WANT WET ISSUE OUT OF CAMPAIGN

Chelsea Union League Is Urged to Support Frelinghuysen
and Runyon

SHORE NEEDS MORE BRICKS

By the Associated Press
Atlantic City, April 13.—The election campaign got an early start here last night when members of the Chelsea Union League were urged to support Senator Frelinghuysen for re-election and to get behind William N. Runyon, the organization's candidate for the gubernatorial nomination.

Deputy Sheriff Howard R. Cloud, the chief speaker, declared no attention should be paid to efforts to drag the "wet" and "dry" question into the campaign, for the reason that it is not a partisan feature.

Read the newspapers and familiarize yourself with the accomplishments at Washington, and then support the party that elected that Administration," he urged.

The apparent inability of local brick manufacturers to keep up with the demand occasioned by the immense volume of new construction here has considerably retarded several operations. Recently one manufacturer ordered a million bricks from an out-of-town factory. When the cars arrived this morning a dozen contractors had trucked up and started bidding against each other only to find, however, that the brick was to take care of unfilled orders.

Mrs. Lena Hoffheimer died last night at her home, 128 South Newton avenue, as the result of a heart attack several days ago. Mrs. Hoffheimer, who was sixty-six years old, was the widow of Nathan Hoffheimer, for many years president of the Independent Lumber and Wire Company of New York. Shortly before his death last November he sold his interests in the General Motors Company.

Both Mrs. Hoffheimer and her husband were deeply interested in philanthropic work, contributing to many charities. Several years ago they built a home for orphaned children, which they donated to the city of Denver. Later they gave an orphanage to the city of Louisville, Ky., near which Mrs. Hoffheimer was born. Two sons survive. The widow's body will be taken to her former home at Warrenville today and be placed beside that of her husband in a mausoleum erected on their estate there, on Sunday.

The recent announcement of Secretary Scull, of the Venner Marriage License Bureau, that he would be available for the issuance of licenses twenty-four hours a day brought a quick response. Shortly before midnight yesterday the obliging secretary was called from his bed by John Benjamin and Miss Edwina Maria Dulin, both of 17 South Lafayette avenue, Venner. They explained that they would lose a day if they waited until morning for the license because of the Jersey law which forbids the use of marriage licenses until the day after the date of issue. They plan to be married by Easter.

Nathan Craner, son of a New York millionaire, who has been hitting the high spots with the proceeds of checks to which he forged his father's signature, was released under $2000 bail for further hearing at an indefinite date when called before Magistrate Paxson this morning. Bail was furnished by a business associate of the young man's father.

"The idea in jail, he's no good, anyway," said the only response of the father when police authorities telegraphed him the nature of his son's offense. Craner's forgeries are said to reach several thousands of dollars.

Through a resolution introduced before the Board of Freeholders yesterday the Shore Road from Absecon to Somers Point, a distance of five miles, will be repaired at a cost of $200,000. The resolution calls for the Atlantic City and Suburban Railway, which has a right-of-way along the highway, to bear one-third the expense of the improvement.

The highway is the most important link in the main line leading to the resort from out-of-town points, connecting up the final miles of the route with the Atlantic highway and Longwood Bridge road.

First retraction notices on the part of the county Freeholders in the matter of salaries came yesterday when the Freeholders passed a resolution cutting the daily salary of the road engineer. It seems hereafter will draw $4 a day, a drop of twenty-five cents. Laborers will receive $2 a day of twenty cents, and the highway allowance for double trucks was reduced from $7.20 to $7.

Members of the Atlantic City Elks have approved plans for the erection of a new home to cost approximately $200,000. The location will be on the north side according to plans outlined by Harry Bacharach, chairman of the Building Committee.

Planning of the new structure will be handled by members of the lodge among bond subscriptions. The cornerstone will be laid during the Grand Lodge session here in July with appropriate ceremonies.

As the result of a feud between several families along Missisquoi avenue, Albany, Pa., is in the City Hall through failure to find a bondsmen for $2000 bail.

This Is the Way Mrs. Mary Worrell, of Ogden, Puts It in Discussing Her Chances for Legislature

Of course we want to know about the women who seek to represent us in the Legislature.

Some one once said, "If you want to know any woman's faults say something nice about her in front of her own acquaintances."

The facts ascertained herein were not obtained through promulgation. The rain pelted down the afternoon train stopped at Boothwyn, and those who descended were driven into the little station room. The weather, crisp, radio were tried as topics for general conversation. They did not work.

"That woman is a jim dandy, by heck," suddenly declared a wizened little farmer as he chuckled and spoke to himself.

"I saw her this afternoon. She is surely a handsome woman," quietly added the goateed country doctor.

"I'll say she was, the way she canvassed and lectured and tramped this country for suffrage," expounded the farmer with the pleasing rural rattle.

"Who?" asked a stranger.

"Haven't you heard? Mrs. Mary Worrell, up at Ogden, is running for the Legislature. Ogden is a few miles up the road, but of course every one knows her around here," said the station master.

The April shower continues, calling to Mrs. Worrell. However, conversation had been started. The gunpowder was off. New things had been said about a woman.

Facts or no facts, call them as you will, the facts brought forth were that Mrs. Worrell has actively worked with the Delaware County Woman's Suffrage Association since its organization, has raised a fine family—a daughter, Harriet, who is secretary to Dr. Frank Aylolite, president of Swarthmore College; a daughter, Anna, who is head of the English department at Du Pont High School, and a son, Ralph, a senior at the same school. During the war she gave her time and energy to the Red Cross, the Liberty Loan and the War Chest.

When the rain stopped and Mrs. Worrell was seen, it was fortunate that those facts had been heard because she talked not about herself, but about welfare work and politics.

In answer to the extremely personal question put to her: "Did her husband approve of her going into politics," she answered "Yes," and quickly added, "He wouldn't be doing it."

White-haired, impressive, she spoke with quiet dignity.

She declares that women's duty in politics is to help the financial situation—to make for efficiency and economy in the administration of affairs. Women have had to handle the details of economy, she says, and "saving in the details of administrative affairs will be the great service which women will be able to render in government." This, she says, has already been done by women on school boards.

Mr. Worrell's chief interest is in good roads. She believes in curtailing unnecessary expenses, and in stopping leakage so that Pennsylvania can keep up its improvement of roads.

"The Sesqui-Centennial," she said,

Friends of Illinois Governor Say He Is Saved From Impeachment

Chicago, April 13.—(By A. P.)—Defeat of the political faction headed by Mayor Thompson and Governor Small in Tuesday's State-wide primary was claimed today on the basis of practically complete returns by Republican opponents of the two.

The political friends of Governor Small, however, while admitting the nomination of many of his foes, declared enough of his supporters had been victorious at the polls to make his impeachment impossible in case of their election.

Chicago, where the Republicans were divided into three factions, the battle was declared to have been the bitterest in years. Charges of sweep agreements, with the impeachment of Governor Small and the five-cent fare in Chicago as the issues, were heard on all sides.

Vogleson, who became chief of the Bureau of Surveys. Those who seek the job must be university graduates with at least five years' experience in public health work.
