COAL GOUGING IS CHARGED

By the Associated Press

Pittsburgh, April 12.-Two more plants of the H. C. Frick Coke Company were closed today by the United Mine Workers in their campaign to carry the coal strike into the Connellsville region, but the important Leisenring and Trotter plants, employing some 2000 miners and coke workers, were in operation with what the management termed an increased force.

Union organizers, however, had not abandoned the attempt to carry the unionization movement into the heart of the region, and a number of meetings were held today near the Leisenring plants. Mine bosses and superintendents were said to be working among the Frick men, and were optimistic that their efforts to keep the plants open sion. As it is now the commission makes investigations and reports for the benefit of Congress. Congress pays little attention to its determinations, but log-rolls a bill together in the es-tablished fashion.

Eliminates Revision

Under the new law all the President has to do is to ask the commission for advice as to the application of maximum and minimum rates. The commission will report to him what the rate should be within the limits set by law. Then he may order the rate so do not be the rate of the rate Then he may order the rate so deter-mined into effect. Assuming the maxi-mum not too high and the minimum not too low, there will be little occasion for Congress to revise rates again.

Of course, if the commission fixes a rate which an industry is not satisfied with, the industry may appeal to Congress. But in that case one rate will come before Congress at a time. There will be no opportunity for log-rolling, and the rate is likely to be considered on its merits.

All this, of course, is true only if there is not a change of administration committed to a general revision of the tariff. Even then, assuming the Demo-cratic Party is satisfied with the mini-mum rates in the law and the Republican Party is satisfied with the high rates, there will be no occasion for a general revision. Party changes in the tariff commission will bring about changes of rates conformable to party

As a matter of fact the tariff is disappearing as an issue. The great force behind the demand for high duties in the past has been the manufacturing interests. It has not manifested itself here in the present fight. Many manufacturers look to foreign markets and incline toward free trade.

High Rate Idea May Pass If the farmers had not become cor tection, there would have been little demand for high rates in the present Congress. The farmers will have a Congress. The farmers will have a chance to test almost prohibitive duties under the new law. To obtain them they have worked against their own interest to a certain extent, log-rolling for other high duties which will increase the price of the manufactured articles to them.

The emergency reads have not done the foregreency reads have not done the farmers any good. And if after the new rates have been put into effect the farmers see no advantage in high duties, the whole demand for extreme protection may collapse.

A long fight will take place in the Senate over the bill just reported and a sharp contest between Mr. Fordney and the Senate is sure when the bill gets into conference. In the process bill may be greatly changed.
