COLONY IS STARTED FOR WAR DISABLED

Experiment in Trenton is Watched With Interest by ex-Servicemen

Outside of Philadelphia, as within, spring has moved the Legion posts to diverse activities.

In Trenton there is going on an experiment—the municipal colony for disabled soldiers—that should be watched by Legion men everywhere with the closest interest. Recently a committee selected from among various officials of the Legion in Mercer County inspected this new venture in hospitalization. It is understood that a report of its findings will be made public shortly.

The committee consisted of Benjamin Hughes, adjutant of the Mercer County Committee; Valvin Perrine, of Hightstown; Samuel P. Scott, of the Trenton Post; William Eddy, of Princeton Post; Norman T. Rogers, Herbert Levy, William S. Jordan, John Fulton and Alexander Plozman.

The inspection was arranged through the Government officials attached to the colony.

The Atlantic County Committee at a recent meeting decided to invite the New Jersey and the national conventions to Atlantic City next year. The suggestion very likely will be put to Commander MacNider when he comes to New Jersey week after next to address a series of meetings in various seashore towns. The largest of these will be a gathering of the posts of Gloucester, Cape May, Atlantic and Burlington Counties, April 26.

The so-called "clean-up squad" of the Veterans' Bureau, in charge of Dr. H. H. Hilsman, of Philadelphia, visited Allentown last week, and from members of Herbert Paul Lenta Post there were 111 appeals for insurance, allotments, back pay and increased compensation. Dr. Hilsman held four sessions in Liberty Bell Church.

A curious bit of news comes from Gloucester City. The City Council has announced that it will give to the local post one complete smokestack. Curiosity as to what use a Legion post might put a smokestack has been cleaned up. The bricks are to be separated and used in the building of an extension to the post home.

From Ventnor comes the news that James Harry Post, has decided to affiliate with the Allied Council. W. W. Britain, B. Filer and Thomas Newell have been named as delegates to the council.

MAY FIGHT LAND-TAKING

Attack Predicted on Condemning of Schuylkill Banks for Park Site

Sequel-Centennial affairs will be once more in the limelight today when the Sequel-Centennial Committee of Council meets to consider the ordinance condemning a tract of land including both banks of the Schuylkill for fair purposes.

Reports were current yesterday that an attack will be launched upon the plan to condemn the land. Proponents of the fair sites not selected yesterday predicted their councilmanic representatives would attempt to prevent condemnation of the land on the ground it would merely be approving a plan for enlarging the park voted down by Council several years ago.

The Site Commission will be asked today to select the ground on which to erect State building for the fair. Governor Sprout recently indicated he would be in favor of the State building if the city dedicated the ground.

TWO SEEKING COURT POST

Gloucester Democrats After Clerkship Now Held by Republican

Gloucester City Democrats say they have been promised the clerkship of the Camden District Court by Judge Rudolph Ayres, who was sworn in yesterday. While the Democrats have not made any definite selection, Joseph McHenry, who is the clerk of the abolished District Court, and Frank J. Goan, former chief of police, are seeking the office.

The Executive Committee met Sunday, but refused to make any recommendation. The Democratic Club met Tuesday night, and both candidates were present with their followers, but no recommendation was made. It was rumored that Judge Ayres did not want any one nominated for the place. The clerk of the court now is Edwin Hillman, a Republican. It is believed Mr. McHenry will get the post.

PALMER URGES HARMONY

Asks Democrats to Unite in Letter to Bonniwell

A plea for a Democratic union to defeat the "Republican machine" has been made by former Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer, in a letter to Judge Bonniwell.

Palmer stated he would be unable to attend the Jefferson dinner, at which the Democratic harmony candidates will make their appearance, here next Monday night, owing to the recent death of Mrs. Palmer.

"With the Democrats in peace and harmony," the letter read, "presenting a ticket of strength and character if the independent people the State will not co-operate with us, then, indeed, there is no hope for Pennsylvania."

WOMAN COMMUTER GIVES FIRE ALARM

Hurrying for Early Train, She Prevents Serious Tioga Street Blaze

FIREMEN CONQUER FLAMES

A woman hurrying to get an early morning train at the Tioga station discovered fire today in the drug store of P. G. Fellecker, at 2000 West Tioga street.

The police did not learn the name of the woman, but they give her credit for preventing what might have been a serious fire.

As she hurried by she noticed smoke coming from the cellar windows. She thought at first the fire was in the delicatessen store of Mrs. Celia Newman, at 2002 West Tioga street. The store had just opened for early morning customers, and the woman went in.

