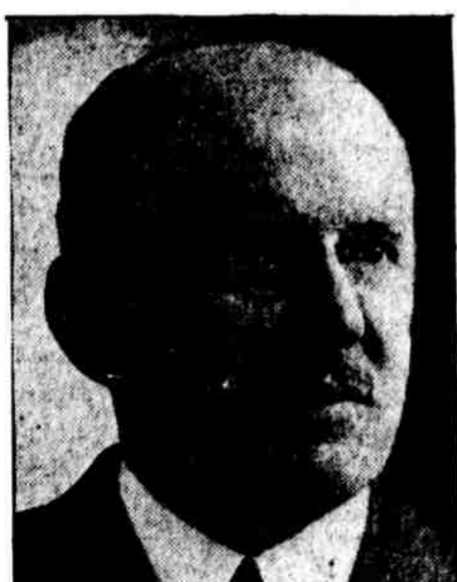

ON THE BOARDWALK. Miss Kitty Smith, well-known in Philadelphia society, snapped in Atlantic City, A. S.

PENN'S 150-POUND VARSITY CREW IN ACTION. They were "going good" when snapped on the Schuylkill, with the Spring Garden Street Bridge and the Aquarium as a background.

OUR CITY'S WORKERS AND WHAT THEY DO

AGNEW T. DICE, president (left), and F. M. Falch, general manager, of the Philadelphia and Reading Railway, leave today for Rome, to attend the International Railway Congress.

FRANK TOOMEY, INC., EMPLOYEES SERVE AS LIM'RICK JURY. Bottom row, left to right, Jane Mahon, Catherine Dean and Anna Welden. Top row, C. Spain, Frank Battista, Paul Parsons, Joseph Kelly, H. Platt, Roy Dobarty, T. Kelly and William Fields.

"BIG BILL" EDWARDS, former Commissioner of Port of New York and Princeton football star, at Atlantic City.

TREASURER. M. C. Komerowski, of the Richmond Trust Company, 2728 East Allegheny avenue. He lives at 4611 Adams street. Motoring and golf are his hobbies.

JAMES BARRETT, 2214 North Ninth street, paints from a screen a day at the shop of Thomas J. Kelly, 2214 Market street.