LLIES WIN AGAIN ND ARE IN MIDST OF A WINNING STREAK

Fans Observe Local Heroes Score Another Knockout Over Braves-Four Double Plays Establish Record for Season

> By ROBERT W. MAXWELL Sports Editor Evening Public Ledger

T THE very top of the joy and gloom column which explains in figgers the trials and tribulations of eight National League ball clubs can be covered with little difficulty the following:

-Won, 2; lost, 0; percentage, 1.000. In the past we used to have a lot of zeros, but nothing in front of them.

Some were the dismal days when our home clubs were in the cellar, stymied ways by seven other teams. Philadelphia always could be located twenty nd leagues under the League, but such is not the case in 1922. True, we might land there eventually, but right now the figgers give us all the best It, and figgers never lie. Therefore, let's be like the flappers at Christmas think only of the present.

All of which is a prelude to the startling announcement that our Phils m another ball game and now are in the midst of the dizzlest winning treak you ever saw. They took a funny fall out of the Braves, of Boston, rned them back in a most enthusiastic manner, and before the fire was put out scored four tallies against one-half as many for the visiting firemen. That in itself is no mean accomplishment, as even "Kise" Wilhelm will admit.

No matter what happens in the future, the fact remains the Phila won games, and those games count just as much in October as now. The local the eighth round. They played real baseball, displayed a lot of pep, perwith their heads up and took advantage of every miscue by the oppoation. They had much practice in this, as the Braves perpetrated no less than five foozles during the afternoon. They came at the most inopportune mes, but that's what made them foozles.

But the men of Wilhelm were on the job every minute and would not admit defeat. They played for the breaks in the game and got them. They again displayed a good defense and a wonderful attack, to say nothing of a effect brand of pitching. A combination like that cannot help but win, and If the good work keeps up the three years in the cellar will soon be nothing but a dim and distant memory. Speaking of defensive tacties, it will be noticed that the boys from the se town pulled no less than four double plays during the P. M. This is a a's record and also a world's mark so far as the Phil's are concerned. In the olden days they couldn't put over four double killings in a month. Therefore, after taking another slant at the work of the athletes vesterday, the following seems to be perfectly justified:

DHILLIES-Won, 2; lost, 0; percentage, 1.000.

Ring's Recovery

JAMES RING, of Brooklyn, N. Y., was responsible for everything that happened. He caused the two runs in the first frame and would have caused more had Goldie Rapp failed to start a double play. Mr. Ring was biffed and banged most outrageously in the first verse. All he had was a coat of tan and perfect control. His control was so good that he couldn't keep the ball away from alien bats and the outfielders were all set for a busy afternoon.

The Braves stood at the plate, swung from the hip and just crashed that le. Two runs came in and a relief pitcher was hurried to the bullpen. He was not needed, however, for Jimmy came down from the clouds, put some-thing on the sphere and, aided by those double plays and perfect support, d through the remaining innings like a champ.

Ring was very active at the plate and excelled on the paths. He pulled an original sacrifice hit which was wonderful to behold. It was one of the st gentlemanly efforts ever seen, because it greatly assisted the visiting team. In the sixth inning Henline whacked a single and it was up to Ring to get him to second. Jimmy's first bunt was a tall fly which fell foul, but the next time he rolled one to Toney Boeckel, and all Toney did was to start a double play. Therefore, instead of losing one man the Phils lost two, and

Then came the eighth. Ring again tried to bunt and rolled the ball be-Dana Fillingim's legs. Dana reached for the ball and grabbed his foot. he kicked the sphere and finally picked it up. In the meantime James appeading toward first with all of the velocity of a steam roller with two tires. The ball was pegged to Holke, and the only reason Ring was not was because the first baseman dropped the ball.

BUT pitchers are supposed to pitch and not hit. They don't even have to run. Therefore, we still maintain that Jimmy Ring is an escellent pitcher.

Parkinson Is Unique

MANK PARKINSON again stood out as a star performer, because he busted up the two-and-two deadlock in the eighth with his triple. It is seldom that three base hits are made on the home grounds, because the park small. Home runs are more plentiful in a season. Therefore, Parkinson nique among other things

The wallop came when most needed. Leslie was on first and one out. Parkinson leaned against a spitter which refused to spit and sent the ball nat the scoreboard in deep center. Powell misjudged the carom and the renton sophomore pulled up at third before the ball was sent back to the

Frank scored an instant later on Henline's fly, which was dropped by athworth. Captain Billy tried a difficult trick and failed to get away with it. He attempted to throw the ball before he caught it, and any one will tell that it can't be done. However, it's a good thing the error was made, for Parkinson was so anxious to get home that he had advanced three steps

Funny how the breaks come in baseball. In the sixth inning Southworth a longer hit in the same territory and only reached first base. He smocked the ball to the top of the scoreboard, but Cy Williams played the carom perfectly and thus ruined another three-bagger.

RUISE again pulled a circus catch when he speared Bevo's long drive in the first inning just before the ball sailed into the In a little while the opposing outposts will realize that bleschers. In a little white Bevo also hits to left field.

A's Flop in Boston

OUR A's were wrecked up in Boston, which makes them just one-half as good as they were yesterday. The heavy-clouting Red Sox came to life Both St. Louis clubs continued to live up to their advance notices, the owns beating the White Sox and the Cards taking another sock at the Pirates. Danforth won his first game for the Browns. Cleveland took another from the weakened Detroit Club and the Yanks triumphed in Washington despite the absence of Babe Ruth. The Giants used Phil Douglas and the spitballer came through. Mays twirled for the

However and be that as it may, the other ball clubs may win all they please so long as we can get a lingering eyeful of the following and to wit :

Joe Lynch "Robbed"

From out of Boston the other night came reports of a decision given Terry Martin, of Providence, against Joe Lynch, of New York. The verdict came as a big surprise to local fans, and then wires came from Eddie Mend and Scotty Monteith, Lynch's handlers, to the effect that Joey had been "cheated." Exchanges from Boston papers prove that the contentions of Mead and Mon-teith were correct. Here's several head lines, in cold black type, as they appeared in three different napers:
"Lynch Robbed of Well-Earned Victory in Martin Bout."

ONE EVENT FOR MERMAIDS

Atlantic City, April 14.—The final and, incidentally, the most important swimming meet of the season in the Middle Atlantic A. A. U. district will be held in the Hygela Swimming Club pool here tonight. Two championship races, two cup events and two minor races, two cup events and two minor contests are on the program.

Three of the main battles will be for men. They are the fancy diving and 50-yard Middle Atlantic championships and the 100-yard free-style race for the Alamac Cup.

The women's feature event will be a 100-yard free-style for the Hygica Cup.

Cup.

Philadelphia aquatic stars are the present holders of the trophies, and are expected to be on hand to defend their honors. Pat Reilly won the Alamac and Eleanor Uhl the Hygica Cup last year. Reilly and Miss Uhl represented the Meadowbrook Club, but will compete unattached tonight.

Al Berman, local merman, who is the Middle Atlantic diving crown.

Middle Atlantic 100-yard champion, is expected to put up a strong bid for the men's cup. Berman defeated the Quaker City entry in a century dash last week, and is favorite to repeat.
