UMAN SCREAMS AND BURGLARS FLEE

Escape From Home of Mrs. Ora Walker, 4740 Sansom St., as Shots Whiz

BLUECOATS FIRE ON AUTO

Lusty screams from Mrs. Ora Waler frightened off three burglars who ade elaborate preparations to rob her home at 4740 Sansom street, shortly after 4 o'clock this morning. The jumped into an automobile and exaped amid a volley of shots from two

Mrs. Walker heard a clicking noise

Mrs. Walker heard a clicking noise and thought it was due to rain. She store and going to the window found the morning clear. The noise continged and then she concluded that burders had entered the house.

She went into the hallway on the second floor and closed the doors of the rooms of her three children. While he was in the hall the electric light was suddenly turned on. This was followed by the noise of clinking silverwire on the first floor.

Mrs. Walker, undaunted by the presuce of the burglars peered over the bunder. A man well dressed was standing near the front door as though directing the work of the men inside. The burglar sentinel carried a revolver. Mrs. Walker was impelled at first to go down stairs, face the men and order them from the house. Then she realized that they might overpower her and that they might overpower her and probably harm the children. Rertacing her steps to her bedroom she Retracing nor steps to the beat an au-leoked out cautiously. She saw an au-leomobile on the opposite side of the street. The engine was running. There was a man at the wheel.

Summoning all the wheel.

Summoning all the vocal strength at the command, she shouted 'Help!

Help! Burglars!' Two patrolmen raced the source of the sound and saw he automobile at the curb.

They drew revolvers and ran toward Despite their quick action, howwer, the burglars beat them to it. The two patrolmen opened fire, but the shots went wild. Once during the the shots went wild. Once during the fight a hand clenching a revolver was thrust outside the car. A bullet whistled thrust outside the car. A bullet whistled closely to it and it was withdrawn. The car speci down Sansom street and turned south on Forty-seventh street. After narrowly missing a milk wagon it was swallowed up in the darkness. "I thought that the screams would be more effective than trying to fight the men," said Mrs. Walker. "I was also afraid of harm coming to my children. They didn't know what had happened until it was all over."

"Built on the Square What We Claim Is Right There"

Letter of Acknowledgment received from Mrs. William H. Brearley

WINNER OF OUR SLOGAN CONTEST

April 7, 1922.

WILLCOX & GIBBS SEWING MACHINE CO. Philadelphia, Pa,

Gentlemen:

It is very hard for me to tell you what I think of the wonderful prize I have won. It is such an ARISTOCRAT in every sense of the word. As a member of a household it would COMMAND respect, because it is just what you claim for it and is "square" clear through and gives a square deal.

I have certainly in no way earned the machine, but I assure you, I will try, as long as I live, to make up for that, by boosting the machine and the organization behind it. Your good will must certainly be your greatest asset.

I can't help thinking, when I run the little machine and when I think of the interview I had with you, of "The Greatness of Simplicity" and "Simplicity's Greatness."

There is no "froth" to your machine or your organization, and I am glad there is no "froth" to my Slogan.

I had many phone calls last evening and was told several times by men and women that they would be influenced by it if they had read it and were looking to buy a machine from an advertisement. That made me feel a little better. I do hope it will do you good, With the kindest personal feeling and the greatest thanks possible, believe me.

Sincerely yours,

(Mrs. William H. Brearley)