"I think your house is afire," she said to Mrs. Newman.

Mrs. Newman ran out with her to the street, and she too saw the smoke.

"No," said Mrs. Newman, "I don't think it's my house. It's the drug-gist's place next door."

Mrs. Newman hurried back into her shop and telephoned for the fire engines. When they arrived a few minutes later they found flames blazing fiercely in the basement, and about to spread to the first floor.

The fire was not extinguished until quantities of water had been poured into the cellar. Because of great quantities of chemicals stored there, the smoke was acrid and choking, and the firemen found difficulty in making their way down to the source of the fire.

Dudley Thomas, manager of the store, estimated the damage at about $5000, principally in valuable drugs and other stock stored in the basement. Smoke and water destroyed what was spared by the flames.

The fire seemed to rage principally under a heating register in the floor of the drug store, opening on a flue leading into the cellar.

"I believe some customer may have carelessly thrown a cigarette down this flue," said Mr. Thomas, "and it smoldered there until the store was closed for the night. I cannot think of any other reason to explain the fire."

No one lives in the dwelling part of the building above the store.

The Little Things

Without which no Easter Costume is really complete

NEVER do little things count more than when interpreted in terms of the finishing touch to one's costume. How carefully the woman of fashion chooses her Gloves, her Shoes, the Stockings that go with them, the Hand Bag or the Scarf that may be the high fashion note. With what care she selects the Veil that frequently "makes" the hat.

To complete the Easter Costume, whether she must choose hurriedly or at her leisure, a woman will find here everything she needs, from her Sports Shoes to her gaily-dotted Veil. Here's a list that includes many Accessories that may best be selected here.

Elexe MODES

A Tweed Top Coat for that motor trip over the Easter holidays. Quite the smartest collection in town here, from $22.50 to $65.00.

SECOND FLOOR, CENTRE

A newly introduced feature of the Millinery Salons is the presentation of a very select group of fine Hats, adapted or copied from the choicest Paris models, and developed in the finest of French materials.

These Hats are in styles that require the skilled hand of a fashion artist to achieve, and for that reason will never be found among Millinery of the ordinary kinds.

Prices, $16.50 to $32.50.

SECOND FLOOR, MARKET STREET, WEST

KNICKER SUITS mean Sportabocker Suits—ready for that golf game or the long tramp in the country. There's nothing like them for comfort. And even the most critical brother approves them. Sportabockers—$25.00 to $35.00.

SECOND FLOOR, CENTRE

SPORTS Stockings may match, harmonize or contrast with her sports suit. Those of silk-and-fibre silk are irresistible, $1.50. And when she sees those sheer, summer-weight Silk-and-wool Stockings with their smart clocks, she will add them to her collection—$4.00.

MARKET STREET, WEST

RINGS in her ears and a Necklace to match, perchance. A Necklace at any rate, for one doesn't seem dressed without one. The white of ivory, the sheen of pearls, the green of jade— which? Probably all three. Earrings that dangle, hoops, drops, tassels, but one must wear Earrings—50c to $50.00.

THIRD FLOOR, MARKET ST. WEST

SADDLE-STRAP Ox-fords, of course. One must have a pair to keep in step with the mode. For the links or city street they are just the thing. And so swagger, don't you think? The price is $10.00.

EIGHTH AND FILBERT STREETS

FIRST of all, her Neck Fur. The important question is, Shall it be one of those fluffy Fox Animal Scarfs? There are all the smart shades and kinds here, from $10.00 to $85.00. And the Two-skin Scarf of Opossum, Siberian Squirrel, Baum Marten, Stone Marten or Mink are equally smart and becoming—$10 to $80.00.

SECOND FLOOR, FILBERT STREET

WHO wants a Roman-striped Scarf of fibre silk? Every woman who hasn't one. And most of those will choose another, for Scarfs are simply bewitching in their glorious colorings. And the price is so little—$3.75.

MARKET STREET

THE Veil's the thing. Especially these Dotted Veils, the season's shades in a becoming mesh. No wonder most women are choosing one for every hat at 25c a yard.

MARKET STREET

GLOVES for Easter. And for that new frock with short sleeves, these Long Silk Gloves that caress the arm and fit the hand, well—like a glove. In full elbow-length and all the smart shades—$2.50.

MARKET STREET

THOSE immaculate, crisp Collars and Cuffs! One must have several sets at hand. A fascinating White Organdie Set embroidered in colored dots, Tuxedo-style collar—75c.
