

Theatrical Billboard for the Coming Week

NEW ATTRACTIONS
WALNUT—"Angel Face," Victor Herbert opera, returning for second visit, with cast headed by John E. Young and Marguerite Zender.
BROAD—"King Lear," presented by Robert B. Mantell company Monday night, in connection with performance of all the plays given the first week.
SHOWS THAT REMAIN
LYRIC—"The Circle," W. Somerset Maugham comedy of manners, with John Drew and Mrs. Leslie Carter, and supporting ensemble, including Ernest Lawford and John Halliday.
ADELPHI—"Lilliom," Theatre Guild production of Franz Schullkraut, with a cast headed by Joseph Schildkraut and Eva La Gallienne.
GARRETT—"The O'Brien Girl," last weeks announced for this George M. Cohan musical comedy.
FOURTH—"Tip-Top," Gillingham production, with Fred Stone, supported by Duncan Sisters, Six Brown Brothers and London Palace Girls; final week.
VAUDEVILLE
F. KEITH'S—Bill is headed by Tom Young, well-known comedian, in sketch called "Memories," which mingles humor and pathos, and in which "Mac" has a part. Other sketches by Riggs and Katherine Wittich, in "dance idylls"; Ruth Royce, a Philadelphia girl, sings "The Girl Who Said 'I Do'"; musical novelty; Douglas Leavitt and Ruth Marlockwood, comedy sketch, supported by big cast; Van and Tyson, dancing, and others.
CHESTNUT STREET OPERA HOUSE—"Midnight Rounders," cameo revue, companion production to "Whirl of New York" and "The Promenaders," condensed version of show which played on Century Roof in New York City, including Jane Green and Jimmy Blyler, Harry Hines, Sam Heath, Helen Ely Irving, O'Hay, Alice Richter, John Keller and the Cleveland Bronner Ballet.
GLOBE—"Carnival of Venice," elaborate sketch with music, presented by Moe Donatelli, with a company of artists; headline: also, Earl Cavannah, popular comedian, in musical sketch; Lane and Harper, comedy duo; Mr. O'Brien and Havel, funny skit; Myers, Cuneo and Bliss, melodies and nonsense; Mr. and Mrs. Mel, burlesque; Barton and Sparling, clever entertainers; others.
ALLEGHENY—Senator Murphy, telling his inimitable stories, in film feature, "School Days," childhood classic, with Wesley Barry; Jack Roof, comedian and entertainer, songs, fun and dances; Archer and Heaton, comedy; Exposition Four, harmony; Elmira and company, novelty, and others.
BROADWAY—Entire week, "School Days," film feature of childhood classic, with Wesley Barry, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday; Yung Wang Troupe, Chinese variety, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday; James Bradbury, Sr. and Jr., assisted by company, in sketch; Fred Alden, Monologist and singer; others, Thursday and Saturday; "Pardon Me," musical "cocktail," and big supper.
CROSS BROS.—Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, De Mario Five, musical artists, in elaborate entertainment; also, Alan and Harvey, comedy sketch; Four Hickey Girls, songs and dances; Stan Stanley, "Tartan and Bell, wheel experts, and others, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, bill is headed by "The Privates," with cast of twenty-five people.
WILLIAM PENN.—Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, "School Days," film feature of juvenile classic, with Wesley Barry; also, Jean Granes, soprano, assisted by her brother, in "The Story of the World and All New This Trip"; Percy Chapman and Elsie King, musical comedy favorites, in songs, music and fun, Thursday, Friday and Saturday; Dick Thomas and players, in "The New Leader," comedy, and others.
FAY'S—Cantwell and Walker, comedy, singing and dancing; Thomas Potter Dunne, monologist and singer; "The Diggers," singing and dancing revue; Moore and Elliott, in comedy sketch, "A Baby Grand"; Andy and Louise Barlow, songs and acrobatic dancing; Stanley Brothers, ring and wire act; other acts; film feature, "Island Wives," with Corinne Griffith.
NIXON'S GRAND—Jay Dillon and Betty Parker, musical comedy, in "The Nieces of Now"; Four Entertainers, vocalists; Charles Graepwin's playlet, "The Vacation"; novelty; George Lieb and company, in comedy variety sketch; George and Nelson, in comedy musical sketch with songs; also, film comedy, "High and Dizzy," with Harold Lloyd, and other pictures.
BULESQUE
KEYSTONE—J. Mack, character artist, and company in extravaganza, "Mother Goose," also, Will Morris, in "Just Wheel"; "The New Novelty"; George Lieb and company, in comedy variety sketch; George and Nelson, in comedy musical sketch with songs; also, film comedy, "High and Dizzy," with Harold Lloyd, and other pictures.
ALHAMBRA—All week, the Gennaro Granes Dramatic Company, presenting dramatic productions in Italian, with vocal concert preceding Monday, "Motherless," with Giuseppe Milano as Mar; Tuesday, "An Innocent Girl," with George Granes, and others.
CASINO—Step lively girls, elaborate and attractive musical show, with cast headed by Evelyn Cunningham and Billy Gilbert, and containing also, Patti Moore, Harry Kelly, Gene Moran, Charles Kemper and Jess Weiss.
PHILADELPHIA—"Record Breakers," Jack Reed's well-known organization, with a big company headed by himself, assisted by Mabel Howard, Pauline Hall, Josie West, and many others.
MINSTRELS
DUMONT—"The Wild Men of Quakerstown," with Charles Gordon and John Lemons leading the fun-making, held over next week; also, the "Convention of Sisters," with Hilda Lee and "Our New Director," the transit mix-up; others.
Maude Odell's Career
Maude Odell, who plays the role of Mrs. Muskett in the Franz Molnar fantastic comedy now playing at the Adelphi Theatre, has always been identified with the better things of the theatre. Charles Frohman first engaged her because of her resemblance to Georgia Cavan, whom she understood and so became a member of the Lyceum Theatre Stock Company. Her first leading part was with James K. Hackett in "The Prisoner of Zenda," and later she played for eighty-three weeks with the Castle Square Stock Company in Boston. Other successes in which she has played include: "King Dodo," "The Girl from Ipanema," "Nobody Home," "Maytime," "Little Boy Blue," "The Debutante," "Anthrax," "Love Watches" and "The Amosons."

Stage Family is Real One
Unlike the majority of "brother" and "sister" teams on the stage where the relationship is merely for professional purposes, the Six Brown Brothers, now appearing with Fred Stone in "Tip-Top" at the Forrest Theatre, can lay claim to genuine bonds of kinship as well as on their names. Their names are Thomas, Frederick, William, Vernon and Alfred. A sixth brother, Percy, died of influenza in Chicago, and his place was taken by an outsider, Harry Brown.

Shubert Dark—Then "Bombo"
The Shubert Theatre will be dark next week, but will reopen Monday, April 17, with Al Joison's latest revue, "Bombo." Stage carpenters, electricians and other workmen will begin laying out the stage of the theatre for the big scenic effects in "Bombo" Monday morning, and will continue it throughout the week. "Bombo" has book and lyrics by Harold Atteridge, score by Sigmund Romberg. J. C. Huffman staged the production, Allan K. Foster is responsible for the dances and ensembles and Watson Barratt has designed the scenes.
