

COULDN'T GET HIS SUPPORT... TO FIGHT FOR CLEAN GOVERNMENT IN LETTER TO EX-BANKING COMMISSIONER

DESIGNS STATE OFFICE TO WAR ON COMBINE

Wills Sproul He Wants to Be Free to Speak His Mind in Campaign

ENDORSED BY FLINN

Where Women Flock to Support of Pike County Farmer. Roper Leads Drive Here

Economy and Efficiency Is Overworked Slogan

"Economy and efficiency" is a hard working campaign slogan that has no eight-hour law.

W. Freeland Kendrick used it in his campaign for his second re-election as Recorder of Deeds.

Lieutenant Governor Biddleman heard the sound of the slogan and thought it badly when he was a candidate for the governorship nomination.

But Biddleman is a rebirthed now, and he doesn't need the campaign cry. It won't be packed away in the political attic, however.

Governor Sproul said today that "economy and efficiency" will be the big issue of Attorney General Alter, machine candidate for Governor.

As a move to consolidating anti-machine sentiment, Clifford Pinchot, independent candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor, today took the side of the friends of John W. Fisher.

Mr. Pinchot's letter to Fisher was a logical outcome of the former State Banking Commissioner's withdrawal Wednesday from the primary fight.

The independent candidate is marshaling his forces over the entire State for a final grapple with the contractor boss and the machine candidate, Attorney General Alter.

Mr. Pinchot lauded Mr. Fisher for withdrawing so the anti-machine ranks would not be divided. He flung down a challenge to the contractor bosses and said he will continue to fight them from the Governor's chair.

It was the independent candidate's first withering blast of fire since he resigned his position as State Forestry Commissioner and presaged a bitter attack on the clique that dominated the 1931 Legislature and left the State Treasury almost bankrupt.

Mr. Pinchot's letter follows: "It is a matter of deep regret to me that I could not have seen you last night in Philadelphia before taking the train, to tell you face to face my sincere admiration for what you have done."

Your unselfish and patriotic action has made every friend of clean politics your lasting debtor in every corner of the State. You have retired from the race for Governor, but not from the fight for good government.

Prevents Division in Banks "You have done so for the wise and noble purpose of preventing any division in the ranks of the men and women who stand ready to resist the attempt of a few contractor bosses to seize the control of this State."

Your voluntary retirement will deflect the efforts to add the government of Pennsylvania to their contracting equipment. You are no longer running against their candidate, but your generous action has made the victory secure.

Circumstances and your own high sense of public duty have entered into this fight. But it is of no consequence who happens to carry the banner of government for the good of the people. It is of no consequence whether you are elected or not. It is of no consequence whether you are elected or not. It is of no consequence whether you are elected or not.

As every stage of this battle, which continued on Page Twenty-Four, Column Three

Mitten Sees Labor Turn Tables and Hire Capital

Labor may be placed in the position of being capital by following the suggestions of Thomas E. Mitten, president of P. R. T.

After pointing out to employees that more benefit would be derived if they would deposit their wage dividend in the company's co-operative bank, Mr. Mitten said:

"Capital has always spoken authoritatively because of its money power. Men and management with capital added are stronger than capital standing alone. By keeping our co-operative wage dividend undivided, we can together more effectively function as a principal in the hiring of capital as against the heretofore universal practice of capital hiring labor."

P. R. T. ASKS PUBLIC FOR SERVICE HINTS

Mitten Co-operative Plan for Use of Funds Gets Approval of Men

"Tell the Conductor." This is a new slogan the Rapid Transit Company has adopted in order to draw helpful suggestions from car riders.

In a few days all cars will carry signs lettered: "P. R. T. men and management invite from car riders their helpful suggestions and constructive criticism."

The company today issued this explanatory statement: "The men and management for eleven years have been proving the value of working together. The stockholders, by their recent vote, and since by the use of suggestion cards, have come splendidly into line."

