MOST of the Easter gaieties seem M to be over now, but we still have lots of weddings and bridge parties (which are always with us) and then, all this week "Why Not 1922." at the Little Theatre, which I, for one, am crasy to see. It is so exciting to try to recognize your friends in their make-up and costumes, and, when a new chorus comes on the stage there always is a busy humming in the sudience as some one whispers to some one else, "Would you ever know Kitty in that red wig?" and "Who can that girl be next to Sarah?"

There will be a grear many fairs and out-of-doors fetes soon, when the weather gets warmer, which it has not shown much prospect of doing right now, by the way. I just heard that the June Fete at the Huntingdon Valley Country Club will be given on June 10, and, from all accounts, it sounds as though it would be fascinating. There will be live donkeys, ponies and goats to ride, bunnies, lambs, pupples and kittens to play with, besides all sorts of amusements for the older

MARY SCULL and John Heyl will M be married tomorrow afternoon at the Church of the Good Shepherd, at Rosemont. There will be a small reception afterward at Mr. and Mrs. Scull's country place at Bryn Mawr. There will be no wedding here today, but over in New York Heleis Buil and Henry Richardson, 2d, will be married st Grace Church. Mrs. Edward Welch Clucas, who was Fredericka Buil, and a sister-in-law of Mrs. Richard Gilpin Wood, Jr., of this city, will be the matron of honor.

A CERTAIN girl whom everybody R knows, has the same first name as her colored cook—we'll call it Catherine—debutante, not cook—was sitting in the living room reading, the telephone rang; she answered it, and a sweet wolce said, "is that you, Catherine: Jow are you?" 'Ob, fine, "Kitty replied, and the voice went on, "What have you been doing all day?" 'Nothing much," Kitty answered. "Nothing much," Kitty answered. "Nothing much," the voice at the other end easy place! I've spent the whole day washing and ironing."

NANCY WYNNE. NANCY WYNNE.

Mrs. Edward A. Hurd, of New York, will be the matron of honor and only attendant at the wedding of Mrs. Dorothy Hurd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Russell Hurd, of Militon, Mass., and Mr. Alan Crawford, of St. Martins, Chestnut Hill, which will take place at noon on Saturday, April 29, in the Unitarian Church at Milton. The Rev. Dr. Stebbins, pastor of the church, will perform the ceremony. A reception will follow at the home of the bride's parents. On their return from a wedding trip, the bride and bridegroom will live at St. Marins.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlton Yarnali and their daughter, Miss Agnes Yarnali, of Swenteenth and Locust streets and Crum Creek Farm. Devon, and Miss Alberta P. Reath, daughter of Mrs. Benjamin Reath, of 1911 Walnut street, who are traveling abroad, recently left Rome and are at present in Paris.

Miss Nancy F. Cope, daughter of Mrs. Walter Cope, of 209 East Johnson street, Germantown, left on Saturday for Syracuse, N. Y., where she will visit Mrs. Wallace Campbell. She will spend a few days this week in Boston with her sister, Miss Elizabeth Cope, and next week-end she will be the guest of Mrs. Ives Goddard. The marriage of Miss Cope and Mr. Thomas Pierrepont Hazard, of Syracuse, N. Y., will take place on Saturday, May 20.

Schmid-Curley

An interesting wedding took place this morning at 9 o'clock in the Church of Our Lady of Mercy, at Broad street and Susquehanna avenue, when Miss Marie Nasareth Curley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Curley, of 2123 North Sixteenth street, became the bride of Mr. Frank L. Schmid. Jr., son of Mr. Frank L. Schmid. Cardinal Dougherty officiated. Miss Catherine Curley, the bride's sister, was the maid of honor and Mr. Thomas J. Mallon was best man. The ushers included Mr. Lawrence Fleuhr and Mr. J. K. Schmid. After an extended wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Schmid will live in this city.

Uncommon Sense: Keep Your Own Record

WHAT you have done with your life unless you are a very unusual person your pace will begin to accelerate. achievement, but it will be valuable to Copyright, 1922, by Public Ledger Company

If now and then you can glance back over your life and observe accurately where you were ten years ago, you may be better able to plan to be somewhere considerably further along in ten years from now. It is as useful for an individual to keep his record as for a business firm to keep books.

THE record of the average business valuable to him by and by as is the record of the professional athlete.

It is not always wise to trust your memory for this, or for anything else, for that matter.

If you are a writer or a painter or an architect, you can keep track of what you have done with a scrapbook, or by the paintings you have made, or with the portfolios that contain your draw-

If you are a business or a professional man, it will be worth your while either to keep a diary or a book in which you can file away memoranda of where and for whom you worked, how much money you made per year, what acquaintancy you made and what important political and historical events occurred during each year.

Buch a record will take little time to keep. It can be written up once a week or once in two weeks.

At first it will be of little use. But it will grow in value every year, for it will enable you to note accurately your progress.

Once begin doing that and your progress is almost certain to be more rapid. It is natural for the traveler who finds that he has been going slowly to

CO. WILL you increase your pace S when you look back over the years and see that it has been altogether too laggardly and that others who started with you are now far ahead.

If you consult the record often enough, you will be increasingly dissatisfied with it. That will mean dissatisfaction with yourself, for the record is merely the skeletonized story of ONCE thoroughly dissatisfied with yourself you have attained the beginning of wisdom.

Don't go into the record business over your head or toil over it as if it were to be handed down to your grandchildren. Just make it supply the out-standing facts about what you have been
