

DREAMLAND ADVENTURES

The Music Makers
By DADDY

Jack and Janet come upon Fred the Fiddler trying to catch a lovely tune that is fitting around in his head. Fred wants to bring it out so all the world can enjoy it. While they wait on guard so he can work in quietness, they fall asleep. They awake in the midst of a wild uproar.

CHAPTER II
The Singing War

"I ALMOST had caught it," cried Fred the Fiddler, tearing at his hair. "I had within my grasp the lovely new tune that is to comfort aching hearts, soothe the sick, and make little children dance with gladness. Then this awful uproar drove it away." The racket that filled the woods was enough to drive away any timid new tune. It was made up of shrieks, screams, hoots, squawks, croaks and rattles, all mixed together. Jack and Janet couldn't understand it at all.

"Something is the matter with the birds," cried Janet. "Something is the matter with the frogs," cried Jack. "They have all gone mad," yelled Fred the Fiddler. "I will bring boys to stone the frogs in the bogs; I will bring hunters to shoot the noisy birds." "Perhaps there has been an accident, or Birdland is on fire," cried Jack. "Let's go and see," cried Janet. So they ran over the hill into Birdland. Fred the Fiddler picked up his violin and howled and followed them.

Birds were pouring into Birdland from all directions. They were being hurried on by screaming messengers. "War!" screamed Blue Jay. "Hurry to war!" echoed Purple Swallow from high above. "Hurry to war!" "War!" clanked Blue Heron, snapping heavily from "depth of a swamp." "Hurry to war!" "War!" hooted Judge Owl, rubbing his eyes as he peered at the door of his hollow tree. "Hurry to war!" Jack and Janet ran the faster when they heard this. A war was worse than a fire and more exciting. But whom could the birds be fighting?

King Bird went bobbing back, keen for battle. "Who is on the other side?" cried Jack. "The frogs in the bogs!" shrieked King Bird. "We are fighting the frogs in the bogs." "Down with the croaking frogs in the bogs," screamed other birds. "War! War!" the loudest of the racket came from where Birdland bordered on Marshland. There Jack, Janet and Fred the Fiddler found the birds swarming in the trees and hopping about the ground. Every bird was screaming, shrieking, squawking around in a circle. He couldn't catch the din they all made was so terrific that Fred the Fiddler covered his ears with his hands and ran helplessly around in a circle. He couldn't catch any tunes in his head while that racket was going on.

From Marshland came a clatter just as great, but of a different sort. It was made up of hoarse croakings, booming belows, sharp pippings. Not a frog was in sight. But from the sound of the marshy pool and from the thick hummocks of grass came the mighty rasping chorus. There were no signs of battle. The birds made all the noise they could on one side and the frogs made all the noise they could on the other.

"When is the fighting going to begin?" screamed Jack into the ear of Blue Jay as the latter paused to catch his breath. "The fighting is going on now!" screamed Blue Jay, suddenly regaining his wind. "This is a singing war and we are going to continue to croak and sing if we have to burst every throat in Birdland."

(The singing war has a very queer cause and threatens to do a lot of damage, as will be found in tomorrow's chapter.)

Things You'll Love to Make

Kiddie's Scarf Frock
For little sister what could be smarter and prettier than this KID-DIE'S SCARF FROCK? Make a simple one-piece slip-over frock. Make a low, straight neckline. Make a slit three inches below the neckline at each side. Cut a bias scarf-like strip of figured material. Bring it around the back of the neck and tack the center of the strip to the center of the back of the neckline. Bring it around to the front, down through the slits and cross it in front at the waistline. Carry it around to the back, cross the ends, bring them back to the sides and fasten them with a loop or two at each side. This KID-DIE'S SCARF FROCK is darling when made of a plain colored linen stemmed with a scarf of FLORA.