"The poster work of the war, necessary from a patriotic standpoint, and important in itself, proved a setback for American artists. Art in America has begun to recover from this, but it will be some time before it has regained the place it had before the war."

Mr. Oakley said that Philadelphia is and has been the home of modern American illustration. He referred to Howard Pyle, Edwin A. Abbey and Joseph Pennell as the great pen-and-ink artists of the day.

Mr. Oakley said that Philadelphia is and has been the home of modern American illustration. He referred to Howard Pyle, Edwin A. Abbey and Joseph Pennell as the great pen-and-ink artists of the day.

Mr. Oakley said that Philadelphia is and has been the home of modern American illustration. He referred to Howard Pyle, Edwin A. Abbey and Joseph Pennell as the great pen-and-ink artists of the day.

Mr. Oakley said that Philadelphia is and has been the home of modern American illustration. He referred to Howard Pyle, Edwin A. Abbey and Joseph Pennell as the great pen-and-ink artists of the day.

Mr. Oakley said that Philadelphia is and has been the home of modern American illustration. He referred to Howard Pyle, Edwin A. Abbey and Joseph Pennell as the great pen-and-ink artists of the day.

Mr. Oakley said that Philadelphia is and has been the home of modern American illustration. He referred to Howard Pyle, Edwin A. Abbey and Joseph Pennell as the great pen-and-ink artists of the day.

Mr. Oakley said that Philadelphia is and has been the home of modern American illustration. He referred to Howard Pyle, Edwin A. Abbey and Joseph Pennell as the great pen-and-ink artists of the day.

Mr. Oakley said that Philadelphia is and has been the home of modern American illustration. He referred to Howard Pyle, Edwin A. Abbey and Joseph Pennell as the great pen-and-ink artists of the day.

Mr. Oakley said that Philadelphia is and has been the home of modern American illustration. He referred to Howard Pyle, Edwin A. Abbey and Joseph Pennell as the great pen-and-ink artists of the day.

Mr. Oakley said that Philadelphia is and has been the home of modern American illustration. He referred to Howard Pyle, Edwin A. Abbey and Joseph Pennell as the great pen-and-ink artists of the day.

Mr. Oakley said that Philadelphia is and has been the home of modern American illustration. He referred to Howard Pyle, Edwin A. Abbey and Joseph Pennell as the great pen-and-ink artists of the day.

Mr. Oakley said that Philadelphia is and has been the home of modern American illustration. He referred to Howard Pyle, Edwin A. Abbey and Joseph Pennell as the great pen-and-ink artists of the day.

Mr. Oakley said that Philadelphia is and has been the home of modern American illustration. He referred to Howard Pyle, Edwin A. Abbey and Joseph Pennell as the great pen-and-ink artists of the day.

CALLS MATRIMONY FATAL TO CAREERS OF WOMEN ARTISTS

Thornton Oakley Says Fair Sex Can't Obey Husband and Woo Muse, Too

DET RIMENTAL EFFECT OF WAR STILL BEING FELT

Marriage spoils women for art, according to Thornton Oakley, who was the principal speaker today at the meeting of the College Art Association of America, which is holding its eleventh annual session in the Fine Arts Building at the University of Pennsylvania.

According to the speaker, who is an artist of note, the fine arts and the culinary arts cannot be made to mix with satisfactory results.

Women in American art are coming rapidly to the front, said Mr. Oakley. "They show splendid promise. They have not done as much as might have been expected, because they get married just at the time when their artistic careers are showing most promise."

Can't Serve Two Masters "Most women artists find that marriage takes their attention from their art. When housekeeping cares begin to occupy their time and attention their enthusiasm for their art is bound to diminish."

"With men it is different. They take up art as their means of livelihood, and matrimony merely gives them another incentive for success."

Mr. Oakley declared that the war had exerted a harmful influence on the art of America.

