Letters to the Editor

Bookbinder's Case
To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger:
Sir—I have read your editorial in this evening's LEDGER on the bookbinder's decision with great interest and appreciation.

Talk About the Weather

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger:
Sir—The annual warm spell recalls the conditions existing during the winter of 1920-21, when, according to the reports of the weather bureau, the weather was quite general throughout the Northern Hemisphere, even up to the Arctic Circle.

The National Government maintains an expensive weather bureau, and its experts talk in terms of "high pressure" and "areas of low pressure," but if they have ever committed themselves to an explanation of the causation of the constant changing of the weather, it has not come to my notice.

Life a Game of Chance

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger:
Sir—Let me suggest my idea on life nowadays:
A married life is a game of cards; first it is cribbage, next he tries to "go it alone," at a sort of cut, shuffle and deal, he crosses the "crab" and the "dunce," when his mother "takes a hand in," and contrary to Hoyle, "heats the little joker" with her five.

Petty Obstacles to Repertory

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger:
Sir—The Hon. Bamberger's authoritative letter in the People's Forum, commenting on an interview with Dean Arthur H. Quinn, proved that "the creative effort," the writing of plays, is far from essential for a repertory theater for Philadelphia.
