WHAT a beautiful time Elizabeth Atterbury will have this spring! She is going with her mother and stepfather to Europe this month, and will buy a whole lot of lovely French frocks, I am sure, for her debutante season next year. Elizabeth is the daughter next year. Elizabeth is the daughter of Mrs. Atterbury by her marriage to Malcolm MacLeod. She has two brothers, Malcolm and Harry, who have also been given the Atterbury name, I understand. There is a little Atterbury

Mrs. Atterbury was Miss Arminia Rosengarten. She is the youngest daughter of the late Mr. Harry Rosen-garten and Mrs. Rosengarten, of 325 South Seventeenth street. Mrs. Lewis Nellson, who was Miss Clara Rosen-

Nellson, who was Miss Clara Rosengarten, is an elder sister.

Elizabeth is a very good-looking girl and has a great deal of style. She is fair and has a quantity of light brown curly hair. She is vivacious and witty, and every one likes her. She'll be much entertained, for she has many relations, and every one will want to give her a good time.

EVERYTHING seems to be changwhen you never heard of a wedding in Lent, and here we have had three in succession. But they have not been large affairs. There have been only a few in attendance, as in the Paine wedding in New York Saturday, the Wood-Thompson wedding in Manila yesterday and the Pepper-Drayton marriage today.

It seems as if it must be rather lonely for Katherine Thompson to have been

It seems as if it must be rather lonely for Katherine Thompson to have been married out there so far from members of her own family. But it was certainly wiser when such distances separated her from her own, and when it would mean another long journey back here. Beaides, Lieutenant Wood, I hear, could not get a long-enough leave for that.

for that.

Today's wedding will be a very quiet and simple one. Only the two immediate families and a very few friends.

Mrs. Drayton is one of the most population. ular of the younger matrons. She has scores of friends, and Dr. Pepper is immensely liked as well. I hear they will live at Elkins Park most of the

EVERY ONE is becoming interested in the Devon Country Fair already. and I hear that Mrs. Archibald Barklie has given her home. Inver House, at Wayne, to the Cafeteria Committee of the fair next Thursday afternoon for a large card party. Mrs. George B. Evans is in charge of the affair. That seems to be the thing to do now if you are going to have a big charity ben-eft of some kind. You first give small entertainments like card parties to raise funds for the expenses of your depart-ment and then you can consider all you take in on the day of the benefit itself as clear profit. Mrs. Paul Thompson gave a card party last week at the Green Hill Farms for her cake and candy table at the Devon Show, and I hear she did wonderfully well. Mrs. Archi-bald Barkile is to be head of the fair, as usual, and about 300 other women of the Main Line who are provinger. of the Main Line who are prominent in all social and civic affairs are actively AUNTIE has a motor which is the joy of her life as well as a source of some worry, for be it known there are abroad bad people who sometimes steal cars and who are more apt to take a chance on holding up a woman thun a man, going on the theory that a woman is defenseless. Well, Danny had often heard auntie say she hoped the car would not be stolen, and the other day she received a letter from this five-year-old nephew which read: "Dear Auntie: I pray God every day not to let any bad men take your car. I want you to know this. Danny." And auntie has felt safe ever since. Is there any-thing more wonderful than the unques-tioning faith of a little child? NANCY WYNNE.
