HELD IN GIRL'S DEATH

Charged With Murder of Woman on April 1

Harry J. Warren, charged with the murder of Bessie May Dorn, in a rooming house at 717 North Eleventh street. April 1, was held for the action of the Coroner.

Miss Smith said that she had gone to the house to see a girl friend, and while waiting for her went to the kitchen to see Mrs. Dorn. She said that she did not see Warren, but all of a sudden heard a shot, followed by a man's voice that said. "Take that."

"Then I started to run," said Marie, "and while I was running from the room I heard two more shots, but I did not know that I was shot until and plainly back over her forehead.