"When the war came," said the speaker, "our art had just reached a splendid point of development. It promised great things. We had gone through a period of splendid achievement. Then came the war. It commercialized art, in that the artists found it necessary to do a great deal of work of a war character which was not finished within certain limits."

"The poster work of the war, necessary from a patriotic standpoint, and important in itself, proved a setback for American artists. Art in America has begun to recover from this, but it will be some time before it has regained the place it had before the war."

Mr. Oakley said that Philadelphia is and has been the home of modern American illustration. He referred to Howard Pyle, Edwin A. Abbey and Joseph Pennell as the great pen-and-ink artists of the day.

Mr. Oakley said that Philadelphia is and has been the home of modern American illustration. He referred to Howard Pyle, Edwin A. Abbey and Joseph Pennell as the great pen-and-ink artists of the day.

Mr. Oakley said that Philadelphia is and has been the home of modern American illustration. He referred to Howard Pyle, Edwin A. Abbey and Joseph Pennell as the great pen-and-ink artists of the day.

Mr. Oakley said that Philadelphia is and has been the home of modern American illustration. He referred to Howard Pyle, Edwin A. Abbey and Joseph Pennell as the great pen-and-ink artists of the day.

Mr. Oakley said that Philadelphia is and has been the home of modern American illustration. He referred to Howard Pyle, Edwin A. Abbey and Joseph Pennell as the great pen-and-ink artists of the day.

Mr. Oakley said that Philadelphia is and has been the home of modern American illustration. He referred to Howard Pyle, Edwin A. Abbey and Joseph Pennell as the great pen-and-ink artists of the day.

Mr. Oakley said that Philadelphia is and has been the home of modern American illustration. He referred to Howard Pyle, Edwin A. Abbey and Joseph Pennell as the great pen-and-ink artists of the day.

Mr. Oakley said that Philadelphia is and has been the home of modern American illustration. He referred to Howard Pyle, Edwin A. Abbey and Joseph Pennell as the great pen-and-ink artists of the day.

Mr. Oakley said that Philadelphia is and has been the home of modern American illustration. He referred to Howard Pyle, Edwin A. Abbey and Joseph Pennell as the great pen-and-ink artists of the day.

Mr. Oakley said that Philadelphia is and has been the home of modern American illustration. He referred to Howard Pyle, Edwin A. Abbey and Joseph Pennell as the great pen-and-ink artists of the day.

Mr. Oakley said that Philadelphia is and has been the home of modern American illustration. He referred to Howard Pyle, Edwin A. Abbey and Joseph Pennell as the great pen-and-ink artists of the day.

On Honeymoon

Divided Over Experts' Plan. Lloyd George Favors Paying Soviet Indemnity

ATTEMPT TO UNTANGLE FINANCES OF EUROPE

By the Associated Press Genoa, April 14.—Divergences of opinion over Russia are reported to have developed at the meeting this morning of the Economic Conference of "Big Four" for discussion of the Russian problem.

The participants were Prime Minister Lloyd George, of Great Britain; Vice Premier Barthou, of France; Foreign Minister Schanzer, of Italy; and Foreign Minister Jasany, of Belgium.

The Italian delegation afterward confirmed the report that the document drawn up by the allied experts in London, dealing with the question of Russia, which has been the center of so much discussion, has not been endorsed by the various allied Governments.

The Italian expert, indeed, had disapproved of those clauses of the report which put into effect, would humiliate Russia, it was declared.

Lloyd George Supports Russia Mr. Lloyd George, it was asserted after the morning session, had favored the Russian proposal to grant Russia indemnity for damages she had sustained as the result of military operations against Germany.

Europe's financial tangle also was brought to the front for consideration today.

Sir Basil Blackett, Controller of Finance of the British Treasury, called his special Consultative Committee of financial experts together, hoping to evolve the basis for a preliminary report to the Financial Commission of the Conference tomorrow.

After the meeting a communique was issued saying the session had been devoted to the study of the various members of the principles underlying the world currency situation.