French Coat Dress in Popular Cocoa Tint

If it's tea for two, it's cocoa for all. There has been an epidemic of this tint, and we see it used not only in the crepes for afternoon and evening wear, but in the garments for less formal hours. Here in today's drawing, for example, cocoa-colored cloth makes this lovely coat dress from Marie Louise. As are so many of the present-day crepe-frocks and frocks, this model is braided and much of the expression of smartness is given by the original application of this shade. The trimming, by the way, is in self color and green, and a belt of green composition defines the long waistline. CORINNE LOWE.

For the Bride
Girls always love fancy garters and they make a nice engagement or shower present. A new kind is less fussy than the usual silk-covered ribbon-trimmed affair, but just as pretty and dainty. The rubber is covered with ribbon, gathered on in a plain seam. Another ribbon makes a ruffle that hangs down for the imposing length of one inch. A bow of baby ribbon with long ends is fastened at one side. This may be made of one-color ribbon or two colors may be combined. It would be nice to make the whole thing of lace and run the ribbon through a beading to draw up the ruffle.

Hats More Charming Than Ever—$6 and $8

Every Springtime mode is here, from large flower-trimmed straw-and-silk hats to smooth tailored haircloths in smart turban shapes, with clever uses of glycerined plumage. Many carry out the navy blue or black of the tailored suit; others are in light shades that go well with tweed suits or light wraps and frocks. Newly arrived are the hats with transparent brims of black tulle edged with hair-braid. A hat made of blue hair-braid is trimmed with blue crepe ribbon and yellow California poppies.

Women's Low Shoes Special at $4.75

Black and tan leather oxfords have welted soles and low heels and are of the type that almost all women are wearing this Spring. The tan oxfords are of grained leather with full wing tips and brass eyelets. Strap pumps are of two kinds, both of tan leather with wing tips. One fastens with a button and has a welted sole and low heel. The other has a buckle strap, rubber-like sole and flat heel.

The Best Assortment of Hand-Made Blouses That We've Ever Had—at $2.45 to $7.50

Batiste Voile Dimity
Every tiny stitch, every bit of drawnwork, all the embroidered dots, every inch of hemstitching and even the pretty, wide laces with which many of the blouses are trimmed, are done by hand and exquisitely done. Crocheted picot edging, filet and Irish laces are liberally used. Styles are myriad and include the fashionable Peter Pan waists with back or front closing, roll collars and V necks.

Strength Is the Big Factor In a Couch Hammock—These Are Essentially Strong Special, $10 to $30

A choice of 25 different couch hammocks at these prices—and every one of them soundly good, with strength and safety as key-notes. These were made especially for us with extra features of safety, comfort and good appearance. Many have extra upper barrel springs and all but one have nationally known springs that make them as comfortable as beds for outdoor sleeping. All four of the extra-heavy chains reach all the way down to the lower spring frame, so that there is no weight on the fabric of the sides. 4.6 and 5-foot hammocks of gray or khaki duck begin at $10. 6-foot hammocks begin at $11.50.

Cretonne Hammocks with Upholstered Backs Special at $18.75
The backs make them most comfortable, and the cretonne is in pretty colors and patterns. They are fully 6 feet long, and each one has a magazine pocket.

Light Sports Suits Are Young Men's Suits All-Wool Tweeds and Herringbones, $25, $28.50, $30

Good-looking mixtures in various patterns and tones of gray and tan. Coats have fancy backs, which mean pleats, belts and yokes. Many coats have the "golf back," a comfortable arrangement of an inverted pleat from each shoulder which gives to the motion of the body and is designed particularly to allow a free and easy swing and follow-through in golf. As Springlike and sportslike as a man pleases and every thread guaranteed all wool.

An All-Around Good Oxford for a Man's Genuine Satisfaction, $7.90

One of the best oxfords that we have ever had. It is of black or tan calfskin of a soft, heavy grade, in blucher style with a straight tip. The sole is welted and outlined with white stitching. The lines are excellent and there is real comfort built into this oxford.