The members also put forward suggestions for dealing with the needs of the various countries. This committee will hold two meetings daily so as to expedite its investigations.

The Conference Sub-Committee on Economics today appointed two sub-committees one to consider customs and the other to study general economic questions, particularly from their legal aspects.

Delegates from Spain, Austria, Finland, Rumania and Denmark were given membership in the latter body.

Mr. Barthelemy, address before the English and American newspaper correspondents yesterday, the report of which quickly spread through official conference circles, was widely commended upon this morning as indicating that France, while persistently content, is determined to play no second fiddle at Genoa.

Would Raid United States Treasury Christian Rakovsky, president of the Ukraine republic, promises to beguine one of the Soviet delegation's brightest platform stars at the international conference.

And he simply will not leave the United States gold reserves alone. He made another attempt yesterday to raid the United States treasury through his proposal before the financial commission that the states possessing the greatest quantity of gold make loans to the poorer countries.

Paris, April 14.—(By A. P.)—Premier Poincare and his Cabinet are following the proceedings at Genoa, in view of circumstances indicating that the Soviet delegates are determined to introduce the idea of disarmament at every opportunity and to prevent the support of the government to link the question of reparations with the economic reconstruction of Europe.

The situation at Genoa, as understood by the Foreign Office, is that the holiday season, slept with her last night, the mother retiring about midnight.

Frances Glickstein, fifteen-year-old daughter of the dead woman, who came from Lakewood, N. J., to spend the holiday season, slept with her last night, the mother retiring about midnight.

Frances said her mother seemed to be a little more cheerful than usual. When her mother was missing, soon after the holiday season, she had found the body on the sidewalk, awakened the family.

Three days after the shooting Mrs. Lillian Raizen surrendered to the police, confessing she had shot and killed Dr. Glickstein. She declared her motive was vengeance for an operation the physician had performed upon her, which rendered her incapable of becoming a mother.

She admitted she had for several years been "under the influence" of the doctor, and had submitted to the alleged operation because of her request. She now is a prisoner in the Lakewood street jail, this city.

'BIG 4' DELEGATES AT GENOA MEETING SPLIT OVER RUSSIA

Divided Over Experts' Plan. Lloyd George Favors Paying Soviet Indemnity

ATTEMPT TO UNTANGLE FINANCES OF EUROPE

By the Associated Press Genoa, April 14.—Divergences of opinion over Russia are reported to have developed at the meeting this morning of the Economic Conference of "Big Four" for discussion of the Russian problem.

The participants were Prime Minister Lloyd George, of Great Britain; Vice Premier Barthou, of France; Foreign Minister Schanzer, of Italy; and Foreign Minister Jasany, of Belgium.

The Italian delegation afterward confirmed the report that the document drawn up by the allied experts in London, dealing with the question of Russia, which has been the center of so much discussion, has not been endorsed by the various allied Governments.

The Italian expert, indeed, had disapproved of those clauses of the report which put into effect, would humiliate Russia, it was declared.

Lloyd George Supports Russia Mr. Lloyd George, it was asserted after the morning session, had favored the Russian proposal to grant Russia indemnity for damages she had sustained as the result of military operations against Germany.

Europe's financial tangle also was brought to the front for consideration today.

Sir Basil Blackett, Controller of Finance of the British Treasury, called his special Consultative Committee of financial experts together, hoping to evolve the basis for a preliminary report to the Financial Commission of the Conference tomorrow.

After the meeting a communique was issued saying the session had been devoted to the study of the various members of the principles underlying the world currency situation.

The members also put forward suggestions for dealing with the needs of the various countries. This committee will hold two meetings daily so as to expedite its investigations.

The Conference Sub-Committee on Economics today appointed two sub-committees one to consider customs and the other to study general economic questions, particularly from their legal aspects.

Delegates from Spain, Austria, Finland, Rumania and Denmark were given membership in the latter body.

Mr. Barthelemy, address before the English and American newspaper correspondents yesterday, the report of which quickly spread through official conference circles, was widely commended upon this morning as indicating that France, while persistently content, is determined to play no second fiddle at Genoa.

Would Raid United States Treasury Christian Rakovsky, president of the Ukraine republic, promises to beguine one of the Soviet delegation's brightest platform stars at the international conference.

And he simply will not leave the United States gold reserves alone. He made another attempt yesterday to raid the United States treasury through his proposal before the financial commission that the states possessing the greatest quantity of gold make loans to the poorer countries.

Paris, April 14.—(By A. P.)—Premier Poincare and his Cabinet are following the proceedings at Genoa, in view of circumstances indicating that the Soviet delegates are determined to introduce the idea of disarmament at every opportunity and to prevent the support of the government to link the question of reparations with the economic reconstruction of Europe.

The situation at Genoa, as understood by the Foreign Office, is that the holiday season, slept with her last night, the mother retiring about midnight.

Frances Glickstein, fifteen-year-old daughter of the dead woman, who came from Lakewood, N. J., to spend the holiday season, slept with her last night, the mother retiring about midnight.

Frances said her mother seemed to be a little more cheerful than usual. When her mother was missing, soon after the holiday season, she had found the body on the sidewalk, awakened the family.

Three days after the shooting Mrs. Lillian Raizen surrendered to the police, confessing she had shot and killed Dr. Glickstein. She declared her motive was vengeance for an operation the physician had performed upon her, which rendered her incapable of becoming a mother.

Seeks Death to Guide Husband to Happiness

Woman Kills Baby and Attempts Suicide in Order to Direct Spouse as Emancipated Spirit

By the Associated Press Newark, N. J., April 14.—Mrs. Maud Fancher, who swallowed poison yesterday after slaying her baby son, Cecil Raymond, hoped to guide her husband to happiness as an emancipated spirit. She is at death's door in City Hospital.

The story of her belief in spiritualism was told in the three letters, one of twenty pages written before she took the poison, one after the baby's death and the third when she was half-conscious.

Mr. Fancher said today that, soon after they were married in Detroit three years ago, he and his wife attended a seance at a private home in that city and both talked to their dead parents. Since that time, he said, Mrs. Fancher had taken a great interest in spiritualism.

"That seance," he said, "put the whole idea into her head. She thought she could do better for me if she died, and, consequently, she took the poison. Mrs. Fancher's health had been poor since the birth of their son and she felt, her letters indicated, that her death would relieve her husband of his severe handicap. She took the baby's life, she said, because she could not bear to think of some one else caring for him.

"Dear, my heart is breaking at leaving you and you love the baby so, too," she wrote, "but remember you are to get yourself another son and a sweet one, too, for I am going to guide you until, you die."

"Darling, beloved husband," another letter started, "I am writing you a line on this queer suicide. I know what every one will say, 'she had lost her mind'—but I haven't by a long way. I know just what I am doing. I want you to get married again if you wish. You know about spiritualism, and I want you to go where you can talk with me."

She directed that she and the baby be buried in the same casket and said she did not want the bodies sent home to Detroit. She suggested that the husband dispose of all of their household effects and other property and return to Detroit to live.

While physicians say there is little chance of her survival, however, she stated today that if she did get well she would try suicide again. "Next time," she said, "I'll make a good job of it, you may be sure."

GIRL INHERITS CELLAR Father's Will Gives Her Wet Goods and $20,000

Winsted, Conn., April 14.—William H. Hall, of Willington, former State Senator, whose will was filed for probate in Pittsfield, Mass., bequeathed Mrs. Hall $100,000 outright and each of five children $20,000. One paragraph reads:

"I give to my daughter Doris the keys to the brick vault in my cellar, and I give her and her alone the entire contents of said vault, consisting of wet goods put up in bottles, the same to be hers forever."