Here's the New Sports Back in Boys' All-Wool Suits With Two Pair of Knickers—$13.50

All the boys are asking for this sports back with an inverted pleat on each side, giving freedom of motion. Coats with knife pleats are here also. All the suits are well tailored of all-wool cassimeres in grays and browns or mixed tweeds. Coats are lined with mohair, and both pair of knickers are lined throughout and every seam is taped. Mothers know that that makes for real wear.

Gay Tweed Skirts $3.75

They're made in two ways, as you'll see in the sketch, one with a side-fastening effect trimmed with three buttons, the other with buttons trimming the two curved pockets. The colorings are just right to combine with Peter Pan sweaters—lavender, tan, rose, Copenhagen and a few jaded green. Young women's sizes.

Two Interesting Discoveries in the Silk Store

First, some beautifully colored blouse patterns of silk crepe, radium or satin. They are printed in exquisite colorings in patterns bordering on the Batik. Navy blue silk shows dull wistaria, green and a dash of orange. White is printed in brown and red tones. With only a tiny bit of sewing a most fashionable over blouse can be made, $5.50.

Second, please undergarments in exquisite tints—apricot, flesh, pink, white, orchid, canary and sky blue; plain or with we sprigs of flowers. This is a silk-and-cotton material of delightful softness which will make the most charming step-in sets, night-gowns and negligees for Spring brides. 30 inches wide, 75c yard.

NEW Gingham Corsets! $3.50
Newest corsets for sports wear are of fine, pretty gingham in white with checks of lavender, blue or green. They are serviceable, as well as interesting and pretty, for the gingham is of a sturdy, closely woven quality. Each corset is finished with lace and ribbon all around the top and a bow in front—in color to match the check. They are in a low-bust model with a medium-length skirt, for slight to average figures.

Newest Spring Wraps Are of Two Distinct Types—And Both Are Moderately Priced

Young Women Favor Sports Coats
These coats are cut on almost the lines of a man's overcoat. They are absolutely without trimming and are plainly tailored in every particular. Almost all have raglan shoulders, belts and plenty of pockets. Three good examples are sketched above.
$22.50 for a coat with a long Tuxedo collar. It is in gray and a misty rose-lavender. Silk lined throughout.
$23.50 for a herringbone tweed in gray or brown, silk lined.
$25 for a rough mixed tweed coat, flecked with color and lined with silk.
In addition, there are many, many polo coats in creamy tan, and a number of sports capes of plaids and tweeds. $16.50 to $32.50.

Capes and Wraps With Softer Lines
Here is variety! Scores of pretty wraps in so many different styles that there must be something for women of every type. Serge, tricotine, Poiret twill, velour and many variations of the favorite Bolivia weave are the principal materials. Three wraps are sketched.
$16.50 for a velour wrap with embroidery and tassels finishing the arm openings. In Peikin, henna and reindeer with figured silk linings.
$22.50 for this navy tricotine cape with a silk lining and a throw scarf ending in a tassel. It is gathered from a shoulder yoke.
$35 for soft bolivia cape in reindeer. The back is stitched and the front is fastened with loops and buttons and a belt. Silk lined, of course.

Stenciled Fiber Rugs 50c and 75c
Fresh, cheery, cool-looking rugs attractively stenciled in conventional designs in rose, blue, green and brown. Just the sort of rugs for summer cottages and porches—very practical because the colors are fast and may be scrubbed often. 27x54 inches, 50c; 36x72 inches, 75c.
Summer-Weight Gloves 35c to $1.15
Whether gloves be long, short or just "medium," they are sure to be of chamois lisle for the warmer weather. Two-clasp style in gray or brown at 35c. Strap-wrist length with embroidered or spear-point stitched backs, in white, gray or covert, at 75c. Special: 16-button length in white, coral, fawn and beige, with spear-point stitched backs, at $1.15.

Fiber Silk Scarfs $2.90 to $5.50
Bright hues in plain or length-wise striped effect make these generously fringe a striking note for one's street costume.
Corsettes, $1
A comfortable corset evolved from the bandeau in that it fastens in the back and extends down in front to form support for the abdomen. There are also two styles. In pink and white at $1.