LAST-MINUTE NEWS

LATEST RACING RESULTS BOWIE—First—Rosie H., $4.10, $2.50, $2.20, won; Lady Best, $3, $2.30, second; Kewpie S., $2.50, third. Time, 50. Besse Leighton, Chief Flynn, Bob McCray and Richard Murray also ran.

HARDING SIGNS NAVAL RADIO BILL WASHINGTON, April 14.—The bill extending use of the Government's naval radio facilities for commercial and press purposes until June 30, 1925, was signed today by President Harding.

HARDING APPEALS FOR NAVY OF 86,000 WASHINGTON, April 14.—President Harding is understood to have sent a letter to the Capitol today urging that the Navy's enlisted personnel be not reduced below 86,000.

MINE CONFERENCES ON DAUGHERTY HINTS WASHINGTON, April 14.—Attorney General Daugherty, leaving the White House today after reporting to President Harding on his recent trip to Indianapolis, said he had received the impression that "preliminary and local conferences" were going on among the operators and union officials, but that no progress has yet been made. He declined to elaborate on the statement.

SLAIN MAN'S WIDOW ELKTON MARRIAGE JUMPS TO DEATH MEASURE VETOED

Third Tragedy Occurs in Family of Dr. Abraham Glickstein, Murdered Physician

Governor Ritchie Disapproves 48-Hour Bill Because It Hits Only One County

AFFECTED BY STONE TRIAL SEEK TO END NUISANCES

Special Dispatch to Evening Public Ledger Elkton, Md., April 14.—Elkton will continue as a haven for Cupid for the next two years. Governor Ritchie having vetoed the Forty-eight-hour Marriage Bill introduced in the Senate by Senator Cantwell.

A stiff fight was waged over the bill. For the last few days Governor Ritchie has been flooded with letters, telegrams, petitions and delegations on both sides.

The fight had reached its climax when the Governor last night issued a statement giving reasons for his veto.

The veto will be welcomed by jitters, and some of the marrying parsons who were nervous over its outcome, no doubt will correct alleged practices which have aroused many protests.

Those who are against the notoriety that the town has been given will keep a close watch on conditions here, and should they not improve will appeal to the Governor for his help in breaking up the nuisance, as suggested in the message, which reads in part:

"If jitters drives me in an unseemly manner, if ministers of the Gospel discredit their calling, these are not sound reasons for making unsound discrimination and for introducing non-uniformity in the marriage laws among counties of this state, particularly a discrimination which, while relieving Cecil, would in all probability simply transfer these kinds of marriages from Cecil to other neighboring counties, where similar restrictions do not exist."

"It may be that I can still be of assistance in helping to remedy conditions which should not exist. I am ready, if requested, to ask the Attorney General to have his office assist in prosecuting any persons who are guilty of representing themselves falsely or who are otherwise amenable to the laws of the state, and I am ready, if requested, to offer the help of the State Police in breaking up any disorderly conduct."

SENATOR CROW IMPROVED Has Restful Night, His Attendants at Hospital Report

Pittsburgh, April 14.—(By A. P.)—United States Senator William E. Crow, who was critically ill several days ago at Army Hospital here, spent a restful night, and his condition is improving, his attendants reported.

SEE PARTY SPIN IN WILSON FLEET WITH TUMULTY

McAdoo Fraction Scores Success in Discrediting Message. Read at Cox Dinner

STATEMENT WAS BASED ON PERSONAL CONVERSATION

Former President Breaks With Another of Few Remaining Close Friends

MORE ISOLATED THAN EVER Followers of His Son-in-Law Expected to Capitalize Re-buke to Former Secretary

By CLINTON W. GILBERT Copyright, 1932, by Public Ledger Company Washington, April 14.—The break between ex-President Wilson and his former secretary, Joseph P. Tumulty, over the message delivered by the latter at the Jefferson Day dinner in New York at which James M. Cox was guest of honor, has caused a sensation in Washington. Mr. Tumulty was almost the last of the men who have been close to Mr. Wilson throughout his political career to remain his friend.

All the others have gone. It is a long list. Ambassador Harvey, Jim Smith, Henry Watterson, former National Chairman McCombs, ex-Secretary Garrison, William J. Bryan, ex-Secretary Lane, Colonel Edward M. House, ex-Secretary Lansing and now Mr. Tumulty.

The issue between the two men is this. Mr. Tumulty had a conversation with his former chief. He conveyed to the dinner what he regarded as a message from Wilson which read:

"Say to the Democrats of New York that I am ready to support any man who will fight for the salvation of America, and the salvation of America is justice to all classes."

Rebuffed by Wilson Mr. Wilson now declares that he authorized no message. Mr. Tumulty expresses his regret and says that he would not have delivered a message unless he thought it was authorized.

The understanding can never be cleared up, as Mr. Tumulty pointed out. Mr. Tumulty had anything in writing from the ex-President. Nothing remains but that they had a talk privately. There were no witnesses.

Mr. Tumulty's secretary had been in the habit of using his discretion in putting the former President's attitude before the public. In spite of the fact that he had an imperious man to deal with, Mr. Tumulty up until now had always acted in a discreet and honorable manner. Having much political sense and intense loyalty to Mr. Wilson, he never made mistakes. This perhaps made him over-confident.

An instance of how Mr. Tumulty in the past served Mr. Wilson occurred during the Lusitania incident. Mr. Bryan, then Secretary of State, persuaded Mr. Wilson to submit the Lusitania sinking to arbitration. It was decided that Mr. Tumulty should bring the news to the public, neither Mr. Wilson nor Mr. Bryan caring to make such an unpopular announcement.

Prevented False Step Mr. Tumulty declined to give out the news. His position was that loss of American lives could not be arbitrated. The President was angry over this insubordination and for a while it looked as if Mr. Tumulty would cease to be secretary.

But his secretary's firmness gave the President an opportunity to reconsider the advice of Mr. Bryan. Mr. Tumulty remained in office and the break with Mr. Bryan resulted.

I mention this incident, which is not generally known, to show how much more than a rubber stamp Mr. Tumulty was in the administration and how he came to regard himself as free to use his judgment about the alleged message which seems to an outsider too nearly innocuous to cause the explosion it has.

Says Tumulty Went Too Far Mr. Wilson's friends take the ground that Mr. Tumulty's action in using the message at the Cox dinner was the substance of a conversation. The ex-President has maintained since his retirement a silence upon controversial issues, whether between his party and the Republicans or as between factions in his own party. Therefore, they say that the ex-President had no choice but to disavow publicly the alleged message.

Tumulty's friends assert that the message did represent Mr. Wilson's sentiments, and they point to various letters which he has written to admirers from time to time and which have found their way into the public domain. Back of it all is the division in the

THINK MARRA MAY BE ALIVE Shore Police Question Theory Movie Man Committed Suicide

Atlantic City, April 14.—Partly discounting the theory of suicide, the police today are combing the city for Frank J. Marra, former manager of a Philadelphia motion picture house, who disappeared last Friday leaving notes stating his intention of leaving into the ocean. He was last seen at the end of the Steel Pier.

Mrs. Marra told Captain of Detectives James J. Mahoney that her husband was a victim of nervous attacks and she thought it advisable to make a census of the institutions.

SENATOR CROW IMPROVED Has Restful Night, His Attendants at Hospital Report

Pittsburgh, April 14.—(By A. P.)—United States Senator William E. Crow, who was critically ill several days ago at Army Hospital here, spent a restful night, and his condition is improving, his attendants reported.

MRS. CHARLES F. SWOPE Before she married United States Senator Swope a secretary in New York a few days ago, she was Miss Eleanor Shroad Walter, of Harrisburg. She was snatched on the seaboard in Atlantic City.

HUGE BIRD SEIZES BABY

Swiss Peasant Saves Child by Shooting Giant Condor